

CERTIFICATES AWARDED—Two pharmacy residents received certificates upon completion of their one year term of study in Duke's newly established Pharmacy Resident Program. Dr. Stuart Sessoms, hospital director (far right), presented the certificates to James McAllister (left) of Columbus, Ohio and William Sleasman (center) of Watervliet, N.Y. McAllister received his B.S. degree in pharmacy from the University of North Carolina and Sleasman received his from the Albany College of Pharmacy in N.Y. McAllister will continue his work at Duke and will be chief of inpatient pharmacy services. Sleasman will be working at the Sinai Hospital in Detroit, Mich. as a clinical pharmacist. He will receive his doctorate of pharmacy in the fall of 1973 from Duquesne University in Pittsburgh, Pa. Also present at the certificate ceremony were Milton Skolaut, pharmacy director, and Richard Peck, associate director of the hospital. (Photo by Dale Moses)

RETIREMENT PARTY—Mary Griffin, right, head nurse of the public Ob-Gyn Clinic, was honored at a farewell party in late June, given by the many friends she made during her eight years of service at Duke. She is being replaced by Onzelle Raleigh, left, former head nurse of Carter Suite whom Ms. Griffin worked under when she first came to Duke in 1966. According to Ms. Raleigh, she has worked on Carter Suite for 16 years and now would like to see the other side of the "birth process" in the Ob-Gyn Clinic. Upon retirement, Ms. Griffin of Akron, Ohio, plans to devote much of her time to her three children and to continue her hobby of decoupageing.

(from Medical World News)

HICCUPS: bucking bronchi.
PATENT MEDICINE: not what it's quacked up to be.
HEAD COLD: rheum at the top.
INTERN: ward healer.

Intercom

is published weekly for Duke University Medical Center employees, faculty, staff, students and friends by the Medical Center's Office of Public Relations, Joe Sigler, director; Miss Yvonne Baskin, medical writer; Mrs. Nancy Hayes, secretary.

Co-Editors

DAVID WILLIAMSON
 DALE MOSES

Public Relations Advisory Committee: Sam A. Agnello, audiovisual education; Dr. Robert Anderson Jr., surgery; James L. Bennett Jr., vice president's office; Wayne Gooch, personnel; Dr. Athos Ottolenghi, physiology and pharmacology; Richard Peck, hospital administration; Ms. Julia Taylor, RN, nursing; Dr. Tom C. Vanaman, microbiology and immunology.

Trading Post

You may send ads to "Trading Post," Box 3354, Hospital. Ads are printed free, but we do not advertise real estate, personal services or commercial enterprises. Please give your home telephone number; Duke extensions will not be listed.

FOR SALE—Two matching modern chairs, upholstered in medium blue linen, detachable seat cushions, excellent condition, $35. Call 489-6031 after 5 p.m. or anytime on the weekends.

FOR SALE—1970 Yamaha 250 motorcycle, one owner (mature, over 30 years old), kept in excellent condition, comes with two helmets (brain buckets), $350 firm, worth much more. Call 688-5825 after 6 p.m.

FOR SALE—Black and white television and stereo combination, will throw in the antenna without extra charge, any reasonable offer will be considered. Call 383-3649 after 1 p.m.

FOR SALE—Old trunk; record player; milk can; vacuum cleaner; mixer, single bed springs; two bikes; card table; old chest; and fireplace wood. See at 101 E. Maynard Avenue or call 477-5011.

FOR SALE—1971 LTD 4-door sedan with vinyl roof, air conditioning, power steering, power brakes, speed control and steel-belted tires. One owner who is leaving the country. Call 489-3222 anytime.

WANTED—1965-69 MGB, fair to good condition, will negotiate price. Call Ken Haywood at 383-6120 anytime.

RUMMAGE SALE—Cassette recorder; hair dryer; lady's shaver; percolator; electric can opener; iron; car vac; clocks; jig saw; Corning Ware; desk chairs; vaporizer; books; records; kitchen goodies, etc. Call 493-1100 or come to the sale on Saturday, July 14, 10 a.m.-4 p.m. at 2117 Bedford St. No. 26, Yorktown Apts.

