two flashy end runs for 12 yards each which carried the ball across the line, go the glory of the individuals who are directly responsible for the victory. Captain Johnson was a considerable factor in ground gaining thru the line, and Allston, Cameron, and Fessmire, are to be complimented on their excellent defensive work, as is also the whole Elon team in their ability to open up the line and sweep the field by their interference, making it possible for the man carrying the ball to make good gains.

Newlin was the only shining light for the visitors, being the most consistent ground gainer.

O. C. Johnson and Ben L. Purcell, playing the roles of the girls Edith and Ethel, were very successful with their difficult parts. Few who saw the play will ever forget the cleverness of Curly as presented by W. M. Garrison.

Those taking part in the play were: Charlie Morse, engaged to Edith, L. J. Bray. Curly Benton, in love with Ethel, W. M. Garrison. Wilson, the butler, C. R. Reid. Mr. William A. Morse, J. T. Harrod. Chief of police, G. D. Underwood. Policeman, W. L. Woody, C. L. Walker. Hammersmith, the theatre manager, J. L. Cameron. Nifty, a crook, John Brooks. Berkham, a blackmailer, W. E. Marlette. Ethel, O. C. Johnson. Edith, Ben Purcell. Mrs. Morse, S. R. Murray. Imogene, the French maid, Dan Wicker.

Lee Williams with Miss Kate Strader as accompanist.

A stormy debate came next. The Query was "Resolved that capital punishment should be abolished." Phillips and Lucy Austin. Ora Pace defined the negative. Miss Austin as first speaker gave a strong argument in the contention against capital punishment. Points were proved by her, first, that capital punishment is immoral in its nature and second, it is contrary to the will of God as far as human conception goes. The day is gone when humans should demand an eye for eye and a tooth for a tooth.

Miss Pase very well discussed the idea that the abolition of capital punishment would increase the mob spirit.

Miss Phillips, argument was also good; she contended that capital punishment was a too cruel form of law.

Last came an original dialogue by Miss Berta Crutchfield and Louise Homewood. They projected themselves into the future and were bringing about great changes. Concrete walks were at last at Elon, a Y. W. hut had been built. Dr. Amick had moved away and Lora Foust was math teacher. Elby Johnson had become president of the institution and Irene Goff dean of women. Worth been generous, and organized labor has been no less quick to grasp the opportunity to aid a cause that is one of the prime factors in our national life in aiding strength and force to the masses.

In fact, practically every labor leader in the South has not only enrolled himself as a Red Cross member, but has given his enthusiastic endorsement of the Red Cross program.

The doctrine of Red Cross service has been preached from hundreds of evangelical pulpits in the South and at the same time it has been made the subject of endorsement from prelate and priest, in church and in synagogue.

In fact, the co-operation has been as widespread as the cause to which it is given. As a result Division Headquarters officials predict that despite the uncertainties of the times, the South will smash all its records for response to the annual appeal of this great national organization.

here they made three in succession. The aerial attacks of both teams failed to work with much precision. Elon completed two out of 10 passes and made a total of 40 yards while Davidson completed six out of 15 passes for a total gain of 103 yards.

As usual Elon rallied in the eleventh-hour, but the game was too near gone then to hope for results.

The line-up and summary:

real friendship by showing the spirit of Love and service to our fellowman, and we dedicate our lives to save the world by laying ourselves before Christ and allowing Him to show us the way."

Saturday afternoon was devoted to the reports from different societies. Mr. C. M. Cannon was re-elected treasurer of the District Union.

The delegates from Elon were highly entertained while in Reidsville, and were delighted to meet again Mr. W. D. Lambeth an old friend and alumnus of Elon, who is now teaching in Reidsville.

Wicker had succeeded Dr. Wicker in Psychology. Great life!

It can be said that this was one of the best programs of the year. Interest has revived and everyone seems to be making a fresh start. Judges reported three best on program. Misses Corbitt, Crutchfield and Homewood and Williams.
