

PROFESSIONAL NEWS

people on the move

Author

Dr. Jay M. Arena, professor of pediatrics and director of the Duke Poison Control Center, is the author of a comprehensive work titled Poisoning-Toxicology, Symptoms, Treatments published in July.

The 746-page volume deals with prevention and treatment of poisoning from all sources in adults and children.

Earlier this year, Dr. Arena edited the ninth edition of Davison's Compleat Pediatrician, a standard pediatrics text, and co-authored Human Poisoning from Native and Cultivated Plants.

At Symposium

Dr. Miriam Jacobs, professor of physical therapy, Mrs. Grace Horton, associate in physical therapy, and Mrs. Betsy Denny, instructor in physical therapy, all attended a Pediatric Symposium at the Division of Physical Therapy, University of North Carolina School of Medicine June 4-5.

Author

Dr. E. Harvey Estes, chairman of the Department of Community Health Sciences, was one of six distinguished educators to contribute articles to a "Symposium on Trends in Medical Education" published recently in Modern Medicine.

The title of Dr. Estes' paper was "The Training of Physicians' Assistants: A New Challenge for Medical Education."

Appointed

Dr. James M. Ingram, a 1943 graduate of the Duke School of Medicine, has been appointed professor and chairman of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology at the newly established University of South Florida School of Medicine.

Gives Paper

Dr. P.K. Lauf, assistant professor of physiology, attended the Sixth Berlin Symposium on Structure and Function of the Erythrocyte August 18-22 in East Berlin, Germany, to present a paper on "Treatment of M-positive HK and L-positive LK Sheep Red Cells with Neuramindase." Co-authors of the paper include Dr. D.C. Tosteson and Miss M.L. Parmelee.

In England

Dr. K.V. Rajagopalan, assistant professor of biochemistry, will participate in the Fourth International Conference on Magnetic Resonance in Biological Systems at St. Catherine's College, Oxford, England, August 26-September 2.

Makes Presentations

Dr. Jacquelyne J. Jackson, assistant professor of medical sociology, will make a presentation about social constraints on intergroup relations research at the meeting of the Society for the Study of Social Problems in Washington, D.C., August 30.

At Conference

Dr. Matt Cartmill, assistant professor of anatomy, attended the International Primate Conference in Zurich, Switzerland, in early August.

To Participate

Dr. D. Robert Howard, director of the Physician's Assistant Program, will present a talk on the program at the Wisconsin Society of Internal Medicine meeting September 18-19 at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin.

Elected

Bruce Bateman, director of materials for the Medical Center, was elected president of the North Carolina Association of Hospital Purchasing Agents recently. He succeeds Warren Wagner, Hospital buyer, as head of the organization.

Appointed

Dr. D. Bernard Amos, James B. Duke professor of immunology and experimental surgery, has been named chairman of the immunology study section of the Division of Research Grants, National Institutes of Health.

The appointment is for a three-year term.

(continued on page eight)

Intercom
Duke University Medical Center

INTERCOM is published bi-monthly for Duke University Medical Center employees, faculty, staff, students, and friends by the Medical Center Public Relations Office, Joe H. Sigler, director, and Vance B. Whitfield, assistant director.

MRS. SUE CHILDS
PR Associate and Intercom Editor

MRS. KATHIE REISING
PR Assistant

MISS BARBARA RAY
PR Secretary

Editorial Committee: Sam A. Agnello, director of the division of audiovisual education; James L. Bennett, Jr., administrative assistant to the vice-president for health affairs; Willard McKiver, assistant in the Medical Center Personnel Office; Mrs. H. Shelton Smith, publicity chairman for the Duke Hospital Auxiliary; and S. Douglas Smith, assistant director of the hospital.