

Duke Medical Center—The 1962 Look

This is how the Medical Center will look when the tri-segmented building, now under construction, is completed. Unit A shows the passageway from the hospital to the new building; B: the Diagnostic and Treatment Center; C: Gerontology Center; D: Clinical Research Center. Work started early in November on relocation of the main water line. The contractor's office is on the grounds, fencing around the working area is up, and ground has been broken to begin actual construction.
