ACT Testing Begins Oct. 21 at SCC

Southeastern Community College has been selected to participate in the American College Testing Program. This testing program is a federation of state testing programs chartered as an independent nonprofit corporation in Iowa. ACT administers tests to assess academic potential and collect information about student educational plans, analyzes these data, and reports to the college-bound student, to his high school, and to the colleges of his choice. These services are made available at a time when they will be most useful--when the student is preparing to enroll in college.

The ACT examination is given five times a year--in October, December, February, May, and August. There are 2000 test centers in the United States and Canada. The tests are administered on Saturday mornings. Southeastern will give the ACT test on October 21, 1967; December 9, 1967; February 17, 1968; May 11, 1968; and August 3, 1968. College bound students are encouraged to register for the American College Testing Program.

Humanities Launch Unified Study

Another change in the humanities curriculum? Yes. Throughout S.C.C.'s short history there have been changes in the humanities offerings each year. We began by requiring each college transfer student to complete four two-hour humanities courses. These two-hour courses in art, literature, music, and philosophy proved to be inadequate. The second year these courses were lengthened to three hours and only required the student to complete three of the four courses. This year, three five hour courses will combine the subjects of art, literature, music, and philosophy.

Sophomores who have begun their humanities requirements under the previous program should not register for the new unified humanities sequence. They should enroll in either Art 201, English 201, Music 105, or Philosophy 201. This enables them to complete three courses in either art, music, literature, or philosophy. The new course is open only to sophomores who have completed freshman English and Western Civilization with a grade of C or better and have not been enrolled previously in Art 201, Music 105, or Philosophy 201. If a student has had one of these courses, he must continue in the sequence.

If the students have questions regarding their humanities requirements, they should seek the advice of their advisor.

Faculty members teaching the new humanities courses are: Mr. Erwin, literature; Mr. Hodgens, philosophy; Mrs. Proctor, art; and Mr. Zeller, music.

Adult Education Announces Plans For Coming Year

Southeastern Community College will offer for the first time this fall the Adult High School Diploma Program in cooperation with the Boards of Education of Columbus County and Whiteville City Schools.

Clifton A. McClelland, Dean of Adult Education at SCC, said that Southeastern is offering this opportunity for the grown-ups to return to school and to pick up where they left off in their education.

A student must be 21 years of age, or if between the ages of 18-21, he must secure a recommendation from his school superintendent.

"The program is non-graded and extensive use of programmed instruction will be used along with small group instruction," said Mr. McClelland.

Credit for work completed in an accredited high school may be allowed when a transcript is furnished. Upon completion of the program, a diploma will be awarded by the local board of education.

Adults interested in the High School Program should register with one of the following persons before September 20, 1967: Asbury Jackson, Supervisor Adult Extension Program, Acme-Delco High School; Pierce Dalton, Supervisor Adult Extension Program, West Columbus High School; or Charles K. Ramar, Southeastern Community College.

$350 Loans Available For Prospective Teachers

If you plan to teach and need money in order to complete your education, you should apply for a Prospective Teachers Scholarship Loan.

The North Carolina General Assembly recently appropriated funds for 150 additional scholarship loans for prospective teachers. Priority will be given to freshmen who plan to teach in the elementary grades, but upperclassmen majoring in other areas of teacher education should apply.

Applications will be accepted for the $350 scholarship loan until September 30. Anyone interested should contact Armand Optiz, Dean of Personnel Services at Southeastern.

SOPHS CAN APPLY NOW FOR FEDERAL JOBS

Attention sophomores! If you are seeking employment at the end of this college year you might be interested in applying for a job with the federal government as a junior federal assistant.

The U. S. Civil Service Commission has announced that it is continuing its job opportunities for two year college graduates. The first step is to apply for the Junior Federal Assistant Examination. This examination is being used to recruit men and women with high potential to provide support and technical assistance in such fields as economics, personnel administration, writing, automatic data processing, finance, accounting, law, library, statistics, supply, transportation, and other occupations outside of science and engineering. These jobs are located throughout the United States and salaries begin at $92 per week.

Candidates wishing to compete under this examination should ask for Announcement No. 411, which may be obtained from major Post Offices, Interagency Boards of Civil Service Examiners, or the U. S. Civil Service Commission in Washington D. C. The announcement contains complete details on how to file.

The Junior Federal Assistant examination will not be used to fill summer jobs or other positions for which there is only a temporary need.

15 New Additions To SCC Faculty

A number of new faces will be seen around Southeastern in the coming academic year. During the summer months, fifteen additions have been made to the administration and faculty.
