

COLLEGE TO OBSERVE GREATER ELON DAY IN FITTING WAY FRIDAY

Half Holiday, Social Privileges,
Banquet Dinners and Debate
to Feature Celebration.

TO BE PERMANENT EVENT

Greater Elon Day will be observed here on January 18 to commemorate the occasion of the fire and the beginning of a new day of progress for the college.

At night a debate will be held here between Emory and Henry and Elon, the society hall on the third floor of Alamanca Hall being used for this occasion. A half holiday will be granted the students by the college authorities, special social privileges during the afternoon, and banquet dinners will be served at all the dining halls.

It is the plan of the faculty and students to make January 18 Greater Elon Day and a permanent celebration on the college calendar, and it has been so written into the catalogue for this year.

For the debate in the evening the query, "Resolved, That the defeated bonus measure for World War veterans should be passed," will be under discussion. Elon will uphold the affirmative side of the question at home, and will be represented by G. C. Mann and O. C. Johnson. P. J. Viall and F. M. Matthews will represent the negative side of the question for Emory and Henry. J. L. Scott, Burlington; W. S. Crawford, Mebane, and J. H. Harden, Burlington, will serve as the judges for this occasion.

Elon's negative team, represented by J. T. Banks and H. C. Hainer, will go to Emory and Henry to debate there.

MUSIC LOVERS ENJOY MEETING WEDNESDAY

Meet With Dr. and Mrs. N. G. Newman—Good Program of Folk Songs is Rendered.

The Music Lovers' Club in its initial session for 1924 met in the Christian parsonage here last Wednesday evening with Dr. and Mrs. N. G. Newman, Miss Marion Lee Newman, Miss Madge Moffitt, and Mrs. J. W. Patterson as joint host and hostesses.

After a business session presided over by Miss Lydia A. Berkley at which Misses Della Cotten and Alice Barrett were elected to membership in the club, a musical program dealing with folk songs was rendered. The program was as follows:

Duet—Scotch Folk Songs, "Bluebells of Scotland," "Bonnie Doon." by Misses Marion Lee Newman and Mary D. Atkinson.

Piano Solo—Irish Folk Songs, "Donnybrook Fair," "Top O' the Morning," "Dennis and Morah," by Miss Lydia A. Berkley.

Vocal Solo—Scotch and English Folk Songs, "Auld Lang Syne," "Long, Long Ago," by Miss Madge Moffitt.

Violin Obligata, by Miss May Stanley.

Duets—Mixed Group of Folk Songs, by Misses Fisher and Moffitt.

Violin Obligata, by Miss May Stanley.

Following the musical program delightful refreshments were served by the host and hostesses consisting of frozen fruit salad, wafers, sandwiches, coffee, and mints.

DEATH CLAIMS FATHER OF MISS ROSE FULGHUM

T. R. Fulghum, father of Miss Rose Fulghum, died last Thursday night at about 8:30, at his home in Selma, N. C. Miss Fulghum was called home on Wednesday by a telegram stating that her father was very sick with pneumonia. He had been ill for only a few days before his death.

The whole student body was grieved to learn of this sad loss of Miss Fulghum, and their sympathy goes out to her in this trying hour.

"THE WHOLE TRUTH" IS GIVEN BY PSYKALEONS

Interesting Comedy Presented by Girls' Society Monday Evening—All Parts Well Played.

On Monday night the Psykaleon Literary Society featured an entirely new program from anything given this year. A one-act play entitled, "The Whole Truth," was staged and proved to be a highly diverting and interesting comedy. While the play was short and simple it was given in a very creditable manner and each girl gave a splendid impersonation of her character.

A brief synopsis of the play is as follows: Phyllis Falkner, who was the secretary of an English nobleman, had inherited his entire fortune upon condition that should the son, Lord Harding, whose death had been reported, return, that half of the inheritance should be reverted to him, provided that he marry the Miss Falkner within one year after his return. In order to escape notoriety and fortune hunters, she came to America where she learned that her story had preceded her. In her desperate effort to escape publicity she got a working girl to impersonate her at a fashionable hotel. It was reported that Lord Harding had arrived and a dinner was given in his honor. One of the guests asked that a wish be made in honor of the occasion. The little secretary suggested that each one tell the whole truth during the entire evening. Complexities naturally arise and each was amazed at who the other was. The supposed Lord Harding was an imposter; the young secretary was the real heiress and the chauffeur was Lord Harding, who had fallen deeply in love with Phyllis Falkner. The guests had unconsciously helped to play the game and all mysteries were finally cleared up.

