She always says that the best part of marriage is the divorce, that is in regards to the receipt of alimony. She also noted that in event that she marries, she would like to have eleven boys, all good in sports so that she could have a football team. I might add, she likes all sports.

I never get tired of hearing about her exploits as a child and later experiences. One of them was about the time that a coffin was rolled out in front of her while she was walking down Pettigrew Street. Since then, she has not walked on that side of the street.

With all the many sides of Annie's personality, whether her eccentric outlook on life; her stubbornness; or her cool, unconcerned nature, her personality is balanced with friendliness, warmth, and loyalty. In Annie I have made a lifelong acquaintance, who will never stop fascinating me.

If the panel recommends a candidate for employment, the usual background investigation and medical examination will have to be completed before the actual appointment can be made. These two steps take approximately three months.

In view of the limited number of positions which will be available this fiscal year, applicants are urged to submit their applications as soon as possible and to expedite all responses to additional State Department inquiries.

All applications received after the available positions have been filled will be returned or held by the Office of Equal Employment Opportunity, pending the establishment of additional vacancies for which the applicant might be considered.

(Continued from Page 3) him as "What's happening" in the Political Science Department. He caters to the problems of the students and spends a great percent of his 12-hour day in the promotion of their ideas.

As for the other percent, he has devoted it, as such, to the entire nation. Inspired by the work of the American Emancipation Authority to which he belonged while in Chicago, he developed and wrote a book entitled Great Negroes Past and Present. "This book," he commented, "was written to inform and bring together all the historical Negroes who had done more than well in society."

Beyond all of these activities, he is still a young professor in school working on and bringing to a close his doctoral dissertation. Yet, in the classroom with his inquisitive students, he is like a restless host who makes them feel at home. With his smiles and laughter, his facts and opinions, he is the modern example of what a student looks for and finds in an instructor. He is one who earns more than he receives, yet profits by the satisfaction of knowing the products of those whom he inspires. In class and out of class, day in and day out, he carries with him a common but highly respected name, Russell Lee Adams.

Cindermen Enjoy Success

By Lestee Perry, Jr.

The Eagles' thinclads after competing in the Philadelphia Track Classic, the All-Eastern Games, and the Big Seven Indoor Track Meet appear to be on their way to maintaining NCC's status as a respected and world renowned track power. Although lacking Olympic Gold and Bronze medalist Lee Calhoun and Edwin Roberts, and mile relayers Terrell Amos, Bobby Johnson, Edwin Roberts, and Andrew McCray (known as the Four Horsemen), the Eagles have enjoyed remarkable success this year.

At the Philadelphia Track Classic Lionel Urgan finished fifth in the 50-yard dash. Urgan and two other runners in the dash, Monty Frasier of South Dakota State and the Army's Art Pollard were timed at 5.4 seconds.

NCC's mile relayers won their section of this event with a time of 3:24.8 minutes. Other teams in the Eagles' section were American University, Cornell and Fordham. In the entire meet the Eagles' relayers were fourth best. Villanova finished first with a winning time of 3:22.6.

Terry Cole, the Eagles' high jump specialist, finished fourth in the open high jump competition, with a clearance of 6 feet, 4 inches. This was topped only by the winner of the event, Gary Steele of West Point, who cleared the bar at 6 feet, 7 inches.

James Stevenson, placed second to Delaware's Frank Gordy in the open 60-yard event with a 1:13.4 clocking. Gordy's time was 1:13.3.

In the All-Eastern Games at the Baltimore Civic Center, the Eagles continued in their winning ways. In the 60-yard hurdles freshman Ron Draper placed third in the semi-finals with a time of 7.4.

Lionel got revenge, beating Villanova's Erv Hall and the Army's Art Pollard in the 60-yard dash with a clocking of 6.2 seconds.

The Eagles' Floyd Williams (defending CIAA 100-yard dash champion) finished fourth with a time of 6.4.

Again the Eagles finished behind Villanova in the mile relay, this time in second place. Villanova took the event with a meet record time of 3:17.1. The Eagles were clocked at 3:20.2. The Eagles led for two laps on a 50-second flat first leg by Lionel, but left behind on a 47.8-second leg by Villanova.

Returning to North Carolina to participate in the Big Seven Indoor Track Meet at UNC, the Eagle Cindermen again turned out performances which were characteristic of the "Four Horsemen Era".

In the high jump event, Terry out jumped N. C. State's Graham Whitted and UNC's Dave Hillard with a leap of 6 feet, 4 inches.

The Eagle's James Stevenson tied Carolina's Terry Sellars in the 600-yard run with a time of 1:15.5.

Urgan won two individual titles and ran the first leg in the Eagles' winning mile relay. Lionel won the 60-yard dash with a time of .06.2 and the long jump with a leap of 22 feet 10 3/4 inches, 21/2 further than Carolina's Gary Iverson.

In the 60-yard high hurdles, Ronald finished second to Duke's Jeff Howser who was clocked at :07.3.

With Urgan, Reed, Williams and Stevenson, teaming up for the mile relay, the Eagles were never threatened and walked away with a 3:25.8 clocking to win the event.

In the shot-put, the Eagle's Doug Wilkerson finished fourth behind UNC's Tony Blanchard and John Jessupp and ECU's Dennis Moody. The winning toss stretched the tape at 51 feet, 7 inches.

Although the Eagles' did not participate in as many events as such schools as UNC, Duke, East Carolina, Davidson, Wake Forest, and State, their showing was good enough to merit them a second place finish with a total of 34 points.
