

HOT DISCUSSION - BY CLIOS ON FRATERNITY SUBJECT

More Time Given Speakers as Discussion Waxes Warm—Affirmative Wins

The Supervising Committee for Clio literary program deserves special commendation for the program arranged and presented in the Clio Hall last Monday evening. Much of the monotony and lack of pep frequently noted in literary programs seems to be due principally to the lack of variety in the numbers and the choice of subjects which will fit the talent of the speakers who are to present the subjects. The committee who arranged the program for last evening seem to have eliminated these objectionable features to some extent, for the numbers showed variety and each speaker seemed to be well fitted to speak on the subject assigned to him. However, this apparent special fitness may also be attributed to the special effort in preparation on the part of the speakers.

M. Z. Rhodes gave the first number on the program, a character sketch of Henry Ford. Mr. Rhodes traced the life history of the World famous "flivver" king from early childhood to the present time, and pointed out many causes for the success of this noted man. In concluding, Mr. Rhodes gave Mr. Ford's formula for success, the choosing of a big task and sticking to it.

An original short story entitled "The Wrong Bridegroom" by Herald Rawles proved to be well written and interesting and showed that the author held the key to successful short story writing.

H. C. Hainer, in presenting "The Ladies," by Kipling, showed his usual excellent dramatic ability in reading, and for a young male audience could not have chosen a more fascinating subject.

A sketch by W. B. Wicker and G. S. McCormick involving, the stock exchange, telephone talk, wrong numbers and a bit of clever talk in the Hebrew dialect, proved especially amusing and furnished the humor of the program.

M. F. Hayes, in discussing "The Place of Hazing in College Activity" brought out many points of local and general interest.

N. G. Newman, Jr., presented a well prepared paper on "David Lloyd George and His Place in World Affairs Today."

MARLETTE WINS MILE RACE AT INDOOR MEET

Rudd Unable to Participate in Events—Meet Held at Durham March 10

At the recent indoor track meet held in Durham, W. E. Marlette, of this college, won the one-mile race medal. The Elon representatives left for Durham on the afternoon of Mar. 10 to participate in the first indoor track meet. Marlette came out first in the mile race and was awarded the beautiful gold medal.

Captain Rudd, of the Elon track team was Elon's other representative, but was ill, making it impossible for Elon to show up at her best.

The indoor track meet held in Durham was the first of its kind held in this state. It was held under the auspices of Coach Fetzer, of the University of North Carolina; Steiner of Trinity, and Clark of the Durham Y. M. C. A. The purpose of the meet was primarily to excite a larger interest in track throughout the state and the south.

The meet was held in the Star Brick Warehouse in Durham, and Mr. Marlette, speaking of the event, said, "It was like a circus, there was something going on all the time."

After the events of the meet were over, a reception and dance was tendered the visitors in the Big Warehouse just across the street. It was something new and interesting, and has awakened quite a deal of interest in track here.

The cup was awarded to the University of North Carolina; State College came second, while Wake Forest and Trinity tied for third with six points each. Elon won five points, by Marlette's admirable running. Guilford put up a fine showing, but failed to win any of the events.

ELON REPRESENTED AT EXECUTIVE CONFERENCE

Dr. Wicker Represents Elon at Greensboro Meeting of College Executives

It will be recalled that last October the college executives of the North Carolina colleges met in Greensboro to discuss certain co-operative matters in which they were mutually interested. The second meeting of the Association which was formed at that time occurred at Greensboro at the O. Henry, Friday and Saturday of last week. Besides serving as Elon's accredited representative to this conference, Dr. W. C. Wicker was a member of the committee on curriculum for entrance to college, being one of the five heads of departments of education in North Carolina colleges assigned to that duty at the first meeting.

The Conference, besides hearing the various committees on scholarship, uniform certificate of admission, inter-collegiate athletics, co-operative visitation among the high schools during the

PROF. BETTS CHAIRMAN OF LOCAL CARUSO FUND

Million Dollar Endowment to Be Raised as Memorial to Famous Tenor

(Special to Maroon and Gold)

Atlanta, Ga., March 15:—Mr. E. M. Betts was appointed today chairman for Elon College of the Caruso American Memorial Foundation by Col. William Lawson Peel, vice-president for the Southern states of the national organization that seeks to perpetuate the memory of the greatest of all tenors by establishing a permanent means for the development of the latent musical genius of this nation.

The first purpose of the foundation is to help talented and deserving young men and young women, who are unable to pay for their musical education. Awards will be made on the basis of merit by a national committee of leading artists and recognized authorities on music. In addition it will provide free scholarship in voice culture, in instrumental music and in musical composition.

