HOSPITAL ADMINISTRATION

achieved by excellent cooperation from all segments of the Medical Center. Weekly evening seminars are led by members of the various departments in the Medical Center. In addition two periods each week are set aside for group discussion of hospital problems, assigned reading and individual student projects. In the field of practical experience, as the student rotates through the departments, cooperation of the hospital staff is equally important. The first two weeks are spent under the guidance of the program director getting acquainted with the physical plant and the key personnel of the institution. A short course in medical terminology and the processing and filing of patient's records is given by the Medical Record Librarian. Three months each are spent working in the Admitting Office, Business Office and the Office of the Administrator. The Admitting Office provides experience in dealing with patients, physicians and the many agencies which sponsor staff patients. In the Business Office the student learns the many phases of hospital business practice, business relations with government aid programs, and practices specific to hospitals such as caring for patients' valuables and discharge procedures. In the Administrator's Office he gets a picture of the Superintendent's daily activities and his approach to administrative problems. Further patient contact comes with three months in the Out-Patient Clinic. A six-months as-
