Inseparable from patient care is the instruction of future doctors, nurses and other health team personnel. In 1958 Duke Medical Center graduated 81 medical students; 65 registered nurses; 43 practical nurses; 4 laboratory technicians; 14 physical therapists; 9 X-ray technicians; 6 nurse anesthetists; 4 hospital administrators; 10 dietitians.

Research in the basic sciences and in clinical problems looks to better patient care in years to come. In Duke Medical Center 400 personnel are engaged in part-time or full-time research. Total expenditure in 1958 for medical and paramedical research: $1,591,934.68.