Those taking part in the play were: Amy Ross, Miss Falkner's secretary—Freda Dimmick.

Barclay, Miss Falkner's chauffeur—Louise Watkins.

Phyllis Falkner, an heiress—Florence Moseley.

Mrs. Hathway, her companion—Madge Woods.

Reginald Brooke, a suitor—Ruth Crawford.

Montmorency Mountain, a poet—Annie Simpson.

Mrs. Montmain, his wife—Lucy Austin.

Lord Harding, another suitor—Zondal Myers.

"The evening wore on," continued the man who was telling the story.

"Excuse me," interrupted the would-be wit, "but can you tell us what the evening wore on that occasion?"

"I don't know that it is important," replied the story-teller, "but if you must know, I believe it was the close of a summer day."—Selected.

GIRLS GLEE CLUB GIVES GOOD PROGRAM AT MEBANE

Program Given Friday Night Was the Fourth of Season—Given Under Direction of Prof. Greenwood.

The Girls Glee Club of the college went to Mebane last Friday night and gave a program at the graded school auditorium. The glee club is under the direction of Prof. Walter F. Greenwood and has given four public programs which have been well received. The program Friday night was the best yet rendered and was declared by the Mebane people to be the best musical program heard in Mebane for a long time.

The number, "Heavenly Aida" (Verdi) in which Mrs. L. W. Vaughn sang the recitade, was especially good and was complimented highly by the audience. The program as given was as follows:

Poet and Peasant Overture—Orchestra.

Chorus.

Lullaby.

Last Night.

Heavenly Aida (Verdi).

Reading: "Billie Brad and the Apple"—Jennie Gunter.

Song: "Ma Little Banjo"—Madge Moffitt, contralto.

Selection by Orchestra.

Chorus.

Blow, Soft Winds.

Kentucky Babe.

O Wondrous Night.

Readings: "Over the Telephone" and "At the Soda Fountain"—Jennie Gunter.

Medley of old songs.

Chorus.

O Promise Me.

Carry Me Back to Ol' Virginny.

College Song: "Here's to Dear Old Elon."

PSIPHELIAN SOCIETY GIVES BRIEF PROGRAM

Miss Bessie Martin is Chosen to Succeed Miss Durant as Commencement Speaker.

Wednesday night the Psiphelian society met in regular session.

On account of the absent members who were on the program, the program was very brief. However, it proved very interesting, each member having done her work well.

Those taking part on the program were as follows:

Miss Della Cotten, a vocal solo. She rendered very beautifully "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot."

Miss Gwendolyn Patton, Humor.

Miss Gretchen Lamb, "Early Days of North Carolina."

Miss Fannie Glenn Elder, "First Schools of the Colony."

Misses Cotten, Elder and Patton were pronounced best on the program.

Miss Winnie Durant learns that she will be unable to serve as Junior essayist at commencement, and Miss Bessie Martin was chosen to take her place.

Miss Victoria Adams, who attended the Student Volunteer Conference at Indianapolis during the holidays and later became sick while visiting her sister at Western Springs, Ill., has returned to school again.

Miss Esther Alcorn, a former Elon student, was a visitor on the hill the past week-end.

BIRTHDAY PARTY IS AN ENJOYABLE SURPRISE

Little Miss Emiline Corboy was the guest and happy recipient of a surprise birthday luncheon at the home of her aunt and uncle, Coach and Mrs. F. B. Corboy, on Wednesday afternoon. It was her fourth birthday and a white birthday cake with candles was the centerpiece for the happy event. Delicious refreshments were served and the occasion was enjoyed by all the visiting friends, and especially by Emiline, who delighted the visitors with songs following the luncheon.

CLIO SOCIETY DECIDES TO MAKE ALL OFFICERS KNOWN

Society Feels That This is a Forward-Looking Step—New Officers to Be Installed at Next Meeting.

