Pretty Susie Smith had been studying medicine, and although she didn't make much actual progress at the work, she managed to get along very well with the lectures, for she had what is called "a way with her." Whenever she was asked a question she could not answer she would smile in a most appealing way. When the examination came along she was equally successful. "Now, Miss Smith," said the examiner, "tell me how you would treat a case of typhoid?" "Well, sir," was the hesitating reply, "I should-er"— "Yes, yes!" said the professor impatiently. "Go on." "I—I"— Then, with a rush: "I should call you in for consultation." She passed with honors.—Los Angeles Times.

Teacher—"Why are you looking at your watch so often, Johnny?"

Johnny—"I was afraid you would not have time to finish your interesting lecture."—College of the Pacific Weekly.

"Now, Willie, here's your medicine, and here's the dime your papa left to pay you for taking it."

Willie (age 5)—"Mama, you take the medicine and I'll split the ten cents with you."—Exchange.

"Now tell me, what is the opposite of misery?" "Happiness!" said the class in unison. "And sadness?" she asked. "Gladness." "And the opposite of woe?" "Giddap!" shouted the enthusiastic class.—Good Hardware.

The young countryman was suffering badly from headaches, so his mother sent for the doctor.

The doctor said to her: "Put some ice in a bag and tie it tightly over his head. I'll come again in a day or so and see how he is."

On the next occasion, in response to the doctor's inquiry, the mother said: "His headache is quite gone, sir, but all the mice are dead."—Presbyterian Standard.

Judge (in assault and battery case): "What instrument did you use to reduce the plaintiff to this condition?"

Defendant (proudly): "None at all, your honor. It was all hand work."—Life.

She: "A penny for your thoughts."
Mr. Staylate: "I was thinking of going."

Her father (at head of stairs): "Give him half a dollar, Viola—it's worth it!"

"He's a membah of de Ways and Means Committee."

"Is, is he? Den he's sure in de right place. Dat niggah knows moah ways ob bein' mean den any otha cullud man I know."

A tiny maid, held up to hear her father's voice on the telephone, burst into tears. "What are you crying for?" "Oh, mama," sobbed the child, "however can we get daddy out of that little hole?"—Ex.

"What does it mean, Tommy," the Sunday school teacher asked, "when it says they rent their clothes?"

"I suppose they couldn't afford to buy them," replied Tommy.

BE FEARLESS.

The world stretches widely before you
A field for your muscle and brain,
And though clouds may often float a'er you
And often come sunshine and rain,
Be fearless of storms which o'ertake you.

Push forward through all like a man.
And God will never forsake you
If you do as near right as you can.
—Josiah.
