SPEAKERS FOR DEBATE WITH GUILFORD CHOSEN

Messrs. H. L. Scott, R. S. Helms, R. O. Smith and W. T. Scott Selected

The preliminaries held for the purpose of choosing debaters to represent Elon in the inter-collegiate debate between Elon and Guilford resulted in the choosing of Messrs. H. L. Scott and R. S. Helms for the affirmative, and W. T. Scott and R. O. Smith for the negative. Others competing for this honor were M. L. Patrick, J. N. Denton, William Clem, E. S. Johnston, E. C. White, L. J. Perry, and Miss Alice Barrett.

The query for the debate is: Resolved—That the treaty-making power of the United States should be vested in the executive department; constitutionality waived. The date of the contest is yet uncertain, but it will be held either in the latter part of February or latter part of March. Guilford wishes the event to take place in February, while Elon wishes to extend the time until March.

The men chosen are all debaters and orators of real ability. Mr. Smith has represented his class in inter-class debate, which was won by the side he upheld; and also has won an orator's medal offered by his literary society. H. L. Scott has also represented his class in inter-class debate in which his side won, and he, too, won an orator's medal offered by his literary society. Mr. Helms represented his class in inter-class debate and has competed for the orator's medal offered by his literary society. On every occasion that he has appeared before the public he has acquitted himself splendidly. This will be W. T. Scott's first appearance in public, but this is because he is not an old member of the college. He has shown real ability in his debating work in his literary society.

So keen was the competition in the first preliminary that it was necessary to hold a second one to choose the

MUSIC LOVERS' CLUB IN MONTHLY MEETING

The Music Lovers' Club met Thursday evening in the reception hall of West Dormitory with Misses Anna Mary Landis, Eula Mae Massey, and Mr. B. W. Everett, in their regular monthly session.

A delightful program was enjoyed by those attending, and the program, as usual, was held up to the fine standard of excellency set for the programs rendered by this club.

The program as rendered was as follows:

Story of Lucia di Lammermoor, Donizetti—Mrs Janet. Kirkland.

Records.

Story of I. Paglicci, Leoncavalls—F. B. Corboy.

The Story of La Boheme, Puccini—Dr. W. A. Harper.

They Call Me Mimi, from La Boheme—Miss Florence Fisher.

After the program a delightful refreshment course was served by the hosts, which consisted of olivenaise and banana sandwiches, lettuce and Saratoga flakes, with fruit punch.

Mrs. Margaret Brown, a woman of 70, has been awarded a gold brooch and a letter of thanks by the British National Lifeboat Institution. For nearly 50 years Mrs. Brown has been in active service at a life-saving station on the Northernumberland coast, and in spite of her age she still lends a ready and helpful hand at every launch of the lifeboat.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS CO-OPERATE IN REVIVAL

Prayer Groups Held—Large Congregations Secured—Much Interest Manifested

The Religious Activities Organization has thrown itself into the meeting, and has been co-operating with the forces at work here in the evangelistic campaign. The various departments of the Religious Activities Organization have been holding prayer meetings just preceding the evening services.

Never before have the religious organizations of the college been so active in the support of the meeting, and it is believed that a great part of the interest and co-operation arises from the fact that the various organizations have pooled their strength and are working on the same plan, avoiding duplication of effort.

The prayer groups serve to fit the thoughts of the students for the evening services, and eliminate a great portion of the opening exercises and thus shorten the service, saving time for the busy student body. The congregation was good at the first service of the meeting, and has been constantly growing. The simple, unpretentious messages of Dr. Lankford are not failing to arouse a responsive feeling of interest on the part of his hearers.

WINSTON Y. M. C. A. DEFEATS MAROON AND GOLD TEAM

A Tight Game Throughout—Winston Features With Long Shots—Score 35 to 27

Last Saturday night, at Winston, the Maroon and Gold quint met with defeat at the hands of the Winston-Salem Y. M. C. A. team by a score of 35 to 27. Elon started the game like a winner, and the game was nip and tuck throughout the half, ending with the score standing 17 to 18 in favor of Winston. In the second half the collegians were unable to play a consistent game because of the close guarding of the "Y" team. The fray developed into a contest of the gridiron variety. The game failed to produce any individual stars, and was featured only by the long shots of the Y. M. C. A. team, which were very numerous.

