

THE ELON COLLEGE WEEKLY

Vol. II New Series.

Greensboro, N. C., Friday, November 1, 1912
and Elon College, N. C.

No 24

LOCAL AND PERSONALS.

Miss Ethel Clements visited Miss Lois Davidson at Greensboro Tuesday night.

Miss Madge Moffitt was the guest of Miss Elizabeth Wheeler at Whitsett last Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Sudie McCauley of Chapel Hill spent Saturday and Sunday with Miss Annie Bagwell, at West Dormitory.

Miss Ruth Hall spent the week end with her parents in Burlington.

Miss Sallie Foster entertained Miss Pearl Tuck, at the home of her parents in Burlington, Saturday and Sunday.

Misses Nellie Fleming, Virgie Beale and Pearl Tuck were shoppers in Burlington Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Alva Weedon of Blowing Rock stopped with her sister, Miss Elise, Monday morning between trains en route to Goldsboro, where she will teach in the graded school.

Prof. Brannock has not been able to meet his classes for several days, because of sickness in his family.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Wilson, of Mebane, visited their daughter, Miss Bertha, and their son, Mr. L. L. Wilson, at the College last Sunday.

Miss Pearl Fogleman spent last Sunday with her parents in Burlington.

Dr. Harper is attending the Eastern Virginia Christian Conference which is in session at Damascus church, near Sunbury, N. C.

Mr. J. A. Tucker is spending a while with his parents at Denton, N. C., where he is receiving treatment for the eyes.

The many friends of Mr. J. B. Smith whom it was our pleasure to have visit us recently will be shocked to learn that on Saturday evening 26th fire destroyed his house and practically all the contents. A small insurance was carried but the loss over and above this will be very considerable. The origin of the blaze is as yet unknown.

Mr. F. A. Glauss, of Bodham, S. C. was a pleasant caller in the village recently. Mr. Glauss has his daughter in college here.

Miss Josephine Snead, of Hamer, S. C., was called home recently on account of sickness in her family.

News was received early Thursday morning by Mr. Fredrick W. Ford that his sister Miss Elsie died suddenly in Charlottesville, Va. Mr. Ford left immediately for that town.

Miss Ida Mae Sessions, of Lumberton, N. C., has returned to her home to accept a lucrative position in her home town. She writes all goes well and that she is a live representation of Elon in that community.

Miss Eva Cole and Bro. Mr. Henderson, are spending the week end with relatives in Graham.

Prof. Doak attended the meeting which inaugurated the Basket Ball League of this State. This meeting was held in the Yarboro House at Raleigh, N. C.

The student body endorses without qualification the formation of the Basket Ball League, including the University, Wake Forest, Guilford, the A. and M., Trinity, and Elon, and the eligibility rules adopted for the league. The new gymnasium will, it is hoped, be ready when the season opens. Coach R. S. Doak represented Elon in the meeting of College men in Raleigh that brought the league into being.

Rev. Jas. L. Foster has purchased the Jesse Winbourne home here and will on the land accompanying it erect two modern residences, equipping them with all conveniences, and offer them for rent to prospective citizens. In spite of the erection of five additional residences here within the past few months and of three others in courses of construction, there is demand for these two buildings and of many others. Truly is our town on the boom. The Graded School Building, the Publishing House, the Gymnasium and new Men's Dormitory are bringing here a large influx of population.

President Harper returned from Wadley, Ala., on Saturday morning, where he addressed the Alabama Conference on Education, Missions, and Sunday school teaching. He left Monday for the Eastern Virginia Conference at Sunbury, this State, accompanied by Dr. J. O. Atkinson. Both of them are scheduled to address that body.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR LEADERS FOR NOVEMBER.

First Sunday—H. E. Smith.
Second Sunday—C. W. Rountree.
Third Sunday—Prof. T. C. Amick.
Fourth Sunday—Misses Frazier and Teague.
November 1, 1912.

"ANITA'S TRIAL"

HALLOWEEN IN THE COLLEGE CHAPEL
People of the village, the student body and many visitors were highly entertained on the evening of Halloween with Anita's Trial, a play given by the Art class. The entrance doors to the auditorium were guarded by witches and ghosts. These were Misses Nellie Lue Fleming, Pearl Tuck, Elizabeth Neville and Pearl Michael. While the crowd assembled and between the acts the college orchestra, assisted by Capt. Speicher and Mr. W. N. Huff, furnished excellent music.

Each member of the caste was suited to her part and all the impersonations were good. "Our athletes" were represented by Thompsie Holland and Bettie Ellis, Ruth Johnson, a victim of the camera was ever ready to take some one's picture. Naomi Joyner as Kate Fortescue, a young bride thought and talked of no one but "Harry." Annie Bagwell as Ethel Manning was ever ready for anything. Closer Wills whom everybody loved was well represented by Larlie May Taylor. Helen Lawrence as Aunt Matilda was kind enough to be every body's aunt. Mrs. Deacon Pippin, a comical country woman, was amusingly portrayed by Lillian Johnson. Her daughters Lurella Ann and Dorothy were Annie Laurie Wicker and Esther Fuller. These were bright country lasses. While Anita, a sweet little Italian waif was beautifully represented in the person of Thelma Clymer.

The best impersonations were those of Thelma Clymer and Annie Laurie Wicker.

The play which as a whole was a brilliant success and full of excitement and bright sayings was but one more evidence of the efficiency of the Expression department, as many of the caste are private students in this department and all were under the direction of Miss Ethel Clements, who is in charge of same. She was ably assisted both in selecting the characters and in staging the play by Miss Eula Long, directress of the Art Department.

We hope soon to hear from these good ladies again.

ORGANIZATIONS.

Life at Elon College this session is of the real live kind, due primarily to the thorough organization of the student body in all its various phases. In fact, College life cannot be carried on without such. These organizations control the different activities that make College life the charming thing that it is. Literary Societies, Athletics, Religious Organizations, Student Self-Government, all moved by the chosen leaders of their fellow-students, mold the life of the College and determine its spirit. Elon does not permit the fraternities and sororities so hurtful to true democracy and the simple life in many of the older institutions to the north of us, but all the helpful organizations are here. They, with their officers for 1912-1913, are here given.

Clerk—Perhaps, madam, you would like to look at some goods a little more expensive.

Customer—No, not more expensive but of better quality.

"Yes," mused the thoughtful thinker. "it's a sure sign."

"What's a sure sign?" was asked.

"That when a young man begins to know that he doesn't know as much as he thinks he knows, then he begins to know something."

Sweet Girl—Is your love for me absolutely unselfish?

Adorer—Absolutely.

Sweet Girl—Then I wish you'd go somewhere else tonight. Jack Hansom promised to call.