WANTED—Someone to sew for a family of four. Call 383-4066.

FOR SALE—Blond mahogany bedroom set: dresser, chest of drawers, and bookcase headboard, $100, originally $400; maple dining table, $30; and assorted book club edition books, $3 each. Call 489-8998 after 6 p.m.

FOR SALE—Four-year old Bridgestone 60cc motorcycle which will need minor repairs, (does not now run—will need to be towed away), $30 for bike, $5 for helmet, or best offer, originally cost $250, a steal for an amateur mechanic. Call 383-2087 after 6 p.m.

Certificates Are Awarded To Three EPT Graduates

The first three graduates of the Electrophysiologic Technology Pilot Program received certificates upon completion of their one-year course of study in mid-June.

The graduates are Sue-Ying Hsieh of Taiwan, China; Linda Quinlivan of Raleigh; and Donna Permenter of Clearwater, Florida. Both Ms. Hsieh and Ms. Quinlivan will continue their work at Duke as EEG technicians. Ms. Permenter's future plans have not been finalized.

This pilot program which was supported by a training grant in biological psychiatry, has replaced a former six-month training program is electroencephalographic technology. As a more technical course of study, the first six months of the new program consist of classroom and laboratory training in electroencephalography, and the following six months focus on an intensive study of electrophysiologic measurement techniques.

Under the direction of Dr. William P. Wilson, professor of psychiatry, students in the first graduating class received 1800 hours of instruction at both the V.A. and Duke hospitals.

The program is now part of the allied health program in the medical center.

According to Dr. Wilson, next year's class will consist of eight to 10 students who will be given the option to participate in this course for six months or a full year. It is Wilson's hope, in the future, that this program will develop into a baccalaureate degree program and afford its students an opportunity to receive more technical training.

FIRST GRADUATING CLASS—Dr. William P. Wilson, professor of psychiatry and director of the new one-year Electrophysiologic Technology Program, presents a certificate to Ms. Sue-Ying Hsieh of Taiwan, China, one of the first three graduates of the program. The other two graduates who were not present at the certificate ceremony are Linda Quinlivan of Raleigh and Donna Permenter of Clearwater, Fla. Two of the graduates, Ms. Hsieh and Ms. Quinlivan will continue their work at Duke as EEG technicians. (Photo by Dale Moses)

Orientation Program Offered For New Duke Employees

"ORIENTATION — The ability to locate oneself in one's environment with reference to time, place and people."

That's the way the dictionary describes it.

At the medical center, orientation is the process of helping new employees learn something of the history of Duke, become better acquainted with the medical center and its function and find out about the benefits they receive as Duke employees.

The Medical Center Personnel Office conducts an orientation program for new employees each Thursday from 10-11 a.m. in the Surgery Department Conference Room (Room 3031, Purple Zone).

In a note to medical center supervisory personnel, the medical center's personnel director, Wayne Gooch, said:

"I urge you to see that each employee attends on the first Thursday following employment.

"The program consists of a slide presentation which highlights the history and purpose of Duke Medical Center, points of interest on campus, policies, benefits and work rules.

"There is also a discussion period to answer any questions the new employees may have," Gooch said.

Gooch expressed hope that the continuing program would "aid in the process of new employee orientation and adjustment to the busy atmosphere of the medical center. For this reason we solicit your cooperation."

Any questions about the orientation program should be directed to Bob New, personnel assistant, at Ext. 3424.

HOSPITAL ORIENTATION PROGRAM—Personnel Director Wayne Gooch answers questions about Duke's policies, benefits and work rules at an orientation session held for new employees. This session, which is held every Thursday, is part of the Personnel Office's new orientation program. During these sessions new employees are given the opportunity to view a slide show about Duke and ask questions concerning policy rules. (Photo by Dale Moses)

