How He Did It

"This fellow Skinner tried to tell me that he has had the same automobile for five years, and has never paid a cent for repairs on it," said the fat man. "Do you believe it?"

"I do," replied the thin man, sadly. "I'm the man who did his repair work for him."—The Continent.

He: "Would you scream if I kissed you, little girl?"

She: "Little girls should be seen and not heard."—Purple Cow.

YOU CAN

If you think you're beaten, you are.
If you think you dare not, you don't.
If you like to win, but think you can't,
It's almost a cinch you won't.
If you think you'll lose, you're lost,
For out in the world you find
Success begins with a fellow's will;
It's all in the state of the mind.

Full many a race is lost
Ere ever a step is run;
And many a coward fails
Ere ever his work's begun;
Think big, and your deeds will grow;
Think small, and you'll fall behind;
Think that you can, and you will
It's all in the state of mind.

If you think you're outclassed,
you are;
You've got to think high to rise,
You've got to be sure of yourself before
You can ever win a prize.
Life's battles don't always go
To the stronger or faster man,
But soon or late the man who wins
Is the fellow who thinks he can.
—Exchange.

Somebody Getting Smart

"What time is it?" asked the person who thinks nothing of asking anything.
"Ten to," replied the polite but brief man.
"Ten to what?" asked the bore.
"Ten to your own business."—Col. Rec.

A Natural Mistake

Algy: "What do you mean by telling Joan that I'm a fool?"
Percy: "Heavens, I'm sorry! I didn't know it was a secret."—Black and Blue Jay.

Ted: "My love for you is driving me quite mad."
Gladys: "How strange! It has the same effect on dad."—Exchange.

Bounce: "See where a bellhop got his right eye burned out."
Dwight: "Yeah! Howzat?"
Bounce: "He saw a lighted cigarette in the dark and thought it was a keyhole."—Exchange.

"Twas in a restaurant they met—
"Twas there that he first fell in debt,
For Romeo'd what Juliet.—Ex.

"You can say what you like about jazz music, but it has kept lots of people out of jail."
"How come?"
"Well, if it wasn't for the music they'd be arrested."—Exchange.

Mother: "When you said your prayers did you ask God to make you a better boy?"
Willie: "Yes, and I put in a word for you and father, too."—Top Notch Magazine.

"Who is that terrible looking woman?"
"That's my sister."
"Oh, that's all right; you ought to see mine."—Exchange.

Dum (gazing at window of young lady evidently ignorant of the use of a shade): "Not a bit shy, is she?"
Bell: "Not shy, but certainly retiring."—Selected.

"Do you think that women should hold the reins?"
"Well, that's a rather old-fashioned way of putting it, but I will admit that the party is safer if she holds the wheel."—Widow.

Soak (in a whisper): "Do you know where I can get a drink?"
Bootlegger: "Sure, if you don't mind walking a few blocks."
Soak: "Walk? Gosh, let's run."—Selected.

She had just been kissed.
"You'll pay for this!" she stormed.
"I'll tell father and he'll—"
"But, dear—" he started to object.
"Sh! Here he comes now."—Ex.

The man that has learned that it is just as easy for him to be wrong as the other fellow has acquired valuable knowledge.—Exchange.

There are two kinds of men: Those who go ahead and do something and those who sit by and ask why it was not done some other way. Which kind are you going to set out to be?—Sel.

You can generally tell what a man is by what he does when he has nothing to do. Suppose he does nothing when he has nothing to do? We advance the theory that he never will have much to do.—Selected.

Tall Bandit: "I want all the money from the men and a kiss from each of the women."
Short Partner: "Never mind the kiss, Jack, get the coin."
Old Maid: "You keep still; the tall man's robbing this train."—Selected.
