

LAW SCHOOL TO DEFEND CROWN

The N. C. Central Legal Eagles are expected to defend their 1968-69 CIAA football crown with little or no opposition this season. Coming off a perfect 8-0 record last year, the Eagles will be led by All-Conference Kenneth Cooksey. The strong Ohio star led the league in rushing with 278 yards last season. The Eagles return with 16 of their 19-member championship squad, but the three missing players are names of magic.

Gone are all-league guard Pete "The Greek" Peterson, Cornerback Fred Polhill, and tight end Ronald Pitts. Pitts was second in pass receiving and in scoring last season and was the team's most valuable player.

There are many defensive units with names of fear, but the Legal Eagle Unit can be called just "gruesome." This mighty unit has been the best defensive group in the league for two consecutive seasons. During their 1968 championship campaign, their opponents could net only 14 yards in rushing and 75 yards per game. This punishing defense is led by all-league candidate Ralph "Tiger" Williams (6'4," 275 lbs.); along with Williams are two of the best defensive tackles in the conference, Don Pitts, (6'2," 295 lbs.) and Lewis Jordan, (6'3" 220 lbs.). Player-Coach Robbins Washington (6'1," 195 lbs.) shares the other guard position with Williams. The defensive corners are manned by two quick towering giants, Bill Proctor (6'2," 185 lbs.) and Woodrow Brown, (6'3," 215 lbs.)

The Eagles will get their first test when they meet the Mustangs in the season opener. The Mustangs will again be explosive with the league's leading passer, Doug Johnson, and the league's leading receiver, Nat Scales. The Mustangs are anchored up front by All-Star Harry Respass.

The 1968-69 CIAA All-Star Flag Football Team is as follows: Ricardo Samuda, Cowboys; Johnny Manning, Mustangs; Ralph Williams, Law School; Robbin Washington, Law School; Ron Pitts, Law School; Harry Respass, Mustangs; Kenneth Kooksie, Law School; Paul Taylor, Choir; Jerome Cheek, Choir; Robert Durant, Cowboys; William Cheek, Graduate School; and Davis, Graduate School; and Tim Crawford, Law School.

that integration is philosophically so much more acceptable to America, but rather that it is a more familiar concept requiring less change than black activism, and by now has become familiar, right and proper.

In their rage at the injustice of a world that would shore them hurdling forward, rootless and removed from all the old familiar ways, the two policemen drove up to the Black Panther headquarters at we badly needed and waited so long for, but we are insulted when you later gave a section of this same building to the Tutorial Center, painted all their walls, put in new floors, and built new offices with telephones when our chairman doesn't have one. Then delivery men walked through our department for one solid week delivering new furniture for the Center.

We pay our tuition like every other student on this campus, yet we are not getting anything for it except continuous insults. We are not asking for a luxurious department, but we demand a clean place in which to work and the necessary tools with which to work.

On the positive side, the Art Department has not only served this University well, but the entire Durham community under adverse conditions. Hopefully, we will continue to do so.

Although Dr. Whiting has proved to be a good friend to art students, someone over there is full of "bull." Therefore, we demand some answers to these injustices and an open apology from someone over there in the administration.

Sellborn Speaks To Pre-Law Body

NCCU's Pre-Law Society began its second year with the annual membership meeting, held this year at 7:30 p.m., October 2, in Room 304 of the Commerce Building.

The featured speaker was Professor Ernest Sellborn of the Duke Law School. Professor Sellborn was a co-director of the NCC-Duke CLEO program for entering law students last summer. The aims of the club, discussion of activities for the coming year, and information about the November 8 Law School Admission Test (LSAT) were features of this meeting.

Parade. Both matters were concerned with lack of funds. Thus, they were linked together in a melting pot of Student Government officers and students.

After the meeting, Dean Blue and Student Government officials agreed that the Homecoming Committee was duly authorized, and its decision would have best not have been debated further. Nevertheless, many expressed pride in the simple fact that students were actually concerned about their Law School and their Homecoming Parade.

Space age wrench.

Suppose you're up in space and you need to tighten a nut on the outside of your space vehicle.

Well... if you use an ordinary power wrench, you know what happens! You spin around. Not the nut.

But with this new space wrench, the nut turns—not you!

Neat?

You bet. And we've got all kinds of fascinating equipment designed specially for way out there. And lots for way down here, too.

If you're a science or engineering graduate and you're looking for a good place for your talents, be an officer, a leader, on the Aerospace Team. The U.S. Air Force is the largest scientific and research organization of the space age.

You'll be right where the breakthroughs are... breakthroughs such as better ways to tighten a nut.

Pretty exciting if you're looking for a new twist.
