SENIORS WIN INTER-CLASS CHAMPIONSHIP

Inter-Class Basketball Was Played in a Spirit of Keen Rivalry.

Dan Long "Hawkeye" Newman Was Our Leading Factor For The Class of '29.

(By H. S. Shepherd)

Hey! there, ye fans of all sportdom: why don't you wake up? What's wrong with you, anyway? Here you've been browsing around all this time and don't even know what it's all about yet! Come on now and get your heads together. Watch out—watch out for the Seniors! Know what they've done? You don't, hey? Why, they've gone and turned the world upside down. You knew that, though, I suppose; for you felt the jar,—that awful terrorizing shock when this great whirling mass changed its orbit so abruptly. And now we'll take an unbiased peep at the situation just as we find it. The Seniors—hurrah! boys. Why, they're on top of the blooming thing, sailing along through space perfectly contented and seemingly no worse off for the terrible struggle which has ensued.

And you Freshmen, you Sophomores, you Juniors: who told you that you could play BASKETBALL, anyway? I'd try and find out, if I were you, and murder him sure. Don't let him get away with it; that's one of the most diabolical conspiracies of modern times. You had no chance at all of winning—not from the Seniors. Of course, there's no great harm done, as yet, I suppose; except that you fellows are lounging and plundering around underneath this old ball while the Seniors occupy a very dignified position above you. You're

ECONOMICS CLUB HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

A very interesting meeting of the Economics Club was held last Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

Royal Watson, the first speaker, took as his topic, "Business Opportunities in the South." Watson showed he had spent considerable time in preparation and brought out several good points concerning the many opportunities offered by the South, to manufacturers especially.

Stroud Brooks next spoke on the topic, "George Washington, as a Business Man." Brooks was well prepared on his subject and proved to the Club that George Washington was an unusually good business man as well as a natural born leader.

The next speaker was J. W. Van Hook, whose topic was, "Our Tax System Needs Revising." Van Hook explained that in such a rapid spending nation as the United States we would be forced to revise our tax system;

PI KAPPA TAU WINS COVETED LOVING CUP

Miss Ettie Harvey Received Trophy, Which Was Presented by Dean Hook.

First Sorority To Receive This Honor.

It has been the custom of the Social Committee to present a Loving Cup to the Sorority or Fraternity having the highest average for one semester.

Dean Hook presented the cup at the chapel service on Monday with the thought that just because it was called a loving cup, it was not a signal for loving when one saw it in a particular social room.

Pi Kappa Tau, a sorority having an average of 85.48, received the cup. Miss Ettie Harvey accepted the cup. This was the first sorority to receive the cup.

The averages are:

| | |
|---------------------|-------|
| Pi Kappa Tau | 85.48 |
| Kappa Psi Nu | 83.23 |
| Tau Zeta Phi | 83.00 |
| Beta Omicron Beta | 82.95 |
| Alpha Pi Delta | 82.83 |
| Delta Upsilon Kappa | 81.61 |
| Iota Tau Kappa | 78.10 |

TRAVELING SECRETARY OF STUDENT VOLUNTEER MOVEMENT MAKES TALK

Miss Gould Wants to Know—"Are You Shut in by Campus Walls, or Can You See Men, Women, and Children at Work and Play on the Other Side of the World?"

"How big is the world you are living in?" Are you shut in by the campus walls, or can you see men, women, and children at work and play on the other side of the world? Such was the note sounded by Miss Olive Gould in her chapel talk on last Friday morning. Miss Gould has had five years experience as a missionary in India. She presented the viewpoint of the Indian and of the Oriental. With them she says that American customs, American inventions, and American wealth do not make American superior to the West. Americans are just brothers to those who live in the East. The interest of the Orient in America is matched by American interest in the Orient. The

CLIO LITERARY SOCIETY WILL STAGE PROGRAM

February 22 is Known as Clio Day at Elon.

February 22 is Clio day. It is a day when everything is turned over to the Clio Literary Society, and the society members hope every one has a wonderful time on that day. Social privileges, banquet, and entertainment are some of the features of the day.

