Racism?

Does S.C.C. have a racial problem? That's a question not many students or teachers here at S.C.C. think about. I imagine the reason or reason(s) we seldom think of Racism here is because it simply just doesn't exist, and if it does it's hidden very well.

Since I've been a student at S.C.C. there have been no violent acts of racism to the best of my knowledge. Students here are mainly concerned with getting an education. Everyone is just too busy achieving an education, so a childish thing such as racism doesn't have time to be placed in the minds and hearts of S.C.C. students.

So my words to the students: Keep up the good work, and let nothing interefere with your desires for an education

To Eat or Not To Eat

Fellow students of S.C.C. If you come to college with the idea of eating on the college campus, you are out of luck. The people who work in the lounge have been told not to change big bills. So if you come with only a five dollar bill, you will find it hard to eat. This reporter cannot understand this. Not that the workers are to blame; they are only doing their job. The canteen is here to serve us not us to serve them.

By not giving change it will only cut down on the already small number of students that eat on the grounds. The Canteen may cost us less up front, but in the long run the students are paying far to much in inconvenience and time to make it justified. This reporter does not wish to sound irrational, but everyone doesn't come to college with a billfold full of one's and a pocket full of change.

Model UN Goes To Philadelphia

By: Ramona Hendon

On November 4th through the 7th, a delegation from Southeastern Community College attended the Annual Model United Nations Conference at the University of Pennsylvania. The committee consisted of Mr. Alan Brownlee, Gail Stevens, Carolyn Davis, Michelle Conert, Kim Lanier, Kathy Mercer, and Walter Clark, and was the only community college represented among 40-50 delegations, which included such prestigous schools as Princeton, the University of Penn-Duquesne sylvania, University, Georgetown University, and Smith College.

The SCC delegation represented Belgium on 3 c o m mittees: the Economic and Social Council; the Political and Security Council; and the Legal Council. Within each committee certain topics were debated depending upon the area in question. Within the Economic and Social Council the primary subject was the Transnational Corporation;

SCC however the delegation presented a resolution concerning the Energy Crisis, which was defeated by a mere one vote. The Political and Security Council's attention focused mainly upon the Palestinian Issue, while the Legal Council concentrated upon Human Rights and Armed Conflicts, and Terrorism. Our representatives put forth resolutions to each of the latter two committees; the resolutions were passed on to the plenary body, but were never brought to a vote.

A definite indication of the success of the trip was the warm invitations for future participation in various functions. East Carolina University urged the SCC delegation to take part in their Model Security Council in March of this year, and, of course, plans are definitely being made to attend the Model UN which will be held in Philadelphia again next year. I'm sure I speak for the entire student body, faculty and staff of SCC, as well as myself, in extending my warm thanks and congratulations to Mr. Brownlee and the participating students for working such long and difficult hours in order to achieve their success, and to wish them the very best of luck in all future endeavors.

Mr. Brownlee would also like to express his appreciation to the SGA for their support, and also to the students, faculty and staff for their cooperation during the recent bake sales.

Cookout

Hotdogs, hotdogs, and more hotdogs! On December ninth the S.G.A. gave another hotdog roast. Due to the unpredictable weather of December, a very cold and damp day was in order. Nevertheless, the students of S.C.C. came out in large numbers. Out of six hundred hotdogs, only nine were left.

Most of the eating was done on the inside, but this did not cut down on the fun. Leroy Gause, one of the members of the S.G.A., provided the students with a Disco. As Bob Priest and Fannie Moore slaved over the hotdogs, Jeannie Yarboro worked with the very cold drinks.

There has been a hotdog roast at the start of each new quarter. After this quarter I am sure there will be another one. The weather is sure to be better during the next cookout. So make plans to come out. Everything is free, all you need to do is, come and have FUN.

The construction of the Bernard Brown Confidence Course was innitiated by the outsdoorsman and is located behind the tennis courts on campus. It was designed to be a series of maneuvers such as scaling a 12½ foot wall, a crawl through a collapsible birth canal, and a 250 foot zip wire slide.

Mr. Brown leaves SCC with well wishes and fond memories, saying that he was enlightened and inspired by Columbus County's social and educational conditions.
