Steinert Begins April 14

Assistant Vice President Appointed

Jeff H. Steinert, director of management services for the Greenville (S. C.) Hospital System, has been named a University assistant vice president, effective April 14.

His area of responsibility will be business and finance at the medical center.

He will report both to Charles B. Huestis, Duke vice president for business and finance, and to Dr. Stuart M. Sessoms, director of the hospital.

Steinert worked from 1954-63 as controller and assistant director at the Greenville General Hospital, one of the five institutions making up the Greenville Hospital System. He became director of management services for the system in 1963.

Prior to going to Greenville, Steinert worked in accounting and office management for hospitals and private industry in Gouverneur, N. Y., and New York City.

Steinert studied engineering at Bucknell Junior College and City College of New York and chemistry at Columbia. He served overseas with the 8th Air Force as a first lieutenant during World War II.

A deacon and Sunday School teacher in the Presbyterian Church, Steinert is trustee and treasurer for church-operated Covenant College in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Steinert currently is national president of the Hospital Financial Management Association, and has held national offices since 1963. A former state president and fellow, he was awarded life membership in the association two years ago.

Other professional activities have included membership on numerous working parties and conferences of the American Hospital Association. He helped design an accounting manual for the Duke Endowment, was accounting editor of Southern Hospitals, a professional journal, and has served consultantships with the Social Security Administration.

Steinert and his wife have two married children and a daughter who is a high school senior.

Woodhall Takes Position As Temporary Chancellor

Dr. Barnes Woodhall, assistant to the president of the university since Jan. 15, was named chancellor pro tem by Dr. Douglas M. Knight last month.

The university's board of trustees voted at its March meeting to establish the position of chancellor and approved Dr. Woodhall's appointment pending the selection of a permanent appointee to the office.

In the plan approved by the trustees, the president will continue to be the chief executive officer of the university, and, in accordance with the university's charter and by-laws, will have final authority and responsibility for implementing policies of the university as established by the trustees.

Responsibility and authority for internal operations of the university will be delegated to the chancellor, and the president will participate in such matters when they are referred to him by the chancellor.

Dr. Knight said in his announcement of the trustee action that at an early date he will appoint a faculty-student-trustee search committee to recommend candidates to fill the office of chancellor on a permanent basis.

"We are especially fortunate," Dr.