The society is working on a program that it hopes will be the best ever given since literary programs have come in vogue. It is to be of a light, serious, amusing—well, in fact everything in variety—boredom eliminated.

It is a celebration of the birth of the Father of our Country also. George Washington's virtues as well as his misdeeds will be proclaimed from the platform. The Clios hope every old Clio will come back for Clio Day. In fact, they hope every Elonite will be here for that day of days in Clio history. You are welcome; you are wanted.

POPULARITY CONTEST TO BE SPONSORED BY CLASS OF '29

There comes a time each year to stage a superlative contest. That time is at hand. It is the desire of this Senior staff which is putting out the Senior issue, to sponsor a contest of this type.

Every student should give his or her whole hearted co-operation in voting on these superlatives, to make it really effective. There are a long list of superlatives; but only six have been chosen.

This feature contest will be a big

STUDENTS SIGNIFY DESIRE FOR BUDGET SYSTEM

Unanimous Support Was Given To Annual For Class Dues.

From the animated support given in the recent vote on student class dues for annual, it seems as if the art of begging is "going on the hog."

Every year the student is confronted, by the heads of the different organizations on the campus, for contributions. It would be a very progressive stroke on the part of the student body to have the heads of the various extra curricular departments meet and draw up a budget covering all phases of extra-curricular student expenditures for the coming school year.

It would be ideal to come to school and not have so many requests and supplications for donations confronting one throughout the year. It would make it possible for these different departments to function more effectively. It would make each student more appreciative; for when a person spends his hard earned money he wants to get value received.

STUDENTS FAILED TO RETURN, AND NEW STUDENTS OF SPRING TERM

Thirty-six regular students of Fall term 1928 failed to matriculate in 1929, and 11 new students decided to cast their lot with Elon for the remainder of school year.

The following new students have entered for the second semester:

Howard Briggs, Elizabeth Davis, Franklin Folger, Numa Franks, Annie Lucille Green, Andrew Harrell, George Kelly, Robert McLeod, Luther A. Nall, Lucy Painter, Lloyd T. Smith.

THANKS, JUNIORS

It is with a great deal of pleasure that we, the Seniors of '29, accept the invitation of the Juniors to dine with them February 27. After all, the Juniors are a pretty decent lot. They are stepping up a step this year, and will next year occupy our place on the stairs. Thanks, Juniors; we are looking forward to February 27 with a great deal of pleasure.

The Seniors.

SAINT VALENTINE OUR HEART GOES OUT TO YOU FOR YOU MADE SOME HAPPY

On February fourteenth 270 A. D., the maker of happy hearts, St. Valentine, was beheaded. Claudius, The Cruel, then consul of Italy, was in the throes of bloody combats and required many warriors for his battles. This necessitated the parting of loved ones, and to ease the sorrow, St. Valentine secretly married these Roman Gladiators to their sweethearts against the orders of Claudius, who caused him to be beheaded. Claudius must have figured that it was a double sorrow; hence the rashness of his act.

To commemorate the memory of this saintly priest, the Christian world set aside February fourteenth, and called it the "Feast of the Lupercal," which later became known as Valentine's day.

In the early era, this day was celebrated by placing all the names of the village maidens in a box, and having every gallant draw one of the maiden's names. He then became her benefactor for the ensuing year. This custom of celebration evolved through many changes, and up to our present time, we have our parties of "piecing hearts" and mailing friendly and endearing valentines.

SAINT VALENTINE'S DAY WILL BE CELEBRATED IN GYMNASIUM TONIGHT

Tonight, the Gymnasium will be a scene of much activity, and every student should exert his utmost to make merry the occasion. There will be the restoring of broken hearts, and the piecing up of shattered ones. Many new hearts will be made to proudly flutter as one.

The Social Clubs on the hill have agreed to pull off some stunts for an added attraction. There will be much activity to commemorate our dear old St. Val, who gave his life with the expressed purpose of making people happy. It might be added that in this age of commercialized marriages if old St. Val. knew of the numerous kinds of divorcees, he would turn over in his grave.
