

5 Faculty Changes Made

Five changes in faculty at the Medical Center have been announced by Duke Provost Marcus E. Hobbs.

They came in the fields of physiology, pathology, radiology, experimental medicine, and anatomy.

Dr. Ben Zion Ginzburg of Hebrew University in Jerusalem, Israel, was appointed visiting professor of physiology. He will teach at Duke through October, 1970.

Ginzburg, a native of Jerusalem, received both his master's and Ph. D. degrees in plant physiology from Hebrew University in 1954 and 1959, respectively. He has done postdoctoral research at Edinburgh University and at Harvard Medical School.

He was named to the faculty of Hebrew University in 1963 and was appointed senior lecturer in 1966.

Promoted to associate professor of pathology was Dr. Peter M. Burkholder, an assistant professor since 1965.

Burkholder, a native of Cambridge, Mass., earned a B. S. degree in zoology from Yale University and his M. D. from Cornell University School of Medicine. He was formerly an assistant professor in pathology at Cornell.

Dr. Hewlette C. Connell, an associate in the Department of Radiology, was promoted to assistant professor.

Connell came to Duke in 1964 for specialty training and was named an associate in radiology in 1968.

He is a graduate of Mercer College in Macon, Ga., and received his M. D. degree from the Medical College of Georgia.

Named assistant professor of experimental medicine was Dr. Howard L. Elford, who comes to Duke from a post as assistant professor of biological chemistry at the University of Michigan.

A native of Chicago, Elford earned his B. S. degree in chemistry from the University of Illinois in 1958 and his Ph. D. in biochemistry from Cornell University in 1962. He has done postdoctoral work at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Dr. Kaye H. Kilburn, associate professor of medicine since 1962, has been given the additional title of assistant professor of anatomy.

Kilburn, originally from Logan, Utah, graduated from the University of Utah in 1951 and earned his M. D. from the School of Medicine there in 1954. He was formerly an instructor in medicine at Washington University in St. Louis.

Reporters contributing to the "Professional News" and "Intercomments" columns in this issue of Intercom include:

Sheila Blackley, allergy and chest; Inez Wilson, audiovisual education; Hope Jones, biochemistry; Nina Walte, business office; Mrs. M. E. Bivins, cardiology; Linda Williams, dietetics; Judy Suggs, gen. & thoracic surgery & rehab med.; Mrs. Peggy Poole, gen. surgical unit; Janet Zigler, hematology; Judith Auman, immunology; Cinderella Lennon, hospital laundry; Elizabeth Vickroy, medical center library; Kitty Taylor, Medical PDC; Betty Kernodle, medical records; Lynn Waterson, dept. of microbiology; Sue T. Cable, R. N., operating room; Mrs. Sue Galbraith, orthodontics; Helen Gay, otolaryngology; Susie Clark, outpatient nursing; Mrs. Dayna Wicker, pediatrics; Linda Clayton, personnel; John Braun, physician's assistant; Mary R. Smith, private med. lab; Mrs. Ruby Weaver, Rankin ward; Rozalyn Bradley, speech pathology; Annie Lee Terry, Surgical PDC; Mrs. Mary Gunter, third east; Mrs. Jonelle Gordan, veterinary medicine; Mrs. M. Dunn, Welch ward, Mrs. Therlan Thompson, central supply room.

THE MAN AND THE PORTRAIT—Marshall I. Pickens the man and Pickens the portrait frame Dr. Saul Boyarsky following dedication ceremonies of the new Marshall I. Pickens Rehabilitation Center. Mrs. Mary Semans, in formally presenting the portrait, said it would "enliven and inspire this institution." At right is Sir Ludwig Guttman, principal speaker at the dedication. (photo by Thad Sparks)