

Mr. Cooley Heads Data Processing

A man who grew up with the data processing profession is the new manager of data processing at the Medical Center.

He is Emerson F. (Jim) Cooley, a native of Vermont and a graduate of Dartmouth College. Mr. Cooley succeeds Carl W. (Bill) Smith, Jr., who has been appointed administrative director of the Duke Department of Community Health Sciences.

Mr. Cooley joined the Prudential Insurance Co. in 1931 as an actuarial clerk and soon moved into work with early computing machines. He was involved with computers fulltime from 1954 on and was active in establishing the IBM commercial computer users organization.

At the time of his retirement last August, Mr. Cooley directed the largest of Prudential's data centers.

DR. McINTOSH

Dr. McIntosh Takes Post With Baylor

Dr. Henry D. McIntosh, chief of the cardiovascular division at Duke for three years, has been named chairman of the Department of Medicine at the Baylor College of Medicine and chief of the medical service at the Methodist Hospital in Houston, Tex.

He will also be responsible for the medical services at the Ben Taub, the Jeff Davis, and the VA hospitals in Houston.

At Baylor, Dr. McIntosh will be working with Dr. Michael E. DeBakey, the internationally known heart surgeon who is chairman of the Department of Surgery. Two years ago, the Baylor College of Medicine became independent of the ties with Baylor University, a Baptist institution located in Waco, Tex. Dr. DeBakey was named president of the Baylor College of Medicine at that time.

A native of Gainesville, Fla., Dr. McIntosh earned his B. S. degree from Davidson College in 1943 and received his M. D. from the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine in 1950. He served as a captain in World War II.

Dr. McIntosh came to Duke as an intern in 1950 and was named to the hospital's permanent staff in 1955. He was promoted to professor of medicine in 1962.

Duke Chorus to Perform in April

SOMETHING TO SING ABOUT—Some members of the newly organized Duke Hospital Chorus get together at a practice session. From left are Ernie Hawthorne, Carol Jones, Clara Harris, and Arnetta Markham. At the piano is Ruth Furbish of Patient Care Education. The chorus is open to any hospital employe. First performance of the group is scheduled in April. If you are interested in joining the chorus, call Patient Care Education at extension 4293. (photo by Dave Hooks)