Line-up:
Elon: Winston:
Fix ..... Ferrell
Forward
Brown ..... Jones
Forward
Walker ..... Allen
Center
McAdams ..... Hathaway
Guard
Perry, L. J. .... Martin
Guard
Substitutes: Winston—Clay for Allen. Referee: Ronnfelt (Davidson).

ALLSTON JOINS PHIS

At the first meeting night after the holidays Frank Allston, of Pittsburgh, Pa., was initiated into the Philologist Literary Society.

Mr. Allston is center on the varsity football team, and is an all-around athlete and a popular man on the campus. Indications are that Mr. Allston will achieve as much success in literary circles as he has in the athletic life of the College.

STUDENTS OF AMERICA PLAY IMPORTANT ROLE

Begin To Take Their Place In Public Affairs—Indorse Disarmament

On November 13 and 14, 1921, representatives of 181 colleges from all parts of the United States in conference assembled at Chicago, Illinois, authorized the organization of "The National Student Committee for the Limitation of Armaments." The purpose of the organization is to stimulate among college students an interest in the issues confronting the Washington conference, and to mobilize and make articulate student sentiment relative thereto.

Being invited to participate in this movement along with the other progressive colleges of America, Elon accepted the invitation on January 10, when the student body, in a mass meeting held for that purpose, voted unanimously to line themselves up with the national organization, and elected L. M. Cannon to serve as Elon representative on the national student committee.

A nation-wide movement for the wider participation of the colleges in public affairs opened today with mass meetings under the auspices of the organization in Boston. Tomorrow two thousand delegates from the colleges and universities of Greater New York will assemble in the Great Hall of the College of the City of New York to pass resolutions concerning the entrance of the United States into the coming Genoa conference. Other meetings are to follow at later intervals throughout the country, when the opinions of every college on international questions will be secured, and finally, the tabulated results will be presented to President Harding by a delegation of students representing the various sections of the country.

The New York meeting will be opened by representatives of foreign governments with statements of their country's part in the coming Genoa conference. Speakers include M. Casenave,

MISS MARY MILLER IS "SHOWED" BY FRIENDS

Young Ladies Entertain In Honor Of Miss Miller Whose Engagement Is Announced

One of the most delightful social events of the season occurred Friday evening at the West Dormitory when Misses Grace West, Maude Kendrick and Effie Bowden were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous shower given in honor of Miss Mary Margaret Miller, of Luray, Virginia, whose engagement to Howard S. Harcastle, of Dover, Del., has been announced since the holidays.

The Student Government Hall was tastefully decorated with greens and potted plants, and a rainbow color scheme was carried out, the guests wearing costumes of rainbow colors. The place cards were made in the shape of tiny engagement rings and when the guest of honor lifted hers it revealed a card leading to a dainty basket filled with lovely gifts from the guests, which were presented by Miss Bowden.

Toasts were given to the bride by Misses Pattie Coghill and Eunice Rich. Then followed a delicious course of refreshments, consisting of olive sandwiches, hot chocolate, fruit salad and saltines, and fruit cake. After the bride's cake, in the center of which was a tiny kewpie dressed as a bride, had

BIRTHDAY PARTY GIVEN E. C. WHITE BY GEORGES

"Knott Inn" Scene of "Touching" Celebration—Mahogany Scheme Complete

A very enthusiastic and unique birthday party was given at the Knott Inn on the evening of January 17, 1922, when the ancient and mysterious order of "Georges" entertained in honor of one of their number who was so unfortunate as to have his birthday discovered, printed in bold type on the walls of the Inn and made public property.

