Blood Drive Raises $1500

The blood drive for disadvantaged medical students, sponsored by the medical student government Davison Society, raised $1,500 by January 1.

During the spring, the drive committee plans to contact individually the Duke faculty asking for a pint of blood, or the equivalent in money, as a contribution to the drive.

All proceeds from the drive will be used to aid medical students from disadvantaged backgrounds like the ghetto black, the Appalachian white, or the American Indian.

Any student who has not participated in the drive, or any employe who would like to demonstrate his support of students from disadvantaged backgrounds may still stop in at the Blood Bank to donate a pint of blood to the drive.
