

CHRISTIANS DEFEAT QUAKERS IN FAST GAME 41-19

Guilford Fails to Score a Field Goal in Last Half.

ANCIENT Foe BEATS QUAKERS BY LARGE SCORE.

Parker is High Point Man; F. Caddell is Next.

The Elon quintet led by its diminutive captain, George Kelly, got off to a flying start in its first encounter with Little Six competition by administering a 41-19 drubbing to the Guilford College basketballers. The defeat meant a severe setback to Guilford's chances for the Little Six basketball championship, and a corresponding one in Elon's prospect. The Elon quintet were out to avenge the 13-7 football defeat handed them earlier in the season by the Quaker institution. Their revenge was complete.

During the first half Elon took the lead and was never headed during the game, although the score was tied several times. The passing was rather erratic, but this was due somewhat to the swiftness of play on both sides. Each team was fighting its hardest, and it was a nip and tuck affair throughout the initial half, which ended 16-14 with Elon on the big end of the horn.

The local team came out after the half fresh and with an unconquerable fighting spirit. It was not to be denied for long. It gradually but surely drew away from the frantically fighting Quaker quintet. The Quakers registered nary a field goal during the final period, chalking up a total of five points, all of which were free throws, which speaks well for the guarding of the Elonite basketballers. Eleven of the Quakers 19 points were foul goals made good leaving them a total of only 4 goals registered from the field under fire.

The Walker men, however, registered a total of 19 field goals, and only three charity chunks were made good.

The playing was fast and furious throughout, and all the Elonite basketballer brigade engaged in the basketshooting melee. Nash Parker, lanky guard, led the scorers with ten points, all field goals as his share. Fred Caddell came next with a contribution of nine points, 4 field goals and a charity chunk. Briggs scored eight points, while Rollins and "Shipwreck" Kelly divided twelve points equally between them. The other two points were chalked up beside Zac Walker's name.

Alley, Guilford guard, was high point man for the losers with seven points. Christholm and Yelverton, Quaker Captain, located the hoop for two pairs of points each. Stout and Cobb, the former with 3 and the latter 1 point rounded

(Continued on Page 3)

ELON'S BASKETBALL PROSPECTS ARE BRIGHT

ELON'S BASKETBALL PROSPECTS ARE BRIGHT

Captain Kelly, Rollins, Parker, F. Caddell, and Briggs will constitute the main starting line-up, with Moses Caddell and "Zac" Walker slated to see action when substitutions are made.

This team is composed of North Carolina boys entirely. Captain Kelly is a Durham boy, Briggs from Greensboro, Rollins from Kannapolis, Parker from Erwin, and Caddell a local Elon College boy.

ALUMNI NOTES

Geoffrey Fix, '23, was on the hill for a few minutes during the past week.

Dr. C. W. McPherson, Burlington, N. C., was here to see his Alma Mater walloped Guilford in the first college game of the year.

Mr. C. W. Elder, '25, was on the hill during the past week.

Mr. "Tobe" Crutchfield, '28, was here for the Guilford and Elon game. Tobe was one of Elon's consistent players while a student here. He is now coach of the Biscoe H. S.

THE 1930 ELON COLLEGE BASKETBALL VARSITY TEAM

DR. HARPER ADDRESSES MINISTERIAL STUDENTS

"The Ministerial Student" was the topic discussed by Dr. Harper at a meeting of the young preachers Friday night. He opened his address by stating that it was the first time he had ever had the privilege of speaking to such a group in his history of his Presidency of Elon.

He spoke from his experience and that of others who had had contacts with Ministerial Students.

The essence of his speech was as follows:

THE MINISTERIAL STUDENT

The young minister in College occupies a very delicate situation. He is human like the rest of us, and yet because he has answered the call of God to his heart by dedicating himself to the Christian Ministry the eyes of his fellow students are fastened upon him. Conduct in his case, which would be readily condoned, even if it did not pass unnoticed in others, will subject him to rigorous criticism.

