Crisis line

Waverly, Ia.-(I.P.)—The Wartburg College Student Senate and the Waverly community are cooperating on a project which may prove to be a boon to students in distress.

It is Crisis Line, similar to those set up at a number of other colleges and universities. It is designed to get the desperate student talking before he or she takes a rash step which might be regretted later.

The chairman of the project, junior Karen McEvelly says she conceived the idea after receiving three such calls one weekend earlier in the Fall Term. "They were calls of a serious nature," she explained. "One was a threatened suicide. Another was a possible pregnancy."

Student Body President Gerald Piphio suggested that she present her idea before the Student Senate, and that night, she was made chairman of the Crisis Line committee. Student Senate agreed to fund the project.

"First we studied the different possibilities of telephone set-ups," Miss McEvelly said.

"We talked to a telephone company woman who has assisted the University of Northern Iowa with their Crisis Line. She helped us install a bridge switch system.

"It's like an answering service. When no one is at the main telephone, the switch is thrown so that the call rings at another phone."

The telephones are in two student dormitory rooms on campus. Three people sit by the phones. When they receive a call, they either handle it or send another person out to get someone to go to the person telephoning.

"We try to keep the person who calls on the phone until someone arrives," Miss McEvelly explained.

A dog's life?

There are about a dozen staff members chosen "for their adaptability, their ability to handle crises and their acquaintance with a number of problems," she continued. "They are very flexible, easy-to-talk-to people."

In addition, a psychiatrist from the Mental Health Clinic is available through the Bremer County Social Services, and several lawyers have agreed to lend legal aid upon request.

"We are working on an alliance with Allen Memorial Hospital in Waterloo," Miss McEvelly said. "We'd like to arrange a system, only for emergencies, where on our word they will take a patient."

"We will have to take this before the hospital's board of directors," she added, explaining that present hospital policy involves immediate parental notification for persons under 21 years of age. "Other hospitals have done it," she said, "so we think they might agree."

Graduation

All students who expect to meet graduation requirements (either at the end of Winter Quarter, Spring Quarter, or Summer Session) should file an Application for Graduation. Forms may be picked up at the S.P.S. Information Window. The graduation fee of $10.00 should be paid to the Business Office. Students then see Mrs. Bullard in the Bookstore for measurements. The diploma list will be ordered from applications which have been received by February 12, 1971.

"From such an examination, we think, will come a clearer understanding of the problems that have occasioned and surrounded campus protest, and, we hope, also the beginnings of recognition or development of widespread agreement, where such agreement already exists unperceived or is developable, concerning solutions to the problems."