Several days previous to the date of the occasion, formal invitations written in mysterious figures on postal cards were mailed to the members, and on Tuesday evening at the appointed time all the "gang" with the exception of one had assembled. The guest of honor of the occasion proved to be the absent member. An investigating committee was appointed and soon after the prodigal was dragged forth from behind a barricade of trunks, tables and chairs.

The "torture" scheme was carried out to perfection in the decorations. A hard-wood paddle, a mahogany chair and the unfortunate victim were artistically combined in such a manner as to give a very undesirable effect.

The entertainers for the evening

SUBJECTS FOR SENIOR ORATIONS ANNOUNCED

Almost Every Field Entered—Much Interest In Forensic Contest Predicted

The titles of the Senior orations and essays have just been made known. They are rich in promise and come from almost every field of thought. Those who expect to attend the contest for the Commencement speakers have something to look forward to.

The subjects are more varied than those of last year, and as a whole the subjects are far more concrete.

The address on college oratory by R. S. Rainey last year has had its effect on the class of '22 in their selection of topics for orations. A glance at the list makes one wonder what can be said on some subjects found there, but time will reveal that.

Almost every field of thought and endeavor has been entered, from chemistry to college loyalty and all kinds of modern political thought, women and religious education, and a careful study of the titles convinces one that Marden's Success Library will not be in such vast demand.

The office has thought it wise not to release the names in connection with the various titles, and it will be necessary to wait to find out who is who. The list of titles follows:

- Athletics for Mind and Body.
- The Conqueror.
- Butterflies at Sea.
- American Womanhood.
- Acorns and Oaks.
- The Inventive Genius of the Anglo-Saxon.
- The New Standard of American Citizenship.
- Seek Not.
- No Man Can Live to Himself Alone.
- Enforcement of the Volstead Act.
- The Rising Menace.
- Thou Shalt Not Kill.
- Industrial Strife.
- Our Country.
- After-Glow.
- The Unknown Soldier.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES HELD BY DR. LANKFORD

Delivers Three Stirring Sermons To Students—Series Not Yet Completed

Dr. G. O. Lankford began a series of evangelistic services here last Monday night. Dr. Lankford was graduated from Elon with the Class of 1907. For fourteen years he has been an active pastor in the Christian Church, and is now serving as pastor of the First Christian church of Burlington, N. C.

In introducing Dr. Lankford, Dr. N. G. Newman, the college pastor, said: "Dr. Lankford does not come to us as a noted evangelist, but as a pastor under whose labors the churches wherever he has served have been built up."

Replying to Dr. Newman's introduction, the Burlington pastor said: "I am glad that Dr. Newman said that I do not come to you as an evangelist, but as a pastor. For fourteen years I have gone out and in and out before people, not students, and in that time I have gotten away from books, somewhat. I shall not talk to you of science and philosophy, but I shall try to bring you a simple message from The Book."

In the three sermons which Dr. Lankford has delivered, and in his daily chapel talks, he has done this. His messages have been simple and pointed, taken directly from the Bible. There have been no flights of oratory, no unusual or startling thought, but throughout his sermons have been fraught with feeling and have created a response in his hearers.

Monday Night

On Monday night Dr. Lankford's sermon dealt with the question of God to Cain, "Where is thy brother?" His text was Gen. 4:22. "We must give our brother a chance," he declared. "We must lay down our lives for him if we really love him." In concluding his sermon he told how Lincoln once held the hand of a dying soldier, as he

STUDENT VOLUNTEERS OF LENOIR CONDUCT SERVICE

(By Collegiate Press Association)
Lenoir College, Jan. 9.—A very interesting and impressive program was rendered in the chapel here this morning by the Student Volunteer Band. First a hymn was sung, "From Greenland's Icy Mountains," then the devotional exercises by Gladys Morgan, after which Zelda Carpenter, in an interesting manner gave the history of the Student Volunteer Band. Next the reasons for being a Volunteer were given by Faith Kohn. Then K. Hirai gave a very interesting and forceful talk on the importance of the mission work and what it means to the Christians living in heathen lands. The declaration card was then read by Wilkie Patterson. After a few thoughtful and helpful remarks by the College President, chapel was dismissed.
