 STAGE ANNUAL ENTERTAINMENT

pretation of the story. It was, in fact, very realistic.
 E. M. Chandler, E. F. Knight, M. A. Nethery, C. P. Thompson and J. E. Watts were principals in a sketch, "Swimming Pools." The action took place around a typical camp fire and represents a tramp who suddenly fell in love, told his fellow tramps about his experiences and then got into all kinds of difficulties because he desired to come straight with all that he had done for his love's sake. While all are to be commended for the excellent way they rendered their parts, Chandler was the probable star in the sketch. The sketch proved a clever hit and received much applause.

To conclude, J. Paul McNeill took his audience for a stroll into "spookland." Speaking on Superstition and Ghosts, he held the interest of his hearers at all times. With all lights out save the spotlight, which played on the speaker, the audience could not choose but get the ghost idea. Then at the final moment of the performance when he slipped through the curtains and was gone while all lights for a second were out, that familiar creepy feeling came stealing over the audience.

year, Kelly, Goebel, and Bock. Beside the six letter men, Coach Walker will also have five of last year's second team to call upon. Branner, McNeill, Fowler, F. Caddell and Clark.

Some of the new men who are expected to show up well are: Zeigler, Moser, Regan, R. Smith, H. Briggs, Hamrick, Yorkievitz, Walker, Cook and others. No doubt several men who are not now known as basketball players to the coach and students will be discovered after practice begins because more than forty men are expected to answer to the call as candidates for the varsity squad.

IF YOU HAD $10,000

If you were given a large sum of money, you would ask the advice of business men and try to think as clearly as possible about the best way to invest it. Your powers of body, mind, and spirit really are a finer capital than any amount of riches. Are you considering what is the best way you can invest them?

"X Ray."

DR. T. C. AMICK ATTENDS MEETING OF COLLEGES

December 2nd to the fourth. He is scheduled to conduct three faculty conferences for professors of the various institutions of Kentucky, dealing with the general problem of "Character Building in Colleges," and to deliver an address to a mass meeting of professors and students on Saturday evening, December 3rd, using as his subject at that time, "Christ and the College man."

Psykaleons

On last Monday evening at the regular time the Psykaleons held their meeting. After a short business session it was voted that the program for the evening be postponed until next regular meeting in order that new members might be in. Misses Johnny Sharp and Rachael Johnston were initiated at this meeting and their names added to the following list of girls who joined the society two weeks ago: Elizabeth Carper, Rowland, N. C.; Irma Maniele, Summerfield, N. C.; Alma Kimball, Manson, N. C.; Moyd Fite, Charlotte; Ruth Ruston, Dover, Del.; Eugenia Grubb, Greensboro, N. C.; Mary Cox, Waverly, Va.; Lily Rae, Hillsboro, N. C.; Idell Jones, Sunbury, N. C.; Ruth Purser, Garner, N. C.; Ola Pitchford, Oxford, N. C.; Virginia Harden, Elon College, N. C.; Ruth Stephens, Ruffin, N. C. The Psykaleon society feels fortunate in getting these members and is very glad to see so many girls taking an interest in society. They will help a great deal, and it is hoped that the society will help them.

Clio

The Clio Literary Society diverted from its regular program in that it had no debate. The program was made up entirely of literary topics. Mr. Robertson opened the program with a well thought out discussion on "My Duty As An American Citizen." Mr. R. E. Brittle discussed the apparent conflict between religion and science. He brought out the fact that there is no conflict between religion and science, but that religion takes a thing as a fact while science seeks to prove it. Mr. Carrow, one of our new men, showed up exceptionally well. The judges pronounced him the best speaker on the entire program. He discussed the question of the success of our football team. Mr. Rodriguez gave an interesting report on the subject of Christmas in Cuba. Mr. "Chop Suey" Williams seems to have a knack for discovering old poems that tell of the good old days. Mr. Rakestraw and Mr. Gunn are two new men who made a decided impression on the society in their initial appearance on the program. Mr. Rakestraw gave his impressions of Elon, and Mr. Gunn gave his idea of the duties of a freshman.

Philologists

There are four Philologists who in all probability have appeared on the annual entertainment program of the Philologist Literary Society for the last time. On Thanksgiving Day, November 24, 1927, these men were prominent members of the program and were instrumental in making it the success that it really was. Nor does their worth to the society they represent end here. During the three and half years they have been at Elon they have, without exception, been of inestimable value to their society and have been loyal and worthy members. But now they are Seniors. While they yet have a brief literary career here, so far as the annual entertainment of their society is concerned they have passed on. The society regrets to lose such splendid men from its active membership, but it is glad that they are sure to fill worthy places elsewhere.

The men are: Paul G. Hook, Public program of Philologist Literary Society 1925-26-27. Philologist Commencement Orator, 1927.

Eugene Watts, Public program Philologist Literary Society, 1924-'27.

J. R. Walker, Public program Philologist Literary Society, 1926-'27.

J. Paul McNeill, Public program Philologist Literary Society, 1926-'27. Philologist Commencement Orator, 1927.

"Slats": I believe I'll change my name to Minutes Walker.

Jim: What for?

"Slats": Well, they say minutes always pass.
