

A Day In The Life

Of Miss Southeastern

Miss SCC

"I wanted to be Miss Southeastern because I am proud to belong to a school where the professional personnel are available to discuss with prospective students the plans that are utmost in their minds." This is the reply of the new Miss Southeastern when asked her reasons for desiring to represent her school.

Diana Rodgers, pretty blue-eyed nursing student was chosen to represent Southeastern because of her charming personality and her good looks according to the three judges for the pageant.

During her high school days Diana received such titles as "Miss Fairmont High" in her senior year, she was a homecoming attendant for two years and a participant in the "Miss Civitan Contest".

"I am very honored to have won the title of Miss Southeastern" Diana relates, and "I love to ride in parades."

"Some of the hobbies I would enjoy if my time from studies would permit would be horseback riding, swimming, sewing and entertaining small children."
