THEY WILL NOT SOON BE FORGOTTEN

Johnnie Ferrington

On April 30, 1966, Johnnie (J. W.) Ferrington, assistant superintendent of utilities at Duke University, passed away. Johnnie had served the university continuously for more than 39 years, which represents essentially his entire working life. Those of us who knew him well have and have had a very high respect for him as a person, for his abilities, his considerate friendship, and for his high personal integrity. He was liked and respected by everyone. He had the interest of the university at heart and was always cooperative and anxious to serve when needed. His calm, efficient, and intelligent supervision of personnel and his effective performance as a mediator of personnel differences and complaints was outstanding.

Johnnie Ferrington was a devoted family man. He and his entire family are well liked and an asset to the community in which they live.

We and Duke University have lost a valued friend and associate, and the university has lost a competent and faithful employee.

Earesell Richardson

Mr. Earesell Richardson died on April 10 after an illness of several weeks. He had returned to work at the Department of Dietetics on the day of his death.

Mr. Richardson was born in Johnson County but made his home in Durham. For many years he had a fish market on Roxboro Street along with his work at Duke Hospital. Mr. Richardson had been a dependable and capable employee in the Department of Dietetics for 15 years, so will be greatly missed by all of his friends.

Surviving are his wife, a son, and two daughters.

Miss Mildred Sherwood

To her small patients she was the good fairy of story book fame—bringing with her mere presence and gentle touch the things they needed most: relief from pain, love for the unloved, and comfort for the frightened. And she looked the part of the good fairy—petit, quick in movement and in speech—in her dainty, high-crowned cap and neat white uniform.

To her nursing students she gave—sometimes without our realization—a dare to care for children, both with our hearts and with our hands. She taught by example in her practical minded, understanding way, and was to us all the symbol of excellence, the epitome of pediatric nursing. This one tiny nurse left with her many nursing students a tremendous legacy: the knowledge and understanding to give good nursing care to the sick "little people" who are our patients.

Mary C. Davison
Head, Nurse, Recovery Room

[Note: Miss Sherwood was pediatric nursing supervisor from 1929 until her retirement in August, 1960. She passed away April 21.]
