THE CHRISTIAN COLLEGE

Past and present events all point to the fact that the Christian college is America's greatest hope for obtaining Christian leaders and workers.

More than eighty per cent of the Christian leaders today, in all departments of Christian work, are men and women who have had training in a Christian college. Moreover it has been shown that the remaining twenty per cent, however earnest they may be, are unable to do as efficient work as those who have had college training.

The success which several of the different Christian denominations have had in making drives for their colleges indicates that the Christian people are awakening to the importance and necessity of Christian colleges.

Past events have conclusively proved that the state colleges and universities, can be depended upon to furnish practically none of the Christian leaders and the time has now come when college trained Christian leaders are in demand in much greater numbers than the Christian colleges can furnish. Therefore, every Christian man or woman should feel it a privilege and Christian duty to study this Church problem and to help the Christian colleges in whatever way they can, whether by prayer, giving or earnest sentiment-making, that the gospel of Christ may be spread throughout the world and Christianity be made known to all.
