The older students of Elon welcomed Mrs. Janet B. Kirkland, former dietitian here, back for a brief visit to the college, Thursday of last week. Mrs. Kirkland was well liked by both the student body and the faculty. She visited us to attend the basketball game of the Freshman team with the Oxford High School team, where her son, Gordon Kirkland, a graduate of Elon, is now coach.

Elon has many loyal Alumni friends in Eastern Virginia. They have always taken a vital interest in the college affairs. Their present activity is evidenced by the fact that they will hold an Eastern Virginia Alumni Association banquet at Hotel Elliot, Suffolk, Va., on the night of February 19. J. G.

Truitt is president and Mrs. Anna Staley Calhoun is secretary.

Mr. M. S. Patrick and Miss Lucile Johnson are sponsoring an Elon Alumni Association in High Point, N. C. They report that their work is going along nicely and they intend to organize an association in the near future.

Christian education and has expressed himself emphatically as in favor of the very ideals for which Elon stands. As a youth he was taught in a Sunday School of the Christian Church by the mother of a playmate of his who has since become a minister of the Christian Church, Rev. W. J. Hall. The president knows the spirit of the Christian Church at first hand, and if he can possibly accept the invitation in justice to his official duties, we are encouraged to believe that he will do so. In the meanwhile, all the college will be anxiously awaiting the president's decision and hoping that he will find it possible to accept.

DR. BOONE ORGANIZES ALUMNI ASSOCIATION AT RALEIGH

At Raleigh in the United Church on the evening of February 3rd. the first Alumni Association to be organized under the representative plan which is being advocated by Dr. W. H. Boone, president of the General Alumni Association, came into being. Fifty-two persons sat down at a banquet which began at 6:30 and lasted until 10:00. It was an enthusiastic meeting from beginning to end and the cause of Elon was greatly advanced by the fine spirit that animated every one who was present. John P. Swain was elected president; Mrs. D. B. Bryan, vice-president; Mrs. C. C. Johnston, secretary, and George A. Isley, treasurer. These four officers together with W. L. Anderson, Foster D. Finch and Harold W. Johnson constitute the Executive Committee. The General Alumni President, Dr. W. H. Boone, was present and served as organizer. Addresses were made by Dr. W. H. Boone, George D. Colclough, Rev. Stanley C. Harrell, Dr. W. C. Wicker and President Harper, in addition to those who were representatives of the local Alumni. It was a fine meeting and great good will came out of it. We congratulate Dr. Boone on this fine work.

lectual life, finding something to think about in books, arts, letters and people. There are fewer in this class than are in the first class. This group is curious to know everything that comes their way. There are not enough two-story men.

The three-story men are men who let in light from above and let out the mysteries of the soul. This group contains men of intellectual outlook and spiritual insight. Three-story men differ from two-story men by having skylights. The five indications of fundamental insights are: God, freedom, immortality, gratitude, and reverence. He declared that there is nothing that we can explain without God. God is a good working hypothesis for all workings of life. Responsibility goes with freedom. Immortality is life everlasting. You can measure men by gratitude. In Dante's Inferno, the lowest circle of Hell was reserved for ingrates. Many people have no sense of gratitude. Some men use their home like a pig uses his "sty" to eat, sleep and grunt in. We should be grateful in our business relations, to our neighbors, to the state and church. Irreverence is a distressing sign of our civilization.

Those who missed hearing Dr. Branson missed a rare treat. He was one of the most forcible speakers that has ever appeared at Elon.

The Association of North Carolina College Teachers of Education was organized about two years ago. Its chief purpose is the bringing together of persons from various sections of the state, who are engaged in the same work, for the purpose of discussing problems pertaining to greater efficiency in teacher training. Although not affiliated with any other organization, it is interested in every movement which tends to bring about greater efficiency in the field of education. Dr. John H. Cook of North Carolina College for Women, is the President.