The foundation will seek to initiate or assist national and local activities that help to develop artists of the highest talent and achievement and that tend to stimulate wider appreciation of music, and to promote the education of the public in the more serious musical forms.

America, and particularly the south, has many potential master artists, who are destined to remain "mute and inglorious" because they lack the means for their musical education. History tells of some who achieved success without assistance, but many celebrated artists of the last half century would have been lost to art but for the practical help of benevolent friends.

It is the purpose of this foundation to act in the role of the benevolent friend to the struggling village choir singer with a God-given voice, or the backwoods virtuoso who may possess the talent of another Paganini.

For this purpose a fund of $1,000,000 is needed. It will serve as a permanent endowment; only the annual income will be used. Every contribution, large or small, will help create this national tribute to Caruso. Every contribution, large or small will help the development of American music, and American artists and every one will be acknowledged by a certificate of membership.

"SMILES" IS SUBJECT OF Y. W. MEETING SUNDAY

Misses Holland and Kendrick Lead in Interesting Program

"Smile awhile;
And when you smile,
Another smiles.
And soon there are miles
And miles of smiles
Because you smiled."

The meeting of Y. W. C. A. Sunday evening, March 12, was of unusual interest and helpfulness. The topic for the evening was "Smiles." The leaders were Misses Maude Kendrick and Lois Holland. These two young ladies, who are known all over the campus for their cheerful and cheering smiles, with the help of those members present, made this meeting of the Y. W. C. A. all that the evening's topic implies.

The meeting was opened with the singing of two songs "Sunshine in the Soul," and "Brighten the Corner Where You Are." After the songs,

B. O. B.'S ENTERTAINED

After the business session of the regular weekly meeting of the Beta Omicron Beta club, Misses Victoria Adams and Sarah Carter entertained the members and a few other guests in honor of Miss Kate Wheeler's birthday. The club room was tastefully decorated in St. Patrick's day colors. There was a large birthday cake with a candle for each year of Miss Wheeler's life. Delicious gelatin, whipped cream and cake were served by the hostesses.

"Y." TO HOLD COUNTY FAIR ON ST. PATRICK'S DAY

Grand Event to Be Staged Under Supervision of Miss West For "Y" Hut

The Y. W. C. A. will hold the County Fair in the Boys' Gymnasium on the evening of Friday, March 17. The Fair promises to be one of the most entertaining events which has been staged at Elon College this year. There will be a number of attractions, which will be run as free attractions on the fair ground. Then there are to be several side shows, fortune telling, with the other features that are usually attendant on a fair of its kind.

This county fair is being held by the Y. W. C. A. in order to raise money for the new "Y" hut which they are planning. A "Y" hut would be a valuable addition on the campus and furnish additional facilities for the campus life. Such a thing has been needed for several years, but this is the first effort on the part of the girls to obtain this much needed hut.

Owing to a catalog ruling, there will be no charge for admission to the Fair in the gymnasium, but a silver offering at the door is expected. The girls say that they feel sure few will enter without this offering, and they are willing to undertake this means trusting their patrons to deal honestly with them.

The features that are to serve as the free attractions will be of an entertaining nature. Many of them are of a high order. It is the wish of the girls to give to those attending the County Fair their money's worth. In this respect they are striving to swing away from the old "Church Bazaar" idea, and to send everyone away feeling the evening of St. Patrick's day has been well worth its cost in time and money.

The interior of the side shows has not been revealed, but it is intimated that they will equal or surpass the public attractions in giving satisfaction. The Y. W. is endeavoring to make this fair the best possible in its every feature, and they are not afraid to guarantee satisfaction throughout.

There will be the usual fascinating chance stands in the form of a grab-bag, a fishing concern, with some others. No fair would be complete without the weenie stand and the chances to satisfy the appetite for confections, and in this important respect

NEVELES HOLD FIRST MEETING FOR MARCH

Miss Ruth Hawk Hostess—Rook, Embroidering, and Ghost Stories Indulged In

The first session for March of the Faculty Nevele Club occurred Monday evening in the parlor of the Ladies' Hall, with Miss Ruth Hawk as hostess.

All members of the club were present, so there was nothing to talk about. Some of the ladies had brought their embroidery and others their rook, so that these provided occupation, while ghost stories were told by the members individually. Some of these stories were so harrowing that the embroidery and rook ceased during their telling.

An important event of the evening was an improvised duet by Miss Fisher and Mrs. Harper, though the members of the club unanimously voted that it was a simultaneous rendition of two solos.

After the refreshments, consisting of delicious ice cream and cake served by the hostess and her mother, Mrs. Mary Hawk, Mrs. Sturm took the piano, and a thirty minutes' cake-walk original in
