

DR. SUMMERBELL WILL DELIVER LECTURES HERE

To Speak on "The Three Modern Apostles"—Wycliffe, Huss and Calvin to Be Discussed.

Dr. Martin Summerbell will pay his annual visit to the college on October 15, 16 and 17. He will preach at the regular Sunday service, and on Monday and Tuesday will deliver three lectures.

The general theme of Dr. Summerbell's lectures will be "Three Modern Apostles." He will preach on the theme, "From Glory to Glory" at the Sunday morning service.

"John Wycliffe, the Morning Star," is the subject of the first of the three lectures. Dr. Summerbell is an eminent authority on church history, and his treatment of his subjects will be of the highest order. He will speak at noon Monday on "John Huss, the Reformer," and Tuesday morning on "John Calvin, the Theologian." His careful study of the times which these men lived and his thorough acquaintance with the motives and influences at work to produce those times in response to which these three modern apostles appeared will add much to the interest of the lectures.

The series will be somewhat shorter this year than in previous visits, as Dr. Summerbell is at this time in the South attending the American Christian Convention which will begin its sessions in Burlington on October 17.

Dr. Summerbell is a regular lecturer at Elon, and his coming means a treat for the lovers of historical information. He has a great power of description, and his great study in his particular field of comparative religion and church history makes him one of the greatest living authorities on the subject. In his lectures Dr. Summerbell succeeds in drawing graphically for his hearers a vivid picture of the times of which he speaks. Throughout all the lectures there flows a stream of humor that lends to them a sparkle and prevents dullness which such themes might presuppose. He spices them all with anecdotes of the men and personal glimpses of times and men not to be gathered elsewhere without infinite research.

Dr. Summerbell is president of the Palmer Institute-Starkey Seminary, and has done excellent work there at Lakemont, N. Y., for a number of years. He is well known as an author, and contributes to a number of the leading religious periodicals.

ONLY ONE NEW MEMBER INITIATED BY SIGMA PHI

J. Oscar Atkinson, Jr., Becomes Affiliated With Greek Letter Organization.

The initiation of the first candidate for membership in the Sigma Phi Beta was completed Wednesday night, when J. Oscar Atkinson, Jr., became a member of the Greek letter organization.

Mr. Atkinson is the son of Dr. J. O. Atkinson, of Elon College. He is the only member received into the mystic realm of Sigma Phi Beta since the fall of last year.

Seven members of that organization were graduated with last year's class and one member of this year's graduating class failed to return to college to complete his course.

There are ten Sigma Phi Beta men this year, including Professor O. H. Henderson, honorary member. Those in the organization are Worth Wicker, W. E. Marlette, W. G. Stoner, G. D. Underwood, L. J. Perry, C. P. Flynn, Grady Brown, J. Oscar Atkinson, Jr., and Lloyd J. Bray.

PSIPHELIANS COMPLETE DIVISION AND ORGANIZE

Membership Arranged in Two Groups—Much Improvement Is Expected in Work This Year.

The Psiphelian Literary Society has completed its plans for division. On last Monday and Tuesday nights the two groups met in the Psiphelian hall for organization.

It has been decided that it was better to have two groups of the same society rather than to organize a new society. It would have been difficult to arrange a satisfactory settlement for a new society, and it was deemed wise to avoid such confusion.

Group One is to meet on Monday night, Group Two on Tuesday night. This will enable the society to serve its members more efficiently, and will effectively avoid any confusion in the matter of organization.

For many years there has been but one literary society among the girls, and as the student body has steadily increased, it has become practically impossible for the society to give to all of its members the greatest amount of benefit. The girls have long felt that the society was too large for the best interest of the members, but not until this year has anything been definitely attempted looking toward the arrangement of this difficulty.

It is believed that the plan arrived at after much discussion and thought is the best possible settlement of this matter, and it seems to meet the approval of the greater part of the Psiphelian members.

With this important matter disposed of, the society in its respective groups is looking forward to a successful year of work.

JUNIOR-SENIOR DEBATE SUBJECT IS ANNOUNCED

Compulsory Arbitration for Public Utilities to Be Discussed—Both Teams at Work.

The subject of the Junior-Senior debate has been announced. The inter-class forensic contest will center about the query, "Resolved—That Congress should enact a law providing for compulsory arbitration of industrial disputes for the public utilities doing interstate business. Constitutionality waived."

