

See
Special Supplement
Inside

Campus Echo

1910
TRUTH
SERVICE
NORTH CAROLINA COLLEGE AT DURHAM

North Carolina College at Durham

Patronize
Our Advertisers

Durham, North Carolina, Wednesday, May 18, 1966

Thomas Elected In Action Party Sweep

Samuel V. Thomas, Action Party's nominee, was elected Student Government Association President in a record turnout on April 29. Thomas garnered 701 votes to the 607 votes obtained by Raymond Perry of the Student Party.

Floyd W. Hayes, III, defeated Charles E. Howard and will ascend to the office of vice president. Hayes, a candidate of the Action Party, polled 722 votes while Howard, running on the Student Party ticket, collected 569.

The Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority's nominee Queen McLean defeated Betty Harmon of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority and will reign as Miss North Carolina College for the coming year.

Aaron R. Graham and Collins Baber, running without opposition, were elected Campus Echo and Yearbook editors, respectively; Baber compiled 1064 votes while Graham collected 932.

Isaiah Tidwell, Willie O. Kent, and Charles Miller were elected senior, junior and sophomore class presidents. Lovina Vance is the new Miss Senior while Fern Matthewson and Bessie Beckwith won the junior and sophomore titles.

Mock Senate Against Escalation Of War

North Carolina College's Mock Senate failed to give President Lyndon Johnson's

Vietnam policy a vote of confidence when it defeated a bill which was intended to escalate the war effort in Vietnam. The Mock Senate, sponsored by the Political Science Club, was held in the Music Assembly Auditorium, April 23.

Senator James Eastland (James Evans) and Senator Harry F. Byrd, Jr., (W. Mack Faison) presided over the Senate. The fifty participants represented senators, and the Senate followed the rules of the U. S. Congress with a few minor revisions. The senators held committee hearings on the bills prior to their being introduced in the session. Mr. Russell Adams and Dr. Violet Wurfel, political science instructors, served as parliamentarian and unofficial advisor, respectively.

The Vietnam bill, composed of three sections was introduced by Senator Richard Russell (Phillip Harris), Senator Sam Erwin (Charles Howard), and Senator Russell Long (Lionel Stevens.) The first section empowered the Selective Service Board to determine the monthly draft quota instead of the Defense Department. The second section called for the administration to maintain all domestic programs at their present level until the U.S. had attained its objectives in the war-stricken country. The third section called for more emphasis on the military aspect of the war. Senator J. William Fulbright (William Nance), Senator (See Mock Senate, Page 3)

STUDENT LAWMAKERS—At a mock senate sponsored by the Political Science Department of North Carolina College last Saturday, the above students were among many who impersonated U. S. Senators and discussed the Viet Nam war and other domestic and foreign relations issues. From left are Clarence Hardy of Edenton; Rufus Goldston of Siler City; James Evans of New Haven, Conn.; Mack Faison of Seaboard; Russell Fuller of Burlington; and Gene Hatley of Apex.

Henry Frye Announces Candidacy

Henry E. Frye of Greensboro has announced that he will be a Democratic candidate for the State House of Representatives. The 33-year-old professor at North Carolina College is a former assistant United States attorney.

In announcing his decision to run, Frye said that he made up his mind to run after serious thought and consideration about the office he seeks. Concerning this, he made this statement: "I feel, and many of the persons with whom I have talked feel, that I have the training, experience and the character to represent well the people of Guilford County as one of their representatives." Frye is the eighth to announce candidacy for Guilford County's six seats in the State House.

Currently working under a one-year contract, Frye enjoys teaching at North Carolina College. He has served for 2½ years in the federal attorney's office in Greensboro of United States Middle District Court and maintains a law office in Greensboro.

Frye is a native of Richmond County and a graduate of A. and T. College in Greensboro and the University of North Carolina Law School. He moved to Greensboro 15 years ago.

Frye, who said one of his main interests as a legislator would be in the field of education, has been active in community affairs here. He served for two years in the Air Force.

He is married to the former Shirley Taylor of Fremont. They have two sons and the family resides at 1920 Drexmore Avenue in Greensboro.

HENRY E. FRYE

Gwen Harrington Chosen As Prexy

Gwendolyn Harrington was elected president of the North Carolina College Chapter of the American Home Economics Association at their May meeting on Monday evening, May 2. The chapter's other officers for the 1966-67 school year are: Carolyn Brawley of Cleveland, Vice-President; Mazy Davenport of Columbia, Secretary; Maggie McCoy of South Mills, Treasurer; and Ernestine Richardson of Wendell, Reporter.

Committee Chairmen of the club are: Paulette DeVane of Harrells and Patricia Yon of Clinton, Co-Chairmen of the Ways and Means Committee; Gladys Gibson of Rowland, Chairman of the Program Committee; and Bobbie Carr of Chadbourn, Chairman of the Hospitality Committee.

As an affiliated member of

The Campus Echo Extends Congratulations to the Class of '66

the American Home Economics Association, the overall objective of the chapter is to provide for professional development of college home economics students. This objective is fulfilled through: (1) participation in the objectives and programs of the state and national associations, (2) working together to share with others enthusiasm for home economics, (3) seeking an understanding among peoples of all nations, (4) promoting friendly association among faculty and students interested in home economics, and (5) helping students meet and know people who have attained recognition in the home economics profession.

The chapter club faculty advisors are Mrs. Gwendolyn Paschall and Miss Lenora Moragne.

Ray Seeks Re-election As JP

R. Lewis (Bobby) Ray, a 27-year-old North Carolinian, announced recently that he is seeking re-election as Justice of the Peace on the Democratic Ticket in Winston-Salem. In the 1964 general election, Ray was elected to his office by a substantial margin, and he hopes to do even better in the upcoming election.

Ray is a former student of the University of North Dakota and a graduate of A&T College in Greensboro. He will receive a second degree at Winston-Salem State College this Spring. Ray also holds an LL.B. Degree from Balckstone Law School of

NCC Students Get Rockefeller Awards

Six North Carolina College seniors have been awarded Rockefeller Foundation Post-Baccalaureate Fellowships for high ability students whose earlier education may have been inadequate in some respects.

Selected for the program, which is primary designed for those who wish to continue their education through the doctoral level, were Norma Sutton of Kinston; James McDuffie of Winston-Salem; Richard Cagle of Pinehurst; Madge Leach of Asheboro; Clifton Woods of Charlotte; and Zelton Johnson of Henderson.

The program, under a $450,000 grant from the Rockefeller Foundation, will underwrite the cost of the student's education at one of seven selected liberal arts colleges for two semesters and one summer of special study to complement the regular program.

The six NCC students were among 33 successful applicants for the fellowships from 150 different colleges. They will take regular college courses, including seminars, and where appropriate, project or research courses. There is no set curriculum. The courses will be tailored to the needs of the individual.

"Thus," said Dr. William Cadbury, who resigned as dean of (See NCC Students, Page 4)

R. LEWIS RAY

Chicago, a correspondence institute.

While serving in the United States Air Force as a Senior Aircraft Control and Warning Radar Operator, Ray did extensive traveling in the United States and abroad. Ray owns and operates R. Lewis Ray Real Estate Company and Piedmont Insurance Service. Ray holds membership in the Student Bar Association and the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity.

As a Justice of the Peace, his duties are that of a lower court judge. He has jurisdiction in both civil and criminal matters. He is also a tax consultant and a notary public.