The Other Side For Men Only By Richard Hayes

If she looks good and smells nice, she's got you turned on and she knows it. Relax, you've nothing to worry about. Underneath that stuffed pocket of pencils beats a heart of solid desire. Desire for what? Lots of attractive dates? Better grades? To be whisked off to Hollywood for an exciting and brilliant career. No! She craves body and soul for the slim, elegant shape of something no gentleman should be without. She may have the wit of Cleopatra, the complexion of Twiggy, and the other things of Elizabeth Taylor, but she is an unfinished product until she is offered this-the greatest of status symbols, her highest triumph, her greatest ectasy. She knows and she's ready. Being a lady, she cannot ask; it must be offered. Keep her hanging on as long as you can. Then wind her up by drawing a long, smooth breath and blowing gently her way. By then her cool has completely disintegrated. Her fate is in your hands.

Certainly, you want to. And you know she's thinking about it, too. You can give her a little cool smoke or the regular warm smoke; whichever she so desires. But its up to you, gentlemen. Are you going to just stand there and stare at pencils, or are you going to offer her a Tiparillo?

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor, Congratulations on the fine job you and your staff did on the September issue of the Rams' Horn. I read every article and think that you have covered every aspect of the college very well. I know what a difficult job it is to put a paper together and am really pleased with the work you did.

Please extend my congratulations to the staff. I am looking forward to receiving the next

Smokers Beware!

How many times have you seen on a billboard or heard on the radio and TV that cigarettes are low in nicotine and will not irritate the throat? Yet on every pack of cigarettes bought there is a warning that smoking may be hazardous to your neartn.

Even with this fact known, advertisers still buy time on TV, radio, and other news media as a means of selling their brand of cigarettes. Well known personalities will smile and say, "I smoke this brand of cigarettes. Why don't you?"

Viewers, not heeding the warning, will flock to the stores and buy these cigarettes. They do not take time to stop and think about the fact that these cigarettes are harmful and may cause throat irritation. Also cigarettes add to the possibility of cancer and heart attacks.

Before we finish that last puff on a cigarette, let's ask our-selves this question: How much damage will this cigarette do to my system?

Why can't I stop smoking? All cigarette smokers must be the ones who answer this ques-

Elections - Popularity - Poll

Student Government elections will take place on October 30. The success of these elections depends on the students. Election of these officers is a great responsibility. Will this be a popularity poll or an election of responsible, dependable leaders? You, the voters

When a ballot is marked, it is sincerely hoped that the voter has thought over the candidates qualifications carefully. Remember these elected officers will run all student activities for the rest of this school year. They will decide how your money is spent and what social activities will or will not take place. These officers represent you in all decisions made! Elect those that you think will represent you best. After the ballots are counted it will be too late for grumbling that the wrong people were elected. The voter's responsibility is in marking the ballot with good sound judgment; the elected official's responsibility comes after the ballots are counted.

Voting is a privilege which our democratic society gives us. Men have died so that all people can exercise this right. The upcoming election is our chance to exercise this privilege. If you are considering not voting remember that in many places people do not have this right! A vote is also a voicing of opinion. When you vote, ask yourself if this candidate will best fulfill the wishes of the student body. Will the candidate represent and work for you or be the winner of a popularity poll? It is up to the voters! THINK BEFORE YOU MARK THAT BALLOT! YOU MAY REGRET IT LATER IF YOU

Praise At SCC? Never!

As usual the new school year started off with a bang-full of com-plaints! This newspaper is not against complaints but it would be nice to see some letters to the editor concerning praise. Last year in one letter it was stated that there was nothing to be proud of at Southeastern. Not one person came out against this opinion. If students would stop complaining long enough to take a good look around them, a number of things to praise could be found.

Evan Philip Comer, our new President, is indeed an exceptional man. He cares about the students! Observe him fellow students and this will soon be evident to you. And then there is the faculty. Our faculty is truly second to none as far as their relationship to the students is concerned. At what other college would you receive the personal attention, interest, and concern our faculty displays? Very few!! Even the staff projects a spirit of friendliness to the students. Rarely does a student need help and not receive it at Southeastern.

Recently the Student Government Association sponsored a coffee mixer. Old man complaint began to flow immediately. Did any of you think of the time and effort put forth by those who made and served the refreshments? NO! The people who went were too busy complaining! Not one word of praise did these ears hear from the students but complaints were showered on the wreary ears.

The Student Government Association will need a lot of help in the upcoming elections. Will they receive it? All indications are that they will receive little help but a lot of complaints. Is the Student Government Association working hard for nothing? Are they doomed to a series of complaints? Maybe! Only time will tell.

Many students have complained about the inconveniences that the workman cause. Did they stop to think about what a beautiful campus we'll have? OH, NO! that would be asking too much of them. That dirty word praise would have to be used. Complaints seem to be "in" at Southeastern. Maybe our English instructors should have everyone write a paper on the word praise. It seems that no one knows what it means. It has just occured to this mind that many of you will say this is an article of complaint. On the contrary, this is praise of your wonderful knowledge of the meaning of the word complaint. Southeastern could easily win the national award for "We Know What The Word Complaint Means Because We Do It All Of The Time." Would Southeastern like to enter the race for this reward? It is certain that plenty of support would be given in this endeavor.

PRAISE! PRAISE! the word cries out in agony. Doesn't anyone know what I mean cries the word praise from the hollow pages of the old unused dictionary.