At the regular meeting on Tuesday of this week the Clio Literary Society dispensed with the literary program in order to transact some very important business. In its readjustment to the changed conditions now existing on the campus, Clioism has taken a very forward-looking step. After a thorough discussion it was moved and carried that be by-laws be amended and that the officers of the society be made known to the public. It has always been considered a sacred honor to be an officer of the society, and now it will also be a public honor. This far-reaching measure was not passed in a hasty manner, but only after a most deliberate and painstaking consideration of present conditions, and it is confidently believed that this change in principle will be for the best interests of the society and for the College. However, if, after a fair trial, the measure does not justify itself, the society will feel free to resume its former custom of secrecy.

The following members were elected and will be duly installed at the next regular meeting:

W. C. Elder, president; S. H. Abell, vice president; M. A. McLeod, secretary; A. L. Combs, first censor; H. Richardson, second censor; G. A. Pearce and J. P. Davis, critics; L. V. Watson, chaplain.

G. C. White had been previously installed as treasurer. Other officers who are elected annually are W. S. Weathers, Maroon and Gold reporter, and S. H. Abell, corresponding secretary.

Also W. C. Elder and S. H. Abell were elected commencement orators from the Junior class. The society also elected D. L. Harrell chief marshal and Fernando Bello and J. B. Gay assistants for its annual entertainment.

A special order of business was declared, and Mr. C. C. Jackson was taken into the fellowship of the society and given a very cordial welcome. Mr. Jackson hails from Dunn, N. C., and although he has been on the hill only since the Christmas holidays he has already made himself popular with the students.

The following girls spent the week-end in their respective homes: Misses Mabel Cheek, Graham, N. C.; Nannie Lou Aldridge, Union Ridge, N. C.; Eva Graham, Maude Graham, McCray, N. C.; Lillie Pace, Mebane, N. C.; Mary Lee Garrison, Frances Turner, Reidsville, N. C., and Lou Heritage, Graham, N. C.

Miss Virginia Yarborough, who is teaching in Goldsboro, visited her sister, Julia, last Sunday.

MAROON AND GOLD FIVE TRIUMPH OVER Y. M. C. A. TEAM ON LOCAL COURT

Defeat Greensboro Team 34 to 17 in Fast Game—Second Team Appears in Contest.

R. BROWN IS ELON STAR

Elon rolled up a 34-17 score against the Greensboro "Y" quint in the second game of the season here Saturday night, outclassing the "Y" tossers in every department of the game.

It was a clean-cut, swift action game, and despite the one-sided score the interest of the spectators never lagged. Elon showed a complete reversal of form from their play in the Newberry gam elast week.

R. Brown was the outstanding player for the home team, caging the ball for a total of 14 points. Voliva also showed up well for the home team, and Britton for the visitors.

After the first five minutes of play the collegians took the lead and the outcome of the game was never in doubt. The first half ended 19-8 in favor of the Christians.

During the final period Coach Corboy ran in an entirely new team, which also outplayed the "Y" men. The visitors were not able to find the baskets, a large majority of their shots going wild, while exceptional accuracy in the Elon shooting rolled up a wide margin in the score.

Line-up and summary:

Elon	Greensboro "Y"
Position
R. Brown	Britton
	Right forward
Voliva	J. Groome
	Left forward
A. Brown	G. Groome
	Center
Hill	Louis
	Right guard
McAdams	Clary
	Left guard

Substitutions: Elon—Braxton for McAdams, Barker for A. Brown, Atkinson for Voliva. Greensboro "Y"—Wasserman for Britton, Houch for J. Groome, Eichor for Louis.

Scoring, Field goals: Elon—A. Brown 4, Voliva 4, R. Brown 7. Greensboro "Y"—Britton 3, J. Groome 2, Wasserman, G. Groome 1, Louis. Foul goals—Elon, McAdams 2, A. Brown 3; Greensboro "Y," Britton.

CANTATA IS FEATURE OF CHURCH SERVICE SUNDAY

Professor Greenwood Directs Choir—Dr. Newman Talks of Worship—Orchestra Takes Part.

The church service on Sunday of this week was a musical treat of rare beauty and impressiveness. After making a few announcements Dr. Newman took the opportunity to thank the Church members and the community as a whole for the substantial purse which he had recently received. Then taking the subject of Worship, he discussed it under four topics: Prayer, Song, Scripture Reading, and Offerings. Prayer is one of the essentials of a Christian's life and as God is a spirit we must worship him in spirit and in truth. Song was declared to be one of the highest forms of expressions, of thanksgiving or of any