I have been connected now officially with this college for 25 years, and I have observed the ministerial students very sympathetically. They have had a hard road to travel, and in these latter years the road is harder even than it was when I was an under-graduate in this college myself.

The fact, however, that Elon has produced 107 ministers out of 752 graduates is certainly a fine tribute to the college; and when we consider the type of men these ministers have been, this fine fact is splendid testimony as to the fundamental goodness of human nature.

I wish to state rather briefly now a few of the characteristics which I think a ministerial student should exemplify in order to be influential with his fellow students. These characteristics are based upon 25 years of professional experience, as I have said, and five years here as a preparatory and college student, and they are as follows:

- (1) Open mindedness; (2) Broad mind-

(Continued on Page 4)

GIRLS IN WEST DORM. ENTERTAINED

Dean Savage Sponsors "Candy Pulling."

"All the girls in the dining room at 8:30." These words were given out on second and third floors of West Dormitory. On hearing them, the girls were spell bound. They couldn't imagine what or, earth had happened. Several questions such as: "Who's giving the party?" "What are we going to do?" "What do we wear?" were handed around. It was found out that Dean Savage was at the bottom of it all.

Promptly at 8:30, all the girls went tramping down to the kitchen amid much merriment. Upon reaching their destination, they were greeted by Dean Savage, Miss Craig, Mother King, Mrs. Johnson, and Miss Chandler. Then they were directed to the butter dish. After fingers (also arms) were greased to perfection, every four or five girls were given a platter of "hot" candy to be pulled. Then came the fun!! Burnt fingers were not even considered then, but oh! Afterwards, after about an hour of brisk pulling, the candy was transformed into whiteness. After the candy had hardened enough, and was cut, came the best time of all: eating. Everyone wanted to sample everyone else's candy. Every piece that was tasted was said to be the "best I have ever tasted."

Finally, the girls reluctantly, bid Dean Savage a hearty good-night, vowing they had never had such a good time at a "candy-pulling."

The home of Harold T. Libby, Portland, Me., seems likely to become a mecca for burglars. Six youth recently charged with having robbed his house, are now spending a vacation at a camp—at the invitation and expense of Libby, who asked the court to dismiss them.

SOCIAL FRATERNITIES BID STUDENTS

17 Girls and 16 Boys Accept Bids.

Well, well, as the monkey says "It's off now." And with its passing has come the realization of ambitions and dreams to many, while to the less fortunate it probably meant blasted hopes. Anyway, be an optimist and say with the poet:

"I build my castles in the air,
They go up in smoke,
But I don't care."

The bids went out Saturday nite at twelve o'clock, which of course was the climax to the days, weeks and months of "rushing." Then came morning after this nite of nites!

But here's how it came out.

B. O. B.

Moyde Fite, Charlotte, N. C.
Margaret Stokes, Burlington, N. C.
Iris Dorsett, Burlington, N. C.
Helen Horner, Burlington, N. C.
Elizabeth Horner, Burlington, N. C.

DELTA UPSILON KAPPA

Elizabeth Bowen, Merry Hill, N. C.
Lucy Caddell, Elon College, N. C.
Irene Ring, Edgingburg, Va.
Mary Sue Rawls, Suffolk, Va.
Selma Walters, Burlington, N. C.

PI KAPPA TAU

"Peggy" Secrete, Thomasville, N. C.
Pauline Brown, Burlington, N. C.
Edith Corbett, Rocky Point, N. C.
Mary Hinshaw, Burlington, N. C.

TAU ZETA PHI

Elizabeth Sharpe, Waverly, Va.
Margaret Watkins, Reidsville, N. C.
Katie Pierce, Sunbury, N. C.

Then the Boys:

I. T. K.

"Pete" Williams, Westpoint, Ga.
Haie Duncan, Siler City, N. C.
K. B. Dofflemyers, Ekton, Va.
Wilkes Lowe, Elon College, N. C.
Johnson, Elon College, N. C.
Zeb Harrington, Moncure, N. C.

