

'DO I HEAR $225? $250?' — An original 'Doonsbury' cartoon by Gary Trudeau is shown by Patti Jarboe during the recent Phi Kappa Psi Celebrity auction on campus. When the bidding was over, the cartoon sold for $225, topped only by a basketball autographed by Duke's 1978 NCAA finalists. The basketball went for $250 and is shown with new owner, Laurie Giesen and her parents, Richard A. and Jennine Giesen. Meanwhile, auctioneer and Phi Kappa Psi vice-president Jeff Thompson calls for bids as Lisa Kirkman displays an autographed album by Perry Como, a strong supporter and friend of Duke's medical center. Proceeds of the auction support children's cancer research at Duke. The auction originated in 1975 after the death of a member of the fraternity who was stricken with leukemia. ## Haupt named division head in psychiatry dept.

Dr. Jeffrey Haupt, associate professor of psychiatry, has been appointed head of the Division of Psychosomatic Medicine.

The appointment was announced by Dr. H. Keith H. Brodie, professor and chairman of the Department of Psychiatry. Brodie said Haupt is succeeding Dr. Marianne S. Breslin, who has been appointed chief of the psychotherapy section in the same division.

Haupt joined the Duke faculty as an associate professor in 1975. He earned a B.S. degree in 1963 from Wheaton College and was awarded an M.D. degree by the Baylor College of Medicine in 1967.

Following a medical internship at Boston City Hospital, 1967-68, he completed a residency in psychiatry at the Yale University School of Medicine, 1968-71.

Haupt served as a staff medical officer for the Oak Knoll Naval Hospital in Oakland, Calif., 1971-73, and was an adjunct assistant professor in the Pacific Medical Center, San Francisco, from 1973-75.