According to custom the Senior debaters proposed the question for discussion and the Juniors select the side which they desired. The Juniors have chosen the affirmative.

Both teams are already at work on the subject, and an interesting debate is expected near Thanksgiving.

G. A. Brown, Mrs. R. S. Rainey and Herbert Scholz will represent the Senior class in the contest. This is a strong team and will make matters intensely interesting for their opponents.

W. T. Scott, Miss Lucy Austin, and G. D. Colclough will support the Junior class in the argument. Two of these speakers are well seasoned, having participated in intercollegiate debates last year. It is believed that they will not fail to account for themselves well in the war of words.

The question for discussion is timely, and cannot fail to enlist a large interest. Both sides will put much study into the writing of their speeches, and it is hoped that an open discussion of such important matters by college students will in some degree at least aid in a forward step in the settlement of these perplexing questions.

BREVITY IS FEATURE OF PHILOLOGIAN PROGRAM

J. U. Fogleman, A. H. Hook, and W. E. Marlette Receive Special Mention by Committee.

The program in the Phi hall last Monday night was very short, due to the fact that so many of the men were out for the football lecture.

Jasper Apple opened the program with a brief account of the achievements of the Y. C. C. He was followed by J. U. Fogleman with a short talk on the minister's place in the community. He believes that the minister should be related to every phase of the community life, and has a place and part in all the endeavors of his people.

P. P. Hatley spoke interestingly on the railroad strike at Spencer. He spiced his talk with his never-failing sense of humor. He told of the suffering of the strikers, and gave a number of figures that were striking in their import.

A paper on the life and works of O. Henry was read by Thomas E. Hanner. It was an interesting account of the North Carolina author, and dealt with his works in a sympathetic manner.

The debate centered about the question of the President's right to veto the bonus bill. The affirmative supported the President in the step which he took, while the negative contended that he was not justified in vetoing the bill. They urged that the soldiers needed the bonus, and that it was due them for their services for which they had not been sufficiently paid.

The decision committee awarded the decision to the affirmative two to one. J. U. Fogleman received best oratorically, A. H. Hook beat on the affirmative, and W. E. Marlette best on the negative.

S. M. Lynam, R. V. Morris, and A. H. Hook upheld the affirmative, while W. E. Marlette, R. H. Gunn and J. M. McAdams supported the negative.

Though very brief, the program was well arranged, and well prepared, considering all the disadvantages attendant upon the first programs.

LAMBETH'S POND SCENE OF DELIGHTFUL PICNIC

Faculty Enjoy Weiner Roast and "Rinctum-Dinctum"—Boating Is Feature of the Evening.

On Tuesday evening Lambeth's pond was the scene of unusual enjoyment. A number of members of the faculty hiked out to this familiar place for the purpose of indulging in a "weiner roast." Around the camp fire every one seemed to be calling for more "hot dogs" or more "rinctum-dinctum," which were the favorite dishes of the picnickers.

As the fire began to die down and the hunger of the merry-makers had been sufficed, the boats and the pond became the attraction. The boats were assembled and the company spent the remainder of the evening in boat-riding.

The occasion was of especial delight, as everyone seemed to forget the worries and cares of the various college activities and a care-free air seemed to prevail.

The party consisted of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Harper, Dr. Anna Helfenstein, Mrs. Janet Kirkland, Misses Kathleen Belcher, Mildred Kirkland, Florence Fisher, and Messrs. G. C. Donovan, B. W. Everett, O. H. Henderson and M. Z. Rhodes.

STUDENTS, ATTENTION!

The first football game on the home field is not long off. We play Hampden-Sidney October 21. Why wait until the time arrives to get the spirit? Take out the little red handbook now and learn the yells.

CABINET INSTALLATION FEATURES Y. W. MEETING

Talks by Mrs. Harper and Doctor Helfenstein Delight Audience of Young Ladies.

Last Sunday evening dated the real beginning of Y. W. work for this year. Miss Pattie Coghill, president of the Association, took charge of the service in the chapel and gave a hearty welcome to all the new girls.

The new cabinet, accompanied by the advisory committee, occupied the platform. This committee consists of Mrs. N. G. Newman, chairman; Dr. and Mrs. Harper, Mrs. A. L. Hook, and Dr. Helfenstein. These members promised splendid aid during the coming year, and from Mrs. Harper's interesting talk on "Girlhood of Today" and Dr. Helfenstein's helpful advice of "Service," it is evident that the Y. W. C. A. has ideals for which to work.

