

Coach Walker Has Won Eleven Championships In Five-Year Coaching Era

Since Coming to Elon Coach Walker Has Been a Consistent Winner; Came to Elon From A. C. C.; He Has Seen Professional Baseball Service

COMES FROM ALABAMA

Three-Letter Man at Howard and Vanderbilt. Played in Several Leagues During His Experience.

Coach Douglas Clyde (Pea-head) Walker, Elon Christians' mentor, who ranks in the group of "iron men of athletics" may justly boast in his southern Alabama drawl of having coached athletic teams, which have won eleven championships in five years.

The most recent of these titles was won in the Tri-State basketball tournament at Charlotte, N.

C., last March 9. His quintet, which had already been awarded the North State conference championship, entered the Quene City field, composed of "little" college teams from North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia, and came out as tournament champions.

Beginning with the formation of the North State conference in 1930, Coach Walker has won a championship in some sport yearly since. His stretch of wins is still underway with the winning of football, baseball and basketball titles during 1933 and 1934.

His North State championship record follows: 1930, football and baseball; 1931, baseball and basketball; 1932, baseball; 1933, football, baseball and basketball; 1934, football, baseball and basketball. This record shows that Coach

Elon Offers to Students Near By Advantage

Those in Vicinity of Elon Can Avail Themselves of College Training at Reasonable Rates.

FALL TERM SEPT. 3

Dr. Smith Cites Minimum Costs For Which An Education Can Be Attained.

As students in high school approach the senior year, the question of life and its use becomes of personal concern. Should they continue their training, or should they begin immediately an occupation or profession? Advice is available for either pursuit. Also, there is plenty of counsel today, advising that a large percentage of high school graduates are not college material, that they are not mentally capable of success in higher education.

Conditions determine the capability of the high school graduate as much as preparation, or grades won. If the student has had a poorly graded school and inefficient teachers his worth and ability are not indicated in high school certificates. College work is different. College teachers are different from high school teachers in many instances. A college atmosphere, with its increased advantages over high school, may discover within the youngster himself possibilities and abilities which neither he nor his high

Alumni Group Is Organized In Burlington

Holt Fleming Is Elected to Head The Local Chapter; M. Z. Rhodes Is Vice President.

COLCLOUGH PRESIDES

Ernest Askew Selected Vice-President; Paul Cheek, Secretary.

The Alamance County chapter of the General Alumni Association was organized in the dining room of the First Christian church on the night of March 29, 1935, with approximately 75 guests present.

Holt Fleming, member of the class of 1917, was elected president of the Alamance unit, and M. Z. Rhodes, 1923, was named vice president. Miss Dorothy Miller was chosen secretary-treasurer. The social committee consists of Alton West, chairman, Mesdames Marvin McPherson and C. W. Gordon, and Miss Ida Wilkerson and Mr. Lester.

Arrangements for the meeting were made by C. W. Gordon, of the class of 1926. Mr. Gordon turned the meeting over to George D. Colclough, who presided. Brief talks were made by several of the guests present. Members of the faculty at Elon were recognized. Mr. M. L. Patrick, president of the General Alumni Association, outlined the activities of the different units and set forth their

VOTE BY BALLOT

Alumni Are Urged to Cast Ballots Immediately; Alumni Fees Asked For by Association.

The nominating committee, consisting of Dr. Fred K. Garvey, of Winston-Salem, chairman, and Miss Lucille Johnston, and R. H. Gunn, both of High Point, has prepared a slate of officers for the Alumni Association for 1935-36. This year two nominations are made for each major office. J. O. Atkinson, Jr., of the class of '25 and W. D. Loy, '16 head the ticket as candidates for the presidency.

There will be another issue of the MAROON AND GOLD, just before commencement. It will not carry the ballot. Vote.

Roy Howard Richardson, '27, and John C. Whitesell, '24, are the nominees for the vice-presidency. Miss Sadie Fonville, and M. L. Patrick are the two offered by the committee for the secretary-treasurer. Drs. P. E. Lindley, '20, and F. L. Gibbs, '25, are selected as Alumni Orators. The one receiving the higher number of votes of the two will be the orator, while the other will be the alternate. It is customary to have both a speaker and an alternate.

The departure from the usual manner of selecting the officers for the Association is felt to be more in keeping with democratic principles. Too, it should give people off the campus an opportunity to have their voices felt. While it is desirable that as many former students and graduates as
