

Biggest Game In History Of Elon Football To Be Played Here On Thanksgiving Day

ALUMNI-VARSITY

Will Stage Game on Comer Field
At 2 P. M. With Many Former Elon Stars on Alumni Team. Great Interest Shown.

TO FORM ORGANIZATION

Purpose to Advance Athletics at Elon.
Committee Experiencing Difficulty in Getting Officials for Game.
Objections Raised by Both Teams.

Promptly at 2 P. M. Thanksgiving afternoon one of the greatest gridiron battles in Elon's football history will be staged on Comer Field. On this occasion the present Varsity team will engage the much-discussed Alumni Eleven. The big question for discussion on the campus for two weeks past has been the probable outcome of this conflict and interest heightens as the event approaches.

The organization of the Alumni Team is thus far purely a paper mobilization of their forces and from two to five former Elon star pigskin chasers are lined up for each position. Truly the front thus presented by the old-timers is formidable. They will, for a certainty, play a brilliant and dashing, though probably erratic, game of spectacular football with hair-raising and breathtaking thrillers as well as probable laugh-provoking fumbles. In contrast to the high degree of individual dash and ability coupled with a lack of co-operation that is expected from the Alumni, the Varsity will meet the attack not with outstanding individual stars but with a much more thoroughly disciplined teamwork and consistency.

Both sides seem confident of victory. The students as a whole, while rooting for the Varsity, are about evenly divided as to the probable outcome. At the present writing the only sure prediction is that the game will be intensely interesting and will long be remembered by every spectator who is interested in Elon sports.

All of the former Captains, since Elon resumed her football career in 1918—L. M. Canon, '21; Johnnie Johnson, '22; Hap Perry, '23; Jimmie Cameron, '24; and Mark McAdams, '24, have made definite arrangements to, as

FRESHMAN GIRLS ARE ENTERTAINED AT PARTY

Party Given by Miss Fleda Summers in Honor of Classmates in West
Dormitory.

Are we in it?
Well I guess—
Freshman, Freshman,
Yes—Yes—Yes.

Such was the feeling and sentiment expressed at a enjoyable party given last Wednesday evening, in Fleda Summers' room of West Dormitory. The celebration was held in honor of the Freshman girls of West Dormitory. The room was beautifully arranged and artistically decorated with several vases and bowls of late fall roses and with soft shaded lights.

Speeches and suggestions to be brought before the whole class at the next meeting were made during the first part of the evening.

Dainty refreshments were then served which consisted of sandwiches, cake, fruited punch and almonds.

The time of departure came too soon. After singing, with much pep and spirit, the beloved college song each guest left, happy in the thought that Elon College and the class of '28 surely were worth while.

DR. HARPER SPEAKS AT MEETING OF ENDEAVORS

Addresses Southeastern District Meeting at Fayetteville On "Our Youth Facing the Future."

The largest attended convention in the history of the Southeastern district of North Carolina Christian Endeavor came to a close at Fayetteville Sunday after an address by Dr. W. A. Harper. Dr. Harper's address was on "Our Youth Facing the Future" and was characterized by tremendous power and inspiration. He was heard by a congregation that filled the auditorium of the First Presbyterian church.

At the evening session a rousing good Christian Endeavor meeting was conducted by the Fayetteville intermediates with Tom Hill as leader. The officers elected Saturday were then installed and the resolutions committee made its report. A closing consecration service was conducted by Rev. S. K. Phillips, pastor of the Highland Presbyterian church, of this city, and the convention adjourned after singing "God be with you till we meet again."

In the afternoon the Junior Endeavors gave a splendid demonstration followed by a plea for the juniors by Mrs. W. H. Howell, of Wilmington, state leader for this branch of the work. Delegates then made one-minute reports on the best thing done by their societies, and Rev. Joel S. Snyder, pastor of the First Baptist church of Fayetteville addressed the convention on "How to Promote the Devotional Life."

The convention Sunday received telegraphic greetings from district societies meeting in Greensboro and Kansas City, Mo., these being the only other Christian Endeavor bodies now in session.

M. G. Wicker spent the week-end in Raleigh and Greensboro.

Y. W. C. A. GIRLS PRESENT GOOD PAGEANT SUNDAY

"A Word to the Y's" is Subject. Every
Character Plays Part Well
Before Large Audience.

The first pageant of the year, entitled, "A Word to the Y's" was presented here by the Y. W. C. A. Sunday evening in the Whitley Auditorium. Miss Mary Price made the address of welcome, and Miss Sallie Mae Oliver read the scripture. The pageant represented a part of the work carried on by the Y. W. C. A. for homeless and friendless working girls in the large cities. It is the purpose of the Y. W. C. A. to provide wholesome, clean recreation for these lonely girls, as most of them are. Miss Rose Howell read the story as the characters appeared. The last scene of the pageant showed the same girls, but with a happier attitude toward life ready to go on a picnic. They gathered in a group merrily singing "Follow the Gleam."