SIGMA PHI BETA

Robert McLoren, Williford, N. C.
Don Steed, Candor, N. C.
C. C. Howell, Jacksonville, Fla.
E. L. Moffit, Jr., Asheboro, N. C.

ALPHA PI DELTA

J. C. Spivey, Sanford, N. C.
W. H. Ford, Danville, Va.
H. A. Smith, Brown Summit, N. C.
N. P. Franks, Fuquay Springs, N. C.

KAPPA PSI NU

C. T. McLoud, Norfolk, Va.
Wallace King, Raleigh, N. C.
We thank you.

PROFESSORS WHITE AND BARNEY SPEAK AT CHAPEL

Professor White's chapel talk of last Wednesday was centered about the thought "the greatest thing on earth is love." This is true of everyone. Not everyone can be an artist or a great musician, but love is universal in its application to all mankind.

Love has done more for the world than has any other single factor. What is the one thing that can bring about a warless world? What sent us to college? What keeps us here? What was necessary besides money to build this institution? What will give it the last money in its support? Love is the answer to every question.

Love does not behave unseemly—rather it makes us kind, courteous. All books on manners go for naught unless we have love. Love is sustaining; it endures and bears all things. Often times our failures in various enterprises may be attributed to the fact that we lack love. There is one test we may put ourselves to determine if love is a part of us. The test of love, from the Christians standpoint, is to love our enemies.

Friday morning, January 10, Professor Barney addressed the student body at chapel using as the basis of his talk "Are you 'in' or 'of'—or have you said goodbye?"

Have you ever been alone among strangers, perhaps at Elon? Were you ever

(Continued on Page 4)

GREATER ELON DAY APPROACHES

Saturday, January 18, marks the seventh anniversary of the fire at Elon. That terrible conflagration destroyed much, but out of the ashes came a new and better Elon. The new buildings, the up-to-date and efficient equipment are ample compensation for the loss sustained then.

In remembrance of the occasion the day has been set apart as a holiday. The Psykaleon Literary Society has charge of the evening's entertainment for the coming holiday. As their program is to be a Gypsy presentation it promises to be a novel change from the customary program.

BANQUET DATES SET AT MEETING

Pi Kappa Tau First.

The Pan-Hellenic Council met on January 6, to decide on dates for the annual social club banquets.

The "chance" method was used and the dates drawn by the different social clubs follows: Pi Kappa Tau, February 8; Tau Zeta Phi, February 15; Beta Omicron Beta, March 1; Iota Tau Kappa, March 8; Sigma Phi Beta, March 15; Kappa Psi Nu, March 22; Delta Upsilon Kappa, March 29; Alpha Pi Delta, April 5.

The club members look forward with great anticipation to these occasions and are hoping to have a large number of former members present.

PRELIMINARY DEBATES DRAWING NEAR

The time is drawing near for the second preliminary for Intercollegiate Debating. Remember the date, Friday night, January 17. Prior to the Fall Semester examinations the first preliminary was held; but, as it often happens the debaters did not have time to prepare well. Some, however, could not be present on account of major duties: so the debating committee decided to give the old competitors a new chance, along with any new ones who may wish to try out.

Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors, especially Freshmen, try out; and may you so apply yourself to the task that Ole Elon will have a debating team which will bring honor to her.

Since his return from the Christmas holidays Mr. Paul Rakestraw has been greatly distressed, owing to the loss of his wife's picture. He gives the date of its mysterious disappearance as being Friday of last week. Mr. Rakestraw requests that if the picture is found, the hero will return it at once for identification and reward.

Because, he said, his wife makes $200 to $300 a week in poker games, Thomas Blondel, protested against paying her $100 a week alimony in court at Chicago. The judge agreed with him.

In Wink, Tex., three oil field workers used gasoline to scrub oil from their bodies. The gasoline became ignited. They burned to death.