The teaching program will include orientation lectures, demonstrations, special courses and clinical work with physically handicapped patients.

A Rehabilitation Board, composed of Duke doctors, will provide for the education of hospital personnel in the field of general rehabilitation planning; and will supervise long-range plans for patients from their admission to the hospital until their return to self-care or work.

Dr. Herbert Park, director of the Department of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation at the Baruch Foundation, Richmond, Va., will serve as consultant for the Rehabilitation Service here. He was chosen for the assignment because he has conducted a program of rehabilitation at the Baruch Foundation for a period of three years, and, as a graduate of the Duke Medical School, is thoroughly familiar with the facilities and resources here.

The Crippled Children's Bureau and the Federal Government's Office of Vocational Rehabilitation will cooperate with Duke during the first year of the program. Future plans call for cooperation with other rehabilitation agencies.

During the first year, the teaching program will be started and the Rehabilitation Board will be placed in operation. The general plan calls for initiating the non-physician services relating to rehabilitation during the second year. This will be done under a general rehabilitation administrator.

Already at the Duke School of Medicine under the direction of Miss Helen Kaiser, the Department of Physical Therapy is carrying on an American Medical Association approved teaching program for students in physical therapy, with scholarships provided by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. One of the students in this program currently is working under direction of Dr. Joseph Markee in the Department of Anatomy on an M.A. degree in physical therapy. The Department of Physical Therapy has recently expanded its enrollment.

Also allied with the postgraduate and medical student teaching program at Duke Hospital since 1952 are the teaching facilities of the 500-bed Durham Veterans Administration Hospital.

In addition, the Cerebral Palsy Hospital, directed by Dr. Lenox Baker, head of the Division of Orthopaedics and Physical Therapy at Duke Hospital and the School of Medicine. is part of the teaching program in orothopaedics and physical therapy Miss Edna Blumenthal is in charge of the coordination of the program. The Cerebral Palsy Hospital is supported by funds from the State of North Carolina. Dr. Baker, former chairman of the Rehabilitation Committee for Duke, was responsible for setting the stage for the new service to be launched here this fall.

Also on the local scene in the rehabilitation field are a Spinal Injury Conference and an Amputee Clinic. These services meet weekly to carry a tean approach to problems in the paraplegic and the amputee patients. Ten medical specialties are represented at the paraplegic conference, and the entire rehabilitation program of the paraplegic is discussed. Followup of these patients is possible in instances in which the patient joins and attends the meeting of the North Carolina Paraplegic Society. The Amputee Clinic is under the direction of

This 'n' That

Physiology and Pharmacology

We welcome to the department Dr. Johnny Long, assistant professor of physiology, who is from St. Mary's Hospital Medical School in London; and Dr. Karl Agre from Jefferson Medical School in Philadelphia and Dr. John Salzano from the University of Iowa, who are new instructors in physiology.

Two new technicians, Mrs. Beryl Ledniser and Mrs. Barbara Mc-Cormack, are working for Dr. Goodall. Alice Long enjoyed a vacation in Chicago, Mackinac Island and Niagara Falls.

Mrs. Carol Fennell is now working as a technician in the department.—
Sue Gaines.

Surgical PDC

Kitty Brunson's engagement to Pete Bennett has been announced. They will be married Saturday, Nov. 17 at the Church of Latter Day Saints here.

Mrs. Becky Horton of 1618 N. Duke St. has joined us as a new secretary. Becky's husband, Paul, is connected with WTVD.

It is with regret that we lose Mrs. Shirley Mitchell, one of our secretaries, and her husband, Jack, who has transferred to the University of San Francisco.

Mrs. Minnie Hecht has also left us to join her husband, Fred, in Knoxville, Tenn.

Betsy Farmer returned recently from a visit with Caroline McCall, former technician in SPDC, who is now employed at Riverside Hospital in Jacksonville, Fla.

Mrs. Floride Bock also has returned from South Carolina, where she visited her mother.

X-Ray

X-ray is happy to add to their department seven new students in X-ray Technology. They are: Betty McLendon, Evelyn Voaklander, Della Russ, Allan Johnson, Curtis May, Marion Griggs and Sally Burdine. We also have a new staff technician, Mrs. Anne Parker Carroll Mulholland. George Engelmann, our chief technician in clinic x-ray, resigned and is now at Wilmer, Minn.

Carolyn Barber, one of our office crew, is now Mrs. John Sharpe. She and John exchanged vows at the St. Joseph's Episcopal Church. After a honeymoon in New York she and John will reside at 943½ Morreene Dairy Rd.

Shirley Talley and Richard Riggsbee will be hearing wedding bells Oct. 19 at Temple Baptist Church. There have been several showers for Shirley during the past few weeks.
