

NEW MISS DURHAM—Faye Bass, a 19-year-old employe in the admitting office, was named Miss Durham in the Miss USA pageant in March. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Welton W. Bass of Fayetteville. In addition to a $300 wardrobe and gifts from merchants who sponsored the contest, she won the right to compete in the Miss North Carolina pageant later this month in Raleigh.

Administration Honors Auxiliary

On April 22, the hospital administrative staff will again honor members of the Duke Hospital Auxiliary at their annual dinner.

The occasion serves to express the hospital's appreciation for auxiliary members who have given their time as volunteers at the medical center. During the past year, the auxiliary membership (including summer Candystriper volunteers) contributed nearly 20,000 hours in various auxiliary projects.

Dr. Stuart M. Sessoms, hospital director, will present an after-dinner message on the current status of the hospital. A question-and-answer period will follow.

Gets National Award

A staff radiologic technologist has won the second highest award given by the American Society of Radiologic Technologists for scientific papers.

Miss Cindi Campbell, a 1968 graduate of the Duke RT school and a staff technologist in the neuroradiology division, received a cash award of $150 from the National Electrical Manufacturers Association for her paper "Value of Autotomography in the Demonstration of Brain Tumors Affecting the Midline Ventricular System."

Miss Campbell will present her paper at the national ASRT convention in Atlanta June 28 to July 3.

School of Medicine Names Two Assistant Professors

University Provost Marcus E. Hobbs has announced two promotions in the School of Medicine.

Dr. Raymond Massengill, Jr., formerly associate in medical speech pathology, has been named assistant professor of medical speech pathology in the division of plastic and maxillofacial surgery. He retains his title of director of medical speech pathology.

Dr. Robert H. Wilkinson, Jr., was promoted from associate in radiology to assistant professor in the same department.

Both men have assumed their new positions.

Massengill, who is a native of Bristol, Va., received his B. S. degree from the University of Tennessee in 1958 and his master's from the same institution in 1959. He earned his Ed. D. degree from the University of Virginia in 1965.

A member of the Duke faculty since 1964, Massengill has also taught at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill.

A 1954 graduate of the College of William and Mary, Wilkinson received his M. D. degree from Washington University in St. Louis in 1958. He served his internship at Jewish Hospital in St. Louis and a three-year residency at the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond.

Wilkinson came to Duke as an associate in the division of nuclear medicine in 1967.

New Scholarship Founded In Hospital Administration

The Graduate Program in Hospital Administration will receive the earnings on a $55,000 gift for establishment of scholarships.

The gift honors Mr. and Mrs. Marshall I. Pickens of Charlotte, and the fund is to be known as The Marshall I. and Sarah W. Pickens Scholarship Fund. Mr. Pickens is vice chairman of the board of trustees of the Duke Endowment.

The fund was established by Mr. Pickens' sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary G. Pickens of Charlotte, whose late husband, Stanton W. Pickens, was a Coca Cola Co. executive.

In making the gift, Mrs. Pickens noted that her brother-in-law, through his long association with the Duke Endowment, "has given unselfishly of his time and talents to and has been an outstanding influence for advancement in the field of hospital administration."

The principal of the fund is not to be expended in whole or in part, and only the earnings used to establish one or more scholarships in hospital administration. Mrs. Pickens did not establish definite guidelines for selection of recipients except that "they must be deserving, outstanding persons."

In acknowledgement, Charles H. Frenzel, director of the Duke University Hospital Administration program, said the fund "will enable us to seek out outstanding young individuals for study in hospital administration and for careers in this demanding field."

Marshall Pickens, Mr. Frenzel said, "has long been identified with excellence in hospital administration and has been a very special friend of the program in hospital administration at Duke University."

Manager Elected

The manager of the hospital storeroom has been elected president of the North Carolina Association of Hospital Purchasing Agents.

Representatives of 18 state hospitals named Warren Wagner to the post at a meeting here recently.

Wagner will preside at the association's annual meeting at Wake County Memorial Hospital in Raleigh May 16.