Each cabinet member was formally introduced to the girls, and following a few fitting remarks from these members, Mrs. Newman dismissed the service with a prayer.

Misses Madge Moffitt, Doris McLean, Annie Paschall and Fannie Glen Elder were home for the week-end.

Misses Lucile and Annie Bell Cardwell were in Burlington for the week-end.

EMINENT SPEAKERS WILL ADDRESS ELON STUDENTS

Dr. Harry G. Rowe and Hermon Eldredge to Visit Elon Latter Part of This Month.

The Religious Activities Organization of the college will bring to the college on October 22, two eminent speakers. Dr. Harry G. Rowe will speak on Sunday school work and Mr. Hermon Eldredge will speak on Life Recruitment work.

Dr. Rowe is well known in Sunday school circles. He was for some time the State Sunday School Secretary for the state of Illinois, and has been associated intimately with Sunday school work for a number of years. Out of his large experience and intimate acquaintance with the subject, Dr. Rowe will bring many helpful suggestions to the students.

Mr. Hermon Eldredge is associated with Y. M. C. A. work at Erie, Pennsylvania. He delivered the baccalaureate sermon at the college in 1921, and to some of the Elon students needs no introduction as a speaker of power. Mr. Eldredge has written a good deal for religious periodicals, and has contributed much to the literature of the Christian church.

His association with "Y" work has given him a deep insight into the problems of young men, and has broadened his sympathies. He will speak on life recruiting, and his address promises to be of much benefit to those who have not decided definitely concerning the investment of their lives. Mr. Eldredge has a keen appreciation of correct values, and his address will give the students the benefit of his understanding of life.

MAROON AND GOLD SQUAD OFF TO WAKE FOREST

Team Has Been Put Through Hard Practice Since Game With Davidson.

After a two weeks' rest from any regular contest the gridiron squad of Elon College boarded the train this morning on their way to the Baptist school to engage the Wake Forest followers in battle. The Christian team arrived there Friday noon and during the afternoon did light practice and signal work to accustom the players to the Wake Forest gridiron before the struggle.

Two weeks have elapsed since the game with Davidson, and this time has been profitably spent in remedying the faults of the team which that game brought out. Hard practice has been the order on the field and a team much improved from two weeks ago goes to face Wake Forest.

From past games nothing can be judged as to the relative strength of these two teams in relation to each other. Davidson defeated Elon 24 to 0, and Carolina's victory over Wake Forest by a 62 to 3 score are the only games these two teams have yet had, which only show that both teams are relatively weak when compared with the stronger teams of the state. However, both teams in their previous games had opportunity to play only defensive football, whereas in Saturday's game it is likely that each will have the opportunity to show what they can do on offensive play. A hard fought contest is expected from both sides.

The eighteen men who made the Davidson trip, with only one or two exceptions, are on the Wake Forest trip. It is not likely that Gants or Kirkland, both backfield men, who were hurt in the Davidson game, will start at Wake Forest. It is expected, however, that they will play one quarter of the game. The line men used against Davidson, without exception, in all probability will be started against Wake Forest, all the line men being in shape to play. G. Brown, whose injuries in practice kept him out of the Davidson game, will be back in the regular line-up this Saturday.

While the first-string men are engaging Wake Forest at the Baptist town, the Elon scrub team will meet the Oak Ridge warriors at Oak Ridge. The plucky team of Oak Ridge last year defeated the Elon scrub team, and the scrubs go this year with their hatchets to bring back the scalp.

LIBRARIAN ANNOUNCES SET OF LIBRARY RULES

Students Requested to Observe Rules in Force—Many Have Been Disregarded in Past.

Apparently many students are not acquainted with the rulings that are in force in the college library, or some are prone to disregard them.

The librarian announces the following rules and asks that the students observe them and ask no favors that do not conform to the regulations.

The rules are announced as follows: Books in the stack room are loaned for two weeks subject to a fine of five cents per day for each day kept over-time.

Reference books, except novels, loaned at the reference desk to all students to be read in the library. Juniors and Seniors may have the privilege of taking a reference book from the library the last period in the afternoon to be returned the first period next day. A fine of five cents per hour is charged (Continued on page four.)
