VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

The Department of Social Services in Durham has a request for anyone with a little time on his or her hands in the morning or afternoon.

A department spokesman said volunteers are needed to drive children with special physical and emotional disabilities to locations around the city where they can receive proper treatment.

Therapists and special day care centers are available for these children, but often times, transportation is insufficient. In most cases, only one hour a week and very little gasoline will be required.

If you have an automobile or access to one and a little time to share with a child who doesn't, please contact Bill High at 688-6351 or Anne Kremer at 489-6971.

PEDIATRIC CONFERENCE

The Triangle Association for Care of Children in the Hospital will hold a meeting on Thursday, April 25, in the Pediatric Out-patient Clinic at 7:30 p.m. to discuss "New Dimensions of Pediatric Out-patient Care."

Speakers at the meeting will be Dr. Lois Pounds, assistant professor of pediatrics and director of the Pediatric Out-patient Clinic; Joyce Pursell, social worker in Neonatology; Diane Browder, play therapist; and Dr. Martha Valiant of the Lincoln Community Health Center.

Specific methods in achieving total out-patient care through outreach, closer patient follow-up and extended population coverage, clinicians, personalized care, social services, play therapy and outreach well-baby clinics will be discussed.

Oehring Named New E. S. Director

Steve Caprio, who has been director of environmental services here for the Servicemaster Hospital Corp. for the past 16 months, has been promoted and is moving to Charlotte.

Caprio will become management representative for Servicemaster to hospitals in North and South Carolina.

He is being succeeded as director of environmental services by Dennis Oehring, who has been working with Caprio here since last August. He will take over May 1.

Oehring is a graduate of Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo. He has been with Servicemaster for three years, and prior to coming to Duke he worked with hospitals in Kalamazoo and Detroit.

Working with Oehring in housekeeping management functions for Servicemaster will be Carl Wilke, manager of the afternoon shift; Larry Lloyd, who is responsible for payroll, personnel and the Eye Center; Ross Johnson, manager of the 6 p.m.-2 a.m. shift; Dennis Stallings, manager for patient care areas except pediatrics; and Bud Barnes, manager for pediatrics and non-patient care areas on the day shift.

Med Students Learn About Award Donors

Five students in the School of Medicine who are Charles A. Strickland Scholars met with Gene F. Holloman, vice president of the Trust Department of Wachovia Bank, for a luncheon at the hospital, April 4, to learn the history of their awards.

The students, Robert M. Ball, William M. Posten, Susan Jenkins McLean, Robert A. Shaw and Robert L. Wesley, hold the only full-tuition, automatically renewable scholarships in the School of Medicine which are currently being awarded.

According to Mrs. Holloman, James F. Strickland, a former president of the American Tobacco Company, and his wife Stella left more than $1,000,000 in 1964 for medical scholarships at Duke and the Bowman Gray School of Medicine at Wake Forest University in Winston-Salem.

As members of the Baptist Church and supporters of Wallace Wade, Duke football coach during the 1930's and 1940's, the Stricklands felt that gifts to Bowman Gray and Duke for medical education would serve as a lasting and significant memorial to their son Charles who died of a heart ailment as a child.

Since that time, nine students have completed their undergraduate medical educations at Duke, and a similar number have received degrees from Bowman Gray.

Next year, another Strickland scholarship will be made available in the School of Medicine making a total of six awards.

CORRECTION

Figures supplied by the Hospital Business Office and published in the INTERCOM on April 5 concerning the number of operations which took place in the hospital's operating rooms during the last fiscal year were incorrect.

According to Mac Stribling, assistant director of the hospital, there was an increase in the number of operations from 14,015 to 14,415 separate procedures rather than a decline of 209 as was reported.
