

PROFESSIONAL NEWS

New Books

Dr. Jay M. Arena, professor of pediatrics, is a primary contributor to two new books.

He edited the ninth edition of Davison's Com-pleat Pediatrician and co-authored Human Poisoning from Native and Cultivated Plants with North Carolina State University's Dr. James W. Hardin.

Several other Duke faculty members contributed to the Davison text, which was first published by Dr. Wilburt C. Davison, Duke's first medical dean.

At Meeting

Dr. Will C. Sealy, professor and chief of thoracic surgery, attended the Society of Thoracic Surgeons meeting in Atlanta, Georgia, January 11-14. He is the current president of the society.

Co-editors

Dr. Ewald W. Busse, chairman of the Department of Psychiatry, and Dr. Eric Pfeiffer, associate professor of psychiatry, have co-edited a book titled Behavior and Adaptation in Late Life.

The work, published by Little Brown, and Co., is written not only for professionals investigating aging but also for the general reader who is interested in the problems of growing old.

Several other Duke faculty members contributed sections to the book.

Appointed

Dr. David L. Young, assistant professor of medicine in the division of gastroenterology, has been appointed an investigator of the Howard Hughes Medical Institute of Miami, Florida.

Dr. Young, whose appointment began January 1 and will continue until January of 1972, is researching the synthesis of complex fats in the liver and their release into the blood stream.

Gets Grant

Dr. Stanley H. Appel, chief of the division of neurology, has been awarded an $18,974 grant from the National Multiple Sclerosis Society to study the communication between cells. With this grant, the society's support of Appel's research enters its third year with grants totaling $70,001.

At Meetings

Dr. Lenox D. Baker, professor of orthopaedic surgery, attended the executive committee meeting at the American Orthopaedic Association convention in Chicago January 17.

Orthopaedic house staff members who attended the AOA meeting and the annual meeting of the American Society for Surgery of the Hand included Drs. John Dobson, Mark Frankel, Robert Mathews, James Boatwright, Glen Barden, Hiroshi Eguro, Peter Fowler, Wayne Venters, and Stephen Lang.

Makes Visits

Dr. J. David Robertson, chairman of the Department of Anatomy, went on site visits to Purdue University December 12 and to Boston January 12-14.

Dr. Robertson also attended the cell biology study section held in Washington, D. C., January 15-17.

At Meeting

Dr. Ewald W. Busse, chairman of the Department of Psychiatry, spoke to a people on the move

meeting of Duke alumni in Dallas on January 16.

Gives Talks

Dr. David C. Sabiston, Jr., chairman of the Department of Surgery, spoke before the Brooklyn Surgical Society January 8 on "Pathophysiology, Complications, and Management of Arteriovenous Fistulae." On January 9, Dr. Sabiston was visiting professor at Downstate Medical Center in New York, which included speaking to faculty and house staff, as well as participating in patient rounds.

Dr. Sabiston traveled to the University of California School of Medicine in San Diego January 15 to serve as visiting professor, speaking with both faculty and house staff. He also attended the Southern California chapter of the American College of Surgeons meeting in San Diego to present two papers and participate in a symposium on thromboembolism. In addition, he served as a panelist and moderator of several discussion periods.

In Chicago

Dr. James F. Glenn, chief of the division of urology, traveled to Chicago recently to participate in a meeting of the Vietnam Medical School Project.

Visiting Professor

Dr. Eugene Stead, Florence McAlister professor of medicine, was guest lecturer at the Medical School of the University of Colorado January 14. He participated in a program on "Granulomatous Disease: Patient with Disseminated Atypical Mycobacterial Infection."

Elected

Dr. William P. Wilson, professor of psychiatry, was elected chairman of the Section on Neurology and Psychiatry at the meeting of the Southern Medical Society in Birmingham, Alabama, recently.

Re-appointed

Dr. Thomas D. Kinney, director of medical education, has been reappointed to the committee on Transfusion and Transplantation of the American Medical Association.

(continued on page ten)

INTERCOM is published monthly for Duke University Medical Center faculty, staff, employees, students, and friends by the Medical Center Public Relations Office, Joe Sigler, director.

MRS. SUE CHILDS

PR Assistant and Intercom Editor

MISS BARBARA RAY

Public Relations Secretary

Editorial Committee: Sam A. Agnello, director of the division of audiovisual education; James L. Bennett, administrative assistant to the vice-president for health affairs; Mrs. Brainerd Currie, publicity chairman of the Duke Hospital Auxiliary; Cecil McClees, assistant director of the Medical Center Personnel Office; S. Douglas Smith, assistant director of the hospital, and Miss Julia Taylor, R. N., acting supervisor for Strudwick, Holmes, and Welch wards.