

INTERCOM

Editor - - - - - Elaine R. Spalding

Editorial Committee - - - - - George Mack, Elon Clark, Sam Agnello, Cecil McClees, S. Douglas Smith, Doris Linderoth, Frances Patterson.

Published monthly by and for the staff of Duke University Medical Center, Box 3354, Durham, North Carolina.

FROM THE DESK OF ... CHARLES H. FRENZEL

As the Medical Center continues to grow, internal communications become more difficult and the need for an effective house organ becomes increasingly important. The new INTERCOM, introduced with this issue, will be published monthly and will be designed to convey the most up-to-date information about happenings in the Medical Center.

It is our plan to cover most of the news in brief in this publication and to leave the full coverage of major Medical Center programs to a quarterly publication now being planned and yet to be named. I hope you will find the new INTERCOM interesting and informative and that its staff hears from you often.

To provide direction to this and the quarterly publication, a new committee has been formed under the chairmanship of George Mack, Administrative Assistant. George is a native of Detroit, Michigan, a graduate of the University of Michigan and the Duke University Graduate Program in Hospital Administration.

Mrs. Spalding and Mr. Mack discuss the new INTERCOM

Working with George Mack is the recently-arrived Public Relations Assistant, Mrs. Elaine Spalding. Along with her many other duties, she is Editor of INTERCOM, so INTERCOM's new look is no coincidence. A native of New York, Elaine brings with her a wide background in publications, including National Geographic Magazine and Business International. She attended the College of Wooster in Wooster, Ohio, has travelled all over the US, Canada, Europe, Scandinavia and Russia. Mr. Spalding shares her interests and is a budgets and measurements specialist for the University.

We are fortunate to have a person as energetic and talented as Elaine, and her infectious enthusiasm and personality are sure to make her effective in the growing Public Relations endeavors of The Medical Center.

PROFESSIONAL NEWS

New Appointments. Dr. B. Woodhall has been promoted to Associate Provost, L.E. Swanson to Director of Planning, and R.A. Lochbaum has been appointed Assistant Controller. Dr. E. Croft Long has been promoted to Associate Dean of Undergraduate Medical Education, Dr. M.I. Brown to Dean of the School of Nursing and Director of Patient Care, and Dr. W.J. DeMaria to Assistant Dean, Continuing Education. Dr. J.B. Wyngaarden has been appointed Chairman of the Department of Medicine, Dr. J.L. Goldner to Chief of Orthopedic Surgery, and James A. Hines is the new manager of Surgical OPC. Dr. Frank M. Mauney has been appointed to Assistant Professor in Thoracic & Gen. Surgery. Promoted to full professors in Pathology are: Drs. B.F. Fetter and B.F. Trump; Dr. Lawrence Taylor is a new Assistant Professor in Physiology. Associate professors in Physiology are George Padilla, Thomas McManus and Toshio Narahashi. Paul Hochstein is now Associate Professor of Physiology and Head of the Division of Clinical Physiology. New assistant professors in Physiology are Robert Gibbs and Joseph Greenfield. Leon Lack is now Associate Professor in Pharmacology; Klaus Brendel has been appointed Assistant Professor of Pharmacology and Saul Schanberg of Clinical Pharmacology. Also, Miss Mary Britt has been appointed Registrar and Instructor of the School of Medical Technology. And two new appointments to the Office of Undergraduate Medical Education are Mrs. Aline Mobley Coordinator of Medical Student Loans and Scholarships and Mr. Ed King, Manager of Medical Student Labs.

Joe Sigler

Just appointed medical writer for the Office of Info. Services, Joe Sigler hails from West Virginia. For the past two years he's been an investigative and city hall reporter for the Florida Times-Union in Jacksonville and earned the newspaper's top reporting award for his story probing the city's purchase of playground equipment. Joe has also written in-depth stories on hospital care, surgical techniques, mental health, and alcoholism.

Honors Received. Emy Villanueva was appointed by Governor Moore to serve on the State Examining Committee of Physical Therapists for a 3-year term. The P.T. Dept. exhibit on "The Role of P.T. in Community Health," won honorable mention of the annual American P.T. Association Convention early in July...Miss Helen Kaiser has given the 5th "Mary McMillan" lecture at the APTA Conference, a lecture-ship awarded for outstanding leadership contributing to the development of education and research. In Audio-visual Ed., Wayne C. Williams, Coordinator of Medical Photography, won the first Award in the Photomicrograph Class. He was also certified as a Registered Biological Photographer, Richard L. McKee received honorable mention in the General Illustrative Class at the Biological Photographic Association-1967. J.H. Bufkin received the N.C. Association of Medical Record Libraries Award, and Dr. J.E. Markee was appointed a member of the Medical Advisory Board on Educational Film Production. Dr. John P. Kapp, Assistant Resident in Neurosurgery, has won the Resident's Research Award for 1967, which is presented annually by the American Academy of Neurological Surgery for the most outstanding research work carried out by a member of the house staff on a training program in the US and Canada.