CLOSING THE VOLUME

With this issue of Maroon and Gold we close the present volume of our paper. It is with regret that we arrive at the end of another year. Our work for the most part has been a pleasure that only those connected with it were able to enjoy. Sometimes our work was hard, but through the love for our little publication we stuck and did the best that we could.

The issue marks the close of another year, but not the end of the Maroon and Gold. Next year and other years are to follow, and in that time we hope to see the Maroon and Gold keep pace with the college and develop into one of the best, if not the best college papers in the state. The present staff will have charge of the paper next year and we hope to give our readers news that will keep them in touch with the happenings here and also elsewhere. The staff the past year has endeavored to publish those things that would be of interest to the students and also to the outsiders who read our paper. We have tried to improve upon the issues, whether we have made any progress or not is hard to say. The support of the students and the faculty has been pleasing; and we deeply appreciate all that they have contributed. If this support continues, and grows as it should grow, Maroon and Gold should be a wonderful success.

VACATION IS HERE.

Just two more weeks and all will be over for the year 1924-25. Vacation time will be here. The Maroon and Gold wishes each of its readers a most happy vacation. We wish that the Maroon and Gold could still go to you as usual, but the paper will also take a vacation. However the Maroon and Gold will be probably the first to greet your return next fall and we hope that it will be better than ever. Happy vacation to everyone.

The Maroon and Gold made much of the fact recently that the social season for the year was completed. According to reports that came from the vicinity of the power house Saturday night there was another general winding up of the gay social season, that every spring makes its appearance on our campus. The only thing that was lacking at the Plumbers Ball was girls. Everything else that goes to make up a complete good time was very much in evidence.

One of the features of the evening was a prize that was to be given to the best clog dancer. When this was announced many faces radiated joy and seemed to say that the owner of those faces anticipated the winning of the prize. But when the Ossipee Cuban began gyrating around the floor all hopes of successful competition were gone. In fact the contest lasted no longer than he did. Jim Utley made a few passes at competition but he it said for him that he recognized his master in the gentle art of stirring up dust on the floor. It was rumored that Vickers was fully capable of upholding the reputation of his state along this line, but he didn't attempt it.

It seems as if this issue should be merely a shout of joy on the part of the staff. A year's work is completed. Paul said that he had run a good race and finished the course. The staff has run a good race but has not finished the course.

—O—

It is rumored that our tennis team played the team from the Greensboro Country Club Saturday afternoon, but what we read in the paper is all we have heard about it. Well, we don't suppose that Napoleon had much to say about the little scrap he had at Waterloo.

—M—

We have heard that "Pussyfoot" was beginning to fear that his record as a water tosser was about to be eclipsed, so to prevent this serious disaster he started a petition among the boys to stop throwing the bagged liquid. A splendid idea Pussyfoot, but your motive is too thinly veiled.

—S—

Barnyard Golf seems to be growing in popularity. But that is easily explained. The boys are getting warmed up to the barnyard before the summer's session begins. We believe that fathers would appreciate it if the college would give a week's course in the art of trailing behind a plow, sometime before school is out.

ATHLETICS AT ELON FOR THE PAST YEAR WERE CONDUCTED WITH SUCCESS WITH NEW MEN

In basketball we will lose only one letter man and when we stop and consider the fact that never has there been a basketball team in the State that developed so rapidly as ours of last season and, add to this the fact that there will be among the new men some basketball material of quality we can, with real pleasure and anticipation look to the coming basketball season.

The baseball season is just over and the results of the season and the several games are very fresh in our minds. We did not win many games it is true. We played very bad baseball at times. Consider the greenness of the men and it is not surprising. It would have been much more surprising had the season resulted differently. But the best feature of the entire season is the fact that the entire team will return or should return for next year and add to this fact that we know that there will be some baseball material among the new men coming to Elon in the fall.

We can look forward with much pleasure to our Athletics next year. Coach Corboy makes no bones about predicting that next year will be one well worth looking forward to. It is a known fact that he wants to give some of the teams that defeated ours in the past year some of the same sort of medicine that we were forced to take this year.

Let us at this time decide that we are coming back in the fall with a renewed energy and determination to make not only our Athletics, but our College and everything connected with it the best ever and add to it until it shall be famed throughout the entire South as one of the outstanding institutions.

MRS. BLANCHE SUMMERS COBB

in the hour of her life's finest and best achievements, when faith in Christ had come to its highest, this devoted wife and mother was called to her eternal reward. At the conclusion of the service the remains were tenderly laid to rest in the church burying ground near by and there await the resurrection summons from on high.

This space is ungrudgingly dedicated to the following:

1. Students who, during the year, have had something to hand in and have failed to do so.
2. Organizations who have failed to hand in write ups in good shape and on time.
3. Faculty members who have failed to co-operate in the above manner.
4. Friends who have failed to patronize our advertisers.
5. Students who never read the editorials.
6. Kickers who do not know how to boost.
7. Kickers who know how to boost.
8. Kickers in general.
9. Alumni who have failed to pay the small fee which was requested of them.
10. And to a greater and better paper, school and spirit next year, to be brought about by more co-operation from students, faculty, alumni, and friends.
