

PROFESSIONAL NEWS

(continued from page two)

Give Symposium

Four Medical Center staff members presented a symposium on "Speech Problems Associated with Orofacial Anomalies" October 30. Giving presentations were Dr. Raymond Massengill, Jr., Dr. Kenneth Pickrell, Dr. Galen Quinn, and Dr. Nicholas Georgiade.

In New York

Dr. Peregrina Labay of the division of urology gave a talk on "Spinal Cord Injury" in New York September 11.

At Nursing Conferences

Mrs. Margaret Dunn, head nurse on Welch ward, attended the American Nurses Association meeting in Atlanta earlier this month.

Miss Carol Jones, R. N. on Welch, attended the N. C. Nurses Association convention in Raleigh.

Give Papers

Presenting papers at the American Heart Association meetings in Dallas November 12-16 were Dr. Yihong Kong who spoke on "Assessment of Regional Myocardial Performance in Left Ventricular Dysfunction," Dr. Robert H. Peter whose presentation was titled "Experimental Right Ventricular Infarction," and Dr. Victor S. Behar who talked on "Effects of Contrast on Ventricular Function."

Drs. Henry McIntosh and Robert Whalen served on the Scientific Sessions Program Committee for the meeting.

Named Fellow

Dr. Raymond Massengill, Jr., director of medical speech pathology, has been elected to fellowship in the American Speech and Hearing Association.

Dr. Massengill received the honor at the group's annual convention in Chicago in November.

In addition, Dr. Massengill presented papers on swallowing and speech production in patients who have had their tongues removed due to cancer and on new and improved surgical techniques in cleft palate treatment.

He was also elected to the association's Clinical Certification Committee at the convention.

Gave Courses

Mr. G. S. T. Cavanagh, director of the Medical Center Library, and Mr. Warren Bird, associate director, taught courses in systems analysis and materials for the history of medicine for the Continuing Education program of the Medical Library Association at its annual meeting in Louisville, Ky., during the last week in October.

Also attending the meeting were Mary Ann Brown, Kathy Kruse, Eula Wheeler, and Judy Woodburn.

At Institute

Karen Hardy, R. N., Frances Jones, R. N., and Kae Robertson, R. N., attended the regional institute of the Association of Operating Room Nurses in Norfolk, Va., October 25-26.

Listed

Miss Helen Kaiser, professor of physical therapy and consultant in physical therapy with the N. C. Regional Medical Program, is listed in the latest Who's Who Among American Women.

She was recently appointed public member to the North Carolina Committee on Patient Care.

In October, Miss Kaiser traveled to Memphis, Tenn., to attend a Regional Medical Allied Health Personnel meeting.

Participant

Dr. James F. Glenn, professor and chief of the division of urology, served on a panel discussing "Reconservation of Carcinoma of the Prostate" at the ACS Clinical Congress in San Francisco October 6-10.

Dr. Glenn served on a panel on "Adrenal Tumors" at the Pan Pacific Surgical Association Congress in Honolulu October 14-22.

He attended the NAS-NRC Clinical Congress in Chicago October 24-25 and gave a paper on "Adrenal Causes of Hypertension" at the American Urology Association postgraduate seminar November 1-4 in Chicago.

Panelist

Dr. Robert H. Peter of the division of cardiology served as a panelist at a symposium on coronary circulation in Syracuse, N. Y., October 16-21.

Dr. Peter also participated in a workshop on coronary care in Salt Lake City, October 21-24.

At Workshop

Flora Smith, head nurse on Halsted, attended a nursing service organization workshop October 3-4 at Ohio State University. While there, she visited one of that medical center's thoracic surgery wards.

At Tri-State Meeting

Several members of the physical therapy staff attended the three-day Tri-State Physical Therapy Association meeting in Winston-Salem October 31-November 2.

Mrs. Jean Barr and Miss Helen Kaiser participated in the N. C. Physical Therapy Association Executive Committee meeting while they were there.

Miss Patricia McFadden, a senior PT student, presented a paper on "Motor Deficit Evaluation of the Patient with Myotonic Psytrophy."

Guest Faculty

Dr. James J. Morris, assistant professor in the division of cardiology, was a member of the guest faculty at the Marquette School of Medicine in Milwaukee October 20-22. The program, presented by the American College of Cardiology, was titled "An Aggressive Approach to Coronary Heart Disease: The Present State of the Art."

Dr. Morris also attended a meeting of the teaching scholars of the American Heart Association in New York October 3.

At Meetings

Dr. John P. Tindall, assistant professor of dermatology, will attend the American Academy of Dermatology meeting in Miami December 6-11.

Dr. Tindall attended the Southern Medical Association meeting November 10-13 in Atlanta.

At Meeting

Miss Helen Kaiser and Dr. Miriam Jacobs of physical therapy attended the second annual meeting of the Association of Schools of Allied Health Professions in Washington November 20-22.

Dr. Jacobs attended the Council of Physical Therapy School Directors meeting and educational institute at the Center for Adult Education November 16-19.