

PROFESSIONAL NEWS

(continued from page two)

Gives Paper

Dr. John E. Dees, professor of urology, presented a paper on "Mineral Oil in the Treatment of Selected Patients with Infected Residual Urine" at the meeting of the Society of Genitourinary Surgeons in Pebble Beach, Calif., May 7-10.

Reappointed

Dr. Lenox D. Baker, professor of orthopaedic surgery, has been re-appointed to the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped for another three-year term.

Dr. Baker is medical director of the North Carolina Cerebral Palsy Hospital in Durham.

NCMTE Chairman

Dr. A. Wendell Musser, associate professor of pathology and director of allied health services at Duke, has stressed the importance of diversity in educational methods, programs, goals and opportunities involved in medical laboratory education in a newsletter published by the National Committee for Careers in Medical Technology.

Dr. Musser is chairman of the National Council on Medical Technology Education.

Attends Meeting

Miss Susan Carlton Smith, assistant curator of the Trent Collection in the History of Medicine, attended the annual meeting of the American Association of the History of Medicine in Baltimore May 8-10.

At Conferences

Dr. James A. McFarland, assistant professor of community health sciences, attended the American Heart Association workshop on "Exercise in the Evaluation, Prevention and Treatment of Heart Disease" at Myrtle Beach, S. C., May 6-8.

Dr. McFarland served as moderator of a panel on long-term management of myocardial infarction at the North Carolina Heart Association Annual Scientific Sessions in Charlotte May 28-29.

In addition, Dr. McFarland will participate in the Second National Conference on Coronary Care June 18-20 in Denver, Colo.

Visiting Lecturer

Dr. J. B. Sidbury, Jr., professor of pediatrics, was visiting lecturer in the Department of Pediatrics at the University of Michigan April 14-18. The lectureship was sponsored by the Journal of Pediatrics Educational Foundation.

Wins Prize

Dr. Hak Lim Kim, fellow in academic urology, won first prize in the Third Annual Montague L. Boyd Prize Essay Contest for a paper titled "An Experimental Model of Ureteral Colic" at the Southeastern Section meeting of the American Urological Association in April.

Elected

Miss Judith Canteley of the physical therapy staff, was recently elected secretary of the State Advisory Committee for Physical Therapy Assistant Education.

Miss Canteley, as chairman of the Physical Therapy Section of the North Carolina Public Health Association, also recently attended a meeting of the governing council of the association at Wrightsville Beach on May 1.

In addition, Miss Canteley was a participant at the "Institute on the Fundamentals of Health Planning" conducted by the Center for Health Administration Studies at the University of Chicago.

Gives Talks

Dr. Eugene M. Renkin, professor of pharmacology, presented a talk on "Colloid Osmotic Pressure and Body Water Distribution" at a symposium on fluid replacement in the surgical patient at Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York City May 26-27.

Dr. Renkin will deliver a lecture on "Restricted Diffusion in Capillary Walls" at the Alfred Benzon Symposium on Capillary Permeability in Copenhagen, Denmark, June 22-25.

At Conferences

Dr. Kathryn Crossland, professor of nursing, is attending regional conferences of chiefs of nursing service sponsored by the U. S. Veterans' Administration in Washington and San Francisco in June. The conference subject will be "Introduction of a Quality Evaluation System for Nursing Service in VA Hospitals."

Guest Speaker

Dr. J. Leonard Goldner, chief of the division of orthopaedic surgery, will travel to Hamilton, Ontario, Canada June 15 to serve as guest speaker of the President of the Canadian Orthopaedic Association to talk about cervical spine injuries.

Dr. Goldner spoke on the musculoskeletal aspects of emotional problems on May 28 at the Lenior County Medical Society.

Presents Paper

Dr. Howard K. Thompson, associate professor of medicine and biomathematics, presented a talk on "Monitoring of Clinical Data by Means of a Large Digital Computer" at the Digital Equipment Computer Users Society spring symposium May 12-13 in Wakefield, Mass.

Discussant

Dr. W. Banks Anderson, Jr., a new member of the American Ophthalmological Society, served as discussant of a paper on ketotic hypoglycemia at the society's meeting May 25-28 in Hot Springs, Va.

Dr. Anderson also discussed a paper on oxygen effects at the Fourth Symposium on Underwater Physiology June 3-5 at the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia.

Chairman

Dr. W. K. Joklik, professor and chairman of the Department of Microbiology and Immunology, served as chairman of the Interferon Session at the meeting of the New York Academy of Medicine Conference on Antiviral Substances June 15-19.

Gives Paper

Kenneth J. Schoonhagen, instructor in the Graduate Program in Hospital Administration, delivered a paper on "Unit Administration—A Concept of Decentralized Management" at the Twentieth Annual American Institute of Industrial Engineers Conference and Convention in Houston, Tex., May 14-17.

(continued on page eleven)