

PROFESSIONAL NEWS

Heart Seminar

"Ischemic Heart Disease: A Therapeutic Challenge" is the title of a three-day program April 9-11 at the medical center.

The event is sponsored by the American College of Cardiology and Duke University School of Medicine. Program director is Henry D. McIntosh, M. D., chief of the cardiovascular division and professor of medicine.

The program is designed to cover in depth the entire spectrum of ischemic heart disease including epidemiology and risk factors and their modification; sudden death and the current status of programs designed to reduce the incidence; the natural history, pathology, pathophysiology, diagnosis and recent advances in therapy.

Co-director for the session is Joseph C. Greenfield, M. D., associate professor of medicine. Nearly 30 Duke faculty members and several guest faculty will present sections of the program.

At Conference

Sam A. Agnello, director of the division of audiovisual education, will speak on "Closed Circuit Television--Science Teaching and Video Tape Reording" at a symposium on hospital communication, transportation and distribution systems in Ottawa, Canada, May 1-2.

Appointed

C. William Smith, Jr., director of medical center data processing and administrative director of the Department of Community Health Sciences, has recently been appointed to the International Board of Directors for the Data Processing Management Association, the largest professional organization in the world representing the data processing industry.

Attends Course

Mrs. Diane Lee of occupational therapy, attended a four-day upper extremity prosthetic training course at Northwestern University in Chicago Feb 21-24.

Guest Lecturer

Dr. Joseph A. C. Wadsworth, chairman of the Department of Ophthalmology, was guest lecturer at the University of Florida at Gainesville March 14-15. He gave three lectures and presented a seminar on "Vitreous and Its Relation to Retinal Detachment."

Visits Duke

Dr. F. Wayne Lee of Charlotte was a guest of the division of orthopaedics at Duke and at the VA March 5.

Delivers Address

Dr. Roy T. Parker, chairman of the Department of Obstetrics-Gynecology, delivered the presidential address at the annual meeting of the Association of Professors of Gynecology and Obstetrics in New Orleans in late February.

Dr. Parker's topic was "The University and Residency Education." He is the outgoing president of the group.

Give Talks

Wayne C. Williams and Richard L. McKee, both of the division of audiovisual education, will present talks at the Southeastern Chapter of Biological Photographic Association meeting in Charlottesville, Va., April 12-13. Mr. Williams will speak on "Audio and

people on the move

Video Tape Recording in Motion Picture Planning" while Mr. McKee will discuss "An Approach to Photographing a Concept."

Receives Award

Mrs. Maurine D. LaBarre, assistant professor of psychiatric social work in the division of child psychiatry at the medical center, has been awarded the Isabelle K. Carter Award by the North Carolina Association of Social Workers in Mental Health.

Mrs. LaBarre, also associate director of the Cooperative School for Pregnant School Girls in Durham, received the honor at the Twelfth Annual Meeting of the North Carolina Mental Health Association in Raleigh March 13.

At Council

Judy Canteley of physical therapy attended the Council of Physical Therapy School Directors and Southern Regional Educational Board in Atlanta.

Named Chairman

Dr. Raymond Massengill, assistant professor of medical speech pathology, was appointed chairman of the State Vocational Rehabilitation Speech Pathology Committee at a March 14 meeting at Duke.

Attends Meeting

Dr. J. Leonard Goldner, chief of the division of orthopaedics, participated in a regional meeting of the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons in Pittsburgh March 8-9.

At Meeting

Sam A. Agnello, director of the division of audiovisual education, will participate in the eleventh annual meeting of the Council on Medical Television on April 24-26 in Kansas City, Mo. Mr. Agnello is secretary of the CMT, an international organization devoted to health sciences television.

Elected

Charles Watson, manager of the medical center computer center, was elected to the Board of Directors of the local Central Carolina Chapter of the Data Processing Management Association.

(continued on page eight)

INTERCOM is published monthly for Duke University Medical Center faculty, staff, employees, students and friends by the Medical Center Public Relations Office, Joe Sigler, director.

INTERCOM is printed by the hospital printing department.

Mrs. Sue Childs
PR assistant and Intercom editor

Mrs. Betty Linthicum
Public Relations Secretary

Editorial Committee: Sam A. Agnello, director of the division of audiovisual education; James L. Bennett, Jr., administrative assistant to the associate provost for medical affairs; Mrs. Brainerd Currie, publicity chairman of the Duke Hospital Women's Auxiliary; George H. Mack, assistant director; James Smeltzer, assistant director of medical center personnel, and Miss Julia Taylor, R. N., head nurse on Strudwick ward.