

Library Center Of Southeastern

The Library is the heart of the educational program of Southeastern Community College. Every educational advance for students and faculty depends upon its resources. Since the beginning in August, 1965 the Library has grown to over 30,000 well selected volumes making it the largest Library in the North Carolina Community College system. Opportunity for students to enrich their classroom experiences may be found in the many fine books, the newspapers, the excellent music of all types and spoken word recordings, the thousands of reels of microfilm of newspapers and historical records of the community area.

The SOUTHEASTERN COMMUNITY COLLEGE LIBRARY - The beginning for all students and faculty is the circulation-reference desk, the Reference collection, the card catalog, and the periodical indexes. The mastering of these tools should make Library usage easy. Questions should be asked here at all times.

Circulation statistics show that as the Library has increased its collections students and faculty circulation year students now circulate more than an average of over 15 circulations per student this past academic year . . . nearly approaching the national average for community college students but not nearly approaching the fifty plus circulations for a good four year college.

For the proper exploitation of YOUR intellectual resources, the Library must be a permanent habit of quiet study, contemplation, and probing for new solutions to problems society now faces.

CARD CATALOG - An index to the books, phonograph records, tapes, and films is a good definition of the public catalog, more often called the card catalog of any library. Mrs. Jeanette Baxter, Reference Librarian, and Joyce Griffin, Library assistant, are comparing notes on some of the phonograph records available for students to check out at any time.

MICROFILM COLLECTIONS - SCC's Library has made special effort to provide students and faculty with microfilms of Columbus County and Counties within our service area records. Much of the New York Times newspaper and North Carolina newspapers printed before 1900 are available for student and faculty use. In addition to being able to read the films on the reader, it is possible to have printed copies of each page of microfilm as Patricia Chavis is demonstrating.

COMFORTABLE SURROUNDINGS - Conley Starling has found the carpeted floor a luxurious place in which to enjoy a good book. Other students may find the soft chairs and individual carrels a better place to do quiet, individual studying.
