MAROON AND GOLD TEAM GETS SHORT END OF SCORE IN TWO GAMES WITH CAROLINA TEAMS

and Hill did mound duty for them and performed very effectively.

GUILFORD GAME

When the Christian diamond men essayed to give battle to their ancient rival, Guilford, on Comer Field, Monday afternoon, hitting again seemed to be the order of the day. This time the hits were not all garnered by the enemy. Guilford registered 15 hits and Elon 14. From the very first it was clearly seen that Guilford had a lien on the top end of the score. The game was ragged and errors were well sprinkled over the box score, from the first inning to the last. Two sensational catches were made, one by "Bill" Lindley and one by Guilford's left fielder. A high wind was very troublesome throughout the entire game. This swept across a dusty field and almost continually kept a cloud of dust in the fielders faces.

Although the game was ragged throughout, it was interesting and except for lulls in the excitement the crowded grandstand was kept in a continuous uproar. A bit of diversion was furnished at an exciting part of the game, when an automobile caught on fire right behind the grandstand. The car's top was burned before the fire could be extinguished.

REPORTER INTERVIEWS STAFF OF 1925 ANNUAL

iveness of the work will secure contracts for them.

Not only the introductory pages but also the Book Division pages are attractively decorated and carry out the general scheme of the book—local color. They also harmonize with a color scheme never before used in an Elon annual. They contain, not only exterior views of our new campus, but interior views of our modern buildings.

Another innovation of the 1925 Staff is the plan of placing the name, address and outstanding achievements of EACH student in accompaniment with his photograph. These are so arranged that there is no possible way of mistaking names. The Staff is confident that this system will be of inestimable worth to the owner of a 1925 Phippsidi.

Many views, shot from points hitherto unoccupied by any human photographer, will delight the students and in after years refresh the memories of those shady nooks on their Alma Mater's lawns. The fly leaves of the book are decorated in a manner not even present in the dreams of former Staffs. Action is featured by the athletic and snap-shot sections.

At this point the reporter deftly approached the Business Manager about the financial situation. He evaded a reply but at the same time a cloud of despondency gathered quickly over his forehead. It is therefore the opinion of the reporter that some of the students, through their neglect, have brought pessimism upon the usual sunny disposition of the Business Manager. Through utmost caution the following statement was drawn from the despondent Business Manager, "Unless the students are more responsive and thus enable us to meet the necessary payments within the next few days the book can not be delivered May 1st as we had planned."

Just here, one of the reticent members of the Staff interrupted, "Ah, but we are about to give you too much advance information." Whereupon the reporter replied, "No indeed, you are reserving the main interests for your final surprises."

MUSIC PUPILS RENDER INTERESTING PROGRAM

Pupils of Misses Berkley and Fielding Take Part in a Public Recital.

A voice and piano recital was held last Friday afternoon in the college chapel, pupils of Misses Berkley and Fielding participating.

These pupils acquitted themselves in a splendid way. Especially good were the selections rendered by David B. Harrell, "Ballet Music," by Palaschino, "Out on the Deep," by Lohr, sung by Leon Williams, and a trio by Bruce Cates, Jewel and Sallie Higgins, "Lift Thine Eyes," Mendelssohn, and "Mr. Mocking Bird" by Hohn.

Other students who took part were Helen Barney, Elizabeth Barney, Louise Jones, Frances Deviney and Alyse Smith.

The program was ended by a chorus of voices, in which the teachers took part, in two numbers "Soloeig's Song" by Grieg, and "Narcissus," by Nevin.

This was one of the many student recitals which have been given this year and like the others, was a presentation of some of the highest class music. These recitals represent much preparation on the part of the pupils. They serve a dual purpose. They give the teacher an opportunity to see what progress her pupils have made and give the pupils an opportunity to become used to appearing before the public.

ELON DEBATING TEAM DIVIDES HONORS WITH LENOIR-RHYNE IN INTERCOLLEGIATE CONTEST

lowed to pass more laws, by amending the constitution.

The negative centered its attack around its contention that the proposed amendment would be granting too much power to congress, and that such power was not needed to remedy any child labor evil which might exist in the county. If we are to take the decisions at both ends of the line as proof that the affirmative was all wrong then we can all feel sure that the states acted wisely in refusing to pass favorably on the proposed amendment.

The debate was hotly contested and proved to be one of the most interesting to be held here this year. It is thought by some that interest in things of this kind had, to a great extent died down, but the general interest which was manifest Friday night leads one to believe that there is a live interest, on the part of the student body.

We are sorry that we could not win at both places, but since we didn't, there is a good bit of satisfaction in knowing that we beat them as bad as they beat us.

PHILOLOGIAN PROGRAM ONE OF GREAT INTEREST

which have kept that English author so popular.

Following Mr. Thompson M. G. Wicker gave a very interesting as well as edifying account of the origin and development of the banjo. Mr. Wicker said he was afraid to speak of the "evolution" of the banjo for someone might think Darwin had something to do with it. So he spoke of its development, tracing it from its ancestor, a crude noise maker, to the present form which in the hands of an artist is a real musical instrument.

Allen Walker told of his activities as Captain of class teams. Mr. Walker gave a very interesting and concise review of the College's intra-mural sports this past year and what they meant to the College. "Intra-mural sports are worthy additions to the College life and Physical Training Department," says Walker, "and they should be carried on in other branches besides basketball. They will help in all lines of athletics in which they can be developed in a student body of this size."

The debate for the evening, Resolved that Cotton and Tobacco should be marketed thru co-operative associations, was won by the affirmative. Vickers was adjudged the best speaker on the Affirmative and Gordon best on Negative. An especially noticeable feature of the program was the improvement in the new men in both preparation and delivery of their numbers.

Makes Autos Go 49 Miles On Gallon of Gasoline

An amazing new device has been perfected by James A. May, of 7025 Lacotah Bldg., Sioux Falls, So. Dak., that cuts down gas consumption, removes all carbon, prevents spark plug trouble and overheating. Many cars have made over 49 miles on a gallon. Any one can install it in five minutes. Mr. May wants agents and is offering to send one free to one auto owner in each locality. Write him today.