The characters were:

Hannah Homeless.....Lucy Dick
Jennie Jobless.....Estes Brookshire
Hattie and Hortense Healthless—the twins...Hannah Newman and Carrie Belle Kernodle.
Bertha Brainless.....Estelle Kelly
Susie Styleless.....Emma Morgan
Freda Friendless.....Elizabeth Hall
Priscilla Peppless.....Ruth Lyerly
The Nice Girl.....Thyra Wright
The Gym Teacher.....Chiyo Ito
The Man.....Judith Black
Those taking part in the pageant represented their respective characters well, and it was enjoyed by the audience.

PSYKALEONS RENDER AN INTERESTING PROGRAM

Judges Give Honors to Misses Watkins,
Alexander and Elder.

The Psykaleon Literary Society had the regular business session after which an interesting program followed:

Reading: "Mary Carey"—Mary Herbert Watkins. Mary Carey was a little orphan girl full of mischief which got her into trouble. Miss Watkins imitated a little girl very well.

Piano Solo, "Poet and Peasant"—Mabel Alexander. This was a good selection and very well rendered by Miss Alexander.

Story of "Abie's Irish Rose"—Thyra Wright. This was an exceedingly interesting paper in which Miss Wright told the life of Miss Nichols and her experience on the stage.

Poem, "The Book of Life"—Mary Price. The poem was read in a very pleasing manner.

"Current Events—Hattie Mae Pitt. This number was of interest to all, especially those who do not keep up with current events.

"To Vote or Not to Vote"—Susie Elder. In this essay Miss Elder impressed the society with the great responsibility the women of America have as voters.

"Humor"—Dessie Banks. The humorous selections were excellent and were enjoyed by all.

After much discussion the judges finally decided in favor of Misses Watkins, Alexander and Elder, as the best on the program.

THREE MORE FACULTY MEMBERS BECOME PHIS

Misses Nolan, Nelson and Newman Become Honorary Members of

The Philologist Literary Society gave a good program Thursday night, although brief.

The debate was postponed on account of many of the members rehearsing for the Thanksgiving program.

T. V. Huey won oratorical honors for the evening.

The Society added three more honorary members to its roll, Misses Katherine Nolan, Pauline Nelson and Lila Newman.

Miss Nolan, head of the Organ Department and one of the most popular new members of the faculty, comes from the New England Conservatory.

Miss Nelson came from teaching at Meredith to Elon. She is head of the Violin Department. She has won a place in the hearts of the students.

Miss Newman of Elon and Columbia, is head of the Fine Arts Department. She is well known and liked by all.

A MUSICAL PROGRAM IS GIVEN BY PSIPHELIANS

The Best Program That Has Been Given
This Year. Misses Martin, Horne
and White Receive Honorable Mention.

The Psiphelians held their regular meeting last Wednesday and after the business had been dispensed of a musical program was rendered to the delight and appreciation of the society members. It was as follows:

A Modern Singer, Mr. Bryson of New York City—Miss Ida Lewis Capps.

Miss Capps gave us many interesting facts about this young man who is rapidly winning fame in the north. Her paper was based on the preparation and the man's success, according to critics.

Piano Solo—Waltzing Doll—Alene McAdams.

This is a dainty little solo with a light, tinkling melody in the main theme. The second movement was low and resonant. Miss McAdams played well and the desired effect was perfectly attained.

Synopsis of Opera "The Bohemian Girl" by Michael William Balfe—Miss Bessie Martin. This is a story one never wearies of hearing especially when told so delightfully. The thrills of adventure and romance surrounding this story of noblemen and gypsies appeals to all. Miss Martin, in an excellently written paper, related the story of how Arline, the nobleman's daughter, was stolen by a band of gypsies and how she grew up among them and became their queen. Then years later her father discovers her identity but consternation reigns because Arline is in love with a gypsy. Happily he proves to be a nobleman of high rank and all ends well in spite of a gypsy queen's attempt to ruin Arline's happiness by having her accused of robbery.

Musical Reading, "A Voice From a Far Country"—Lillie Horn.

This is the story of how through the labor and economy of her aged parents an only child has become a famed singer. She is in Paris and as her birthday draws near her parents miss her more than ever. At last the day arrives and it snows. The two old people are very much disappointed because they do not receive a letter from Milly. Instead there is a big box. After guessing whether it is a sewing machine or some other equally useful gift the box is opened. The old folks do not know what it is but the accompanying directions call it a phonograph. Following these directions they presently hear a glorious voice which fills the room with
