

2 PROFESSIONAL NEWS

New Book

Dr. Daniel C. Tosteson, chairman of the Department of Physiology and Pharmacology, is editor of a new book titled The Molecular Basis of Membrane Functions.

The book, work of a symposium sponsored by the Society of General Physiologists, includes articles on current investigation in the field of membranes.

Wins Prize

Dr. W. N. Kelley, assistant professor of medicine, won the Geigy International Rheumatism Prize at the Twelfth International Congress of Rheumatology held in Prague, Czechoslovakia, for his work on "Hypoxanthine-guanine Phosphoribosyl Transferase Deficiency in Gout."

Present Papers

Four members of the Department of Surgery faculty presented papers at the scientific sessions of the American Heart Association in Dallas November 13-16.

The presentations included "Serum Creatine Phosphokinase Activity Following Surgery" by Dr. James Fuchs, "Patterns of Pulmonary Venous Flow" by Dr. Sewell Dixon, "De-Synchronized Activation in Myocardial Infarction: A Re-Entry

Basis for Ventricular Arrhythmias" by Dr. Jim Cox, and "Relationship of Myocardial Potassium Content and Atrial Fibrillation by Dr. Paul Ebert.

At Meeting

Three Duke School of Nursing faculty members participated in the 1969 American Nurses Association clinical conferences held in Atlanta November 5-7 and in Minneapolis November 17-19.

Carol Ruth Tyler, R. N., M. S. N., an instructor at the school, gave a talk on "The Nurse's Influence on Mr. Brown's Orientation" in the session on geriatric nursing.

During the medical-surgical section, Dorothy J. Brundage, R. N., M. N., an instructor at Duke, talked on "A Study of the Identification of Patients Predisposed to Adverse Drug Reactions."

Virginia Stone, R. N., Ph. D., director of graduate studies and professor of nursing, also gave a talk at the sessions during a part of the program titled "There's Something New About the Old."

Lecturer

Dr. Siegfried Heyden, associate professor of community health sciences, gave a lecture at the Biochemical Society of Vienna, Austria, October 28.

Dr. Heyden also presented a talk to the Licensed Practical Nurses Association meeting in Durham October 30.

Re-Appointed

Dr. Robert W. Wheat, associate professor of microbiology and immunology, was re-appointed this month to the editorial board of the Journal of Bacteriology, the official publication of the American Society for Microbiology.

Gives Paper

Dr. Thomas R. Cate, associate professor of medicine, will present a paper on "Interferon Activity from Serum and Lymphocytes During Influenza" at the meeting of the Southern Society for Clinical Investigation in New Orleans January 29-31. Co-authors of the paper are Drs. C. E. Buckley, III, S. M. McMahon, G. M. Halprin, and M. J. Zitt.

At Meetings

Dr. Frank W. Clippinger, Jr., professor

people on the move

of orthopaedic surgery, will serve as examiner in adult orthopaedics for the American Board of Orthopaedic Surgeons in Chicago January 13-15.

Dr. Clippinger will also serve as chairman of the publications committee and be in charge of public relations for the meeting of the American Society for Surgery of the Hand January 15-17.

He will attend the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons meeting January 17-22.

Elected

Dr. Rebecca Buckley, assistant professor of pediatrics and immunology, has been elected to a six-year term on the board of examiners of the sub-board of pediatric allergy of the American Board of Pediatrics.

At Speech Meetings

Dr. Raymond Massengill, director of medical speech pathology, along with Miss Viola Willis and Miss Sandy Barrie, both speech pathologists, attended the American Speech and Hearing Association meeting in Chicago recently.

Dr. Massengill presented papers on cleft palate and glossectomy.

Along with Mrs. Rozalyn Bradley, speech pathologist, Dr. Massengill attended a special education conference in Charlotte. He was a member of a panel on "Early Childhood Education for the Speech-Impaired Child."

Elected

Dr. John P. Tindall, assistant professor of dermatology, was elected secretary of the dermatology section of the Southern Medical Association at the organization's meeting November 8-12.

At Institute

Mrs. Mary McColm, director of outpatient department nursing, attended a recent institute in Chicago on Nursing Service Management—Specialty Department.

In Bombay

Dr. W. K. Joklik, chairman of the Department of Microbiology-Immunology, at Duke, was one of three American representatives to the Third International

(continued on page eight)

INTERCOM is published monthly for Duke University Medical Center faculty, staff, employees, students, and friends by the Medical Center Public Relations Office, Joe Sigler, director.

MRS. SUE CHILDS

PR Assistant and Intercom Editor

MISS BARBARA RAY

Public Relations Secretary

Editorial Committee: Sam A. Agnello, director of the division of audiovisual education; James L. Bennett, administrative assistant to the vice-president for health affairs; Mrs. Brainerd Currie, publicity chairman for the Duke Hospital Auxiliary; Cecil McClees, assistant director of the Medical Center Personnel Office; S. Douglas Smith, assistant director of the hospital, and Miss Julia Taylor, R. N., acting supervisor for Strudwick, Holmes, and Welch wards.