

Faculty

(continued from page seven)

Dr. Mallory, a graduate of Princeton University, earned his M. D. at Duke and has been an associate in psychiatry working at Highland Hospital in Asheville.

Dr. Workman earned his B. S. degree from Presbyterian College in Clinton, S. C., in 1956 and his M. D. from the Medical College of South Carolina in 1960. He also comes to Duke from Highland Hospital.

The two appointments in physiology went to Dr. Balthasar F. Gisin and Dr. John Gutknecht.

A native of Switzerland, Dr. Gisin completed his Ph. D. degree in organic chemistry at the University of Basel. He was formerly guest investigator at Rockefeller University in New York.

Dr. Gutknecht earned his B. A. and Ph. D. degrees in zoology from Ohio Wesleyan University in 1959 and 1963, respectively. He has been a postdoctoral fellow at Duke since 1967.

Promoted from an associate in the department to assistant professor of veterinary medicine was Dr. Bobby F. Sherwood. He was awarded his B. S. degree from North Carolina State University and his D. V. M. from the University of Georgia. He came to Duke in 1965.

Dr. William D. Gentry, who has been a clinical intern at Duke for the past year, was appointed assistant professor of medical psychology. He received his B. A. degree in sociology and psychology and his M. S. and Ph. D. degrees in clinical psychology from the University of Florida.

Named assistant professor in the division of immunology was Dr. Samuel R. Olenick, a graduate of Wayne State University. He earned his M. D. from the University of Michigan School of Medicine in 1955 and his Ph. D. from the University of Pennsylvania in 1967.

Dr. John B. Nowlin, formerly an associate in the department, has been appointed assistant professor of community health sciences. Dr. Nowlin earned his B. S. and M. D. degrees from Duke and was an intern, resident, and fellow in medicine here.

Dr. T. Boyce Cole, originally from Rockingham, N. C., was named assistant professor of otolaryngology. He is a graduate of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and received his M. D. degree from the same school in 1962.

Newly appointed assistant professor of orthodontics is Dr. Andrew P. Collins, who comes to Duke from the University of Washington at Seattle.

Dr. Collins, a graduate of Clemson University, earned a doctor of medicine in dentistry at the University of Kentucky in 1967 and an M. S. in dentistry from Washington earlier this year.

Appointed assistant professor of ophthalmology was Dr. Maurice B. Landers, III. Dr. Landers attended Princeton University and was awarded his M. D. degree from the University of Michigan School of Medicine in 1963. He completed his residency at the Jules Stein Eye Institute of the University of California at Los Angeles in 1967.

Dr. Ronald B. Luftig has been named assistant professor of microbiology. Dr. Luftig earned his B. S. and M. S. degrees in mathematics in New York and was granted his Ph. D. in biophysics from the University of Chicago in 1967.

Four changes of status announced by Dr. Hobbs affected the departments of surgery, immunology and biomedical engineering.

Dr. Donald Silver, associate professor of surgery since 1966, has been given the additional title of associate professor of pediatrics.

Dr. Silver earned his A. B., B. S. and M. D. degrees from Duke and completed his internship and residency in general and thoracic surgery at the hospital.

Dr. Hilliard F. Seigler, presently assistant professor of surgery, has assumed the additional post of assistant professor of immunology. He came to Duke in 1965 following completion of his B. A. and M. D. degrees at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill.

Named assistant professor of immunology was Dr. Rebecca H. Buckley, formerly an associate in the division. She retains her title as assistant professor of pediatrics. She is a graduate of Duke and was awarded her M. D. degree from U. N. C. at Chapel Hill in 1958.

Dr. John W. Moore, formerly professor of physiology and biomedical engineering, has returned to the title of professor of physiology. He received his undergraduate education at Davidson College and his M. A. and Ph. D. degrees in physics from the University of Virginia.

DR. BRIAN

Med Graduate Gets Silver Star

A 1966 graduate of the Duke University School of Medicine has been awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in Vietnam.

Capt. Earl W. Brian, Jr., a native of Raleigh, won the citation while serving as battalion surgeon of the 228th Aviation Battalion, First Cavalry Division.

The citation noted that during a rocket attack on Camp Martin Cox, "his extraordinary heroism was in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflects great credit upon himself."

Following his internship at Stanford University Hospital in California and prior to his entry into the service Capt. Brian was named executive secretary of the California State Social Welfare Board by Governor Ronald Reagan. He is believed to be the youngest man ever to have held that post.

He is presently completing his military tour in Yuma, Ariz.

Wrong Number?

Telephone forms have been sent out to all full time employees. A correct listing is essential for prompt and easy handling of your calls coming into the University as well as calls within our own private exchange. Please return the corrected forms as quickly as possible. If there are any questions or if you did not receive a form, please call Betsy Seymour at extension 3611.