Football Anyone?

The Duke Psych Mets are looking for an opponent.

The Psych Mets are a group of employes on the psychiatric wards who have organized a co-ed touch football team.

Now they need a team to play.

Games will take place on the Duke intramural field on Saturdays or Sundays.

If your department wants to take up the challenge of the Psych Mets, contact Miss Amelia Harper, LPN on Meyer Ward, extension 3151.

Auxilians Attend State Convention

Twenty-five members of the Duke Hospital Auxiliary attended the first state-wide auxiliary convention in Raleigh this week.

Highlighting the meeting was a panel discussion on "The Right to Live and the Right to Die" moderated by Dr. Eugene A. Stead, Florence McAlister professor of medicine. Other members include Dr. William Peete, the Rev. Will Spong, Attorney Edward C. Bryson, and Dr. Hans Lowenbach, all of Duke.

Mrs. Audrey Silberman, past president of the Duke Auxiliary, was a member of the program committee for this first state auxiliary convention. It was sponsored by the North Carolina Hospital Association and organized by its Council on Auxiliaries.
