"SEVEN AGES" UP TO DATE.

Pessimistic Views by an Editor Out in Nevada.

Man is born into the world. He is at once attacked by nettle rash, croup, measles and the whooping cough. He has the colic before his first teeth are out and when he is swindled we say he is getting his eye teeth cut.

If he escapes the scarlet fever and the mumps, he finds directly in his way scarlet rash and the seven-year itch.

If he is not carried off in a hearse before he is too large for short pants he still stands a show of cutting off one of his toes, being kicked by a mule, of getting shot with a target rifle in the hands of a boy that "did not know it was loaded."

He gets his feet wet, runs at the nose, and is scolded by his parents for going in swimming on Sunday. He goes to the circus, rides on the merry-go-round and hits the dignified gentleman in the back of the head with a snowball before he is well in his teens.

He reaches the stage where he gathers watermelons in the light of the moon, eats green apples and lays out nights. The fuzz begins to grow on his upper lip and he blushes when he sees a girl, until his hair scorches. He next develops into a "smart Alec," and his parents are undecided whether to shoot him for smoking cigarettes or turn him over to an asylum manager as a confirmed lunatic. Man is subject to typhoid fever, pneumonia, spinal meningitis, small-pox and his own intemperance. He is beset by disease, indebtedness and breach of promise suits until it is a wonder that any of us are able to score three score and ten. If he escapes a famine, pestilence and war, he does his best to shorten his days by keeping his boiler overloaded with inferior booze. He is subject to sick-headache, lumbago and inflammatory rheumatism until he cries aloud that his last stage is worse than his first. He wears false teeth and goes to jail for getting money under false pretenses.

Yet, when he has finally run the gauntlet and passes off the stage of action, the heavy Ananias for the country paper says: "It is well."

ANSWERED PRAYER.

An evangelist tells that when he was a boy he often read the Bible to his aged great-grandmother. She was a godly woman and taught him to love and trust the Lord. His parents were very poor, and one morning there was not anything for breakfast. His mother with a sad heart dressed the children and sent them down to play by the seashore till help came. He watched the seabirds as they wheeled around him, and he remembered Christ's words, "Your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?" He thought if God provided for the birds He could easily feed him. He knelt and prayed that the Lord would send food. After wandering along the shore he began to build sand houses with the other children. On lifting a handful of sand he saw something bright and found it was a half-a-crown. With great delight he hastened home with it to his mother, and soon they had a good breakfast. This answer to prayer in boyhood has had its effect on him throughout a long and active life. He has been engaged in evangelistic work for many years, and has been used in bringing numbers to Christ and in establishing believers in their faith.—From Our Faithful God.
