RETIREES AUG. 31—Mrs. Sudie Whitfield, chief x-ray therapist in the X-Ray Department, will retire this month, after 24 and a half years' service with the department. The first x-ray therapist at Duke, Mrs. Whitfield joined the staff in March, 1932, and will be sorely missed by her associates and friends at the hospital. Mrs. Whitfield came to Duke from the Y. W. C. A. where she served as executive secretary. While her plans for retirement aren't completed, Mrs. Whitfield looks forward to visiting with old friends and her three children and five grandchildren, continuing her church activities at Temple Baptist Church, where she is a member of the Fidelis Class. She resides with her daughter, Mrs. Douglas Billings at 911 Burch Ave. Her other children are G. C., of Durham and Jacksonville, and W. H., of Randolph Road.

Supt's Corner

Now that we have moved back to our Staff Dining Rooms, thanks are in order for the cooperation of all our people during the inconvenience engendered by having to leave the Hospital for meals. Hearty thanks are also due to Mr. Minah and Miss Kaiser of the University Dining Halls for the excellent way in which they provided for us during this period.

It appears that patients and Faculty members located in the areas adjacent to the new Out-Patient entrance construction will have to continue to suffer through the month of August. Noise in this area will be unavoidable during that time and for most of that period the passageway into Baker House at the first floor level will be blocked. The tolerance with which everyone has accepted the unavoidable inconvenience and noise is greatly appreciated and we hope that this construction marks the peak of such troubles.

All of us are extremely sorry to see Anne and Wendell Weisend leave us. Wendy has been indispensable in handling our Public Relations activities and we shall miss him greatly. It goes without saying that our very best wishes for every success go with him to V.P.I. According to present plans Norman K. Nelson, Assistant Director of the Bureau of Public Information will be assigned to Hospital and Medical School coverage.
